Boston to Worcester.

The Suburban Press Association of New England had its August outing over the Boston and Worcester trolley air line to Hotel Edgemere and the White City, Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, on Monday, August 21, and it was one of the most successful and thoroughly enjoyed that the association has yet had. The trolley trip over the Air Line was perfect and the scenery of the country through which the road passes was a constant delight to the excursionists who very quickly found that neither book nor magazine was needed to pass the time away on the trip.

Over one hundred members of the association with their ladies were on hand at Park square at 9 o'clock, Monday, in response to the invitation which had been sent out some days in advance. There were two open cars of the Boston and Worcester road in waiting at the square and the party boarded them, soon after the start on the trolley trip, during which over 90 miles were covered..

The special cars left Boston by way of Columbus avenue and followed the usual route to Chestnut Hill. The great stone Cadet Armory building was passed on the left and by way of Massachusetts and Huntington avenues the Brookline Village transfer station was reached. It is only a short run from the Village to Chestnut Hill the eastern terminal of the trunk line and the point at which the Boston Elevated crews take charge of the cars and bring them in and out of the city.

On account of the high speed which the cars attain on the Air Line after leaving Chestnut Hill the cars have to run on two motors which develop 100 H. P., the law not allowing the use of the remaining two motors. Thus, as a matter of fact, the cars do not show what they are capable of doing along speed lines until they are turned over to the Boston and Worcester crews at Chestnut Hill.

As the cars sped through Boston towards Chestnut Hill glimpses were caught of many places of interest which recalled to mind incidents of former sightseeing visits. Among them were the Italian palace of Mrs. John L. Gardner, known as the Isabella Stuart Gardner Museum, seen on the right as the cars proceeded out Huntington avenue; also the Massachusetts Horticultural society, Symphony Hall, the New England Conservatory of Music and the Children's Hospital before reaching the Back Bay Fens.

The trip to Worcester was begun in earnest when the Boston and Worcester crews took charge of the cars at Chestnut Hill. A short and yet delightful run to Newton Upper Falls followed. Here connections are made with cars for all the Newtons, Highlandville and Needham. The way out from Chestnut Hill is dotted with groves of pine. Going down the hill an excellent view of the Charles, of Quinobequin, lying below in all its picturesque primitiveness was had. Looking to the left as the cars bowled over the bridge which spans the Charles at this point, Hemlock Gorge was seen. This spot is particularly famous, for here the river has worn a passageway for itself through solid rock. The green water as it tumbles over the falls and swirls around the black jagged rocks with only the very tops showing above the seething water, is a sight once seen not soon to be forgotten.

Just a fleeting glimpse of Echo bridge was caught for the cars now began to pick up speed. The bridge takes its name from the repeating echo beneath it.

But a little ways beyond is Hemlock Gorge reservation of the metropolitan park system. On Sundays and holidays this place is a Mecca for thousands seeking a day's rest in the country. The cars passed through Wellesley Hills by way of Worcester street which is lined on either side with comfortable looking houses. To the left as we descended a hill were seen the many buildings and hothouses, beautiful gardens and well kept grounds of St. Joseph's academy.

Through the breaks in the dense foliage as the cars sped along were seen bits of Lake Cochituate, a very pretty sheet of water. The next place where a short stop was made was at Framingham Junction. Here are located the general offices of the road. The cars were stopped awaiting orders from the dispatcher, who is an expert in his line and is located in the tower at the general offices, from which, with a complete and elaborate electric signaling sysetem, he controls the movements of all cars on the line. The starter in the telephone booth near the specials conveyed his "All right to White's Corner," and the trip to Worcester was resumed. General Supt. E. P. Shaw, Jr., and Herbert Linwood Hanlon of the Boston and Worcester road, boarding the cars at this point and continuing on to Worcester. On the left the cars passed the state militia grounds and went over the Sudbury river bridge. Ahead is Normal hill on which are situated the many buildings of the State Normal school and the stand pipe of the Framingham water works.

Framingham is a quaint old village numbering among other interesting old land marks the Central Hotel which was famous as a hostelry in the old colonial days. The cars passed through the center of the town and skirted the new Sudbury basin No. 5 of the big metropolitan water system.

Overlooking the basin is the hill town of Fayville. This is an ideal rural town and appears to have rest and quiet stamped all over it.

White's Corner, Southboro, is the junction of the main trunk line and the Marlboro and Hudson branches of the road.

From this point on to the Shrewsbury-Worcester line which is all private right of way, the scenery cannot be surpassed and the cars no longer passed through the centers of towns, although a number of places were passed where connections can be made for Westboro Centre, Northboro, Grafton and North Grafton.

Westboro is an historic old place, noted as the birthplace of Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin. It is one of the old colonial towns set aside under the second charter of King George I. by Samuel Shute in 1717, who was then colonial governor of Massachusetts. The Lyman school for boys and the buildings of the state insane asylum were seen on the right as the cars went down a slight grade.

The next township was Shrewsbury, and the section through which the cars pass is anything but level. Hills are to be seen everywhere as far as the eye can reach and a more broken and uneven country than hereabouts would be hard to find in a day's travel. From Prospect hill, which overlooks Lake Quinsigamond, a particularly fine view of the state insane hospital at Worcester was had.

The cars soon ran into the main highway leaving the private right of way and the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway company's crews took them up Lake Avenue. After a short run, lasting but six minutes, Hotel Edgemere, commanding a fine view of the waters of the lake, was reached. Here an excellent luncheon was found waiting for the excursionists whose appetites were keen after the cool bracing ride from Boston. The management of the house did everything in its power for the comfort of the guests.

Following luncheon the regular business meeting of the association was held in the hotel parlors and meantime the ladies and invited guests strolled around the grounds of the hotel.

The steamer Venus took the party for a trip around the lake and later all were left at the White City, a new amusement park on the Shrewsbury shore, which was only open to the public this season. The amusements offered here were found to be almost without number and among the many which members of the association took in may be mentioned the chutes, scenic railway, old mill, ferris wheel, katzenjammer castle and carousel.

Little has been left undone in the matter of providing attractions to appeal to all classes of excursionists and trolley tourists at this amusement resort and the members of the association enjoyed every minute spent at the White City.

After the attractions of the park had been thoroughly "done" the specials were taken for the 40 miles' return to Boston and the early evening trip was fully as enjoyable as that of the morning.

Boston was reached in good season and the commonly expressed opinion was that the members had one of the pleasantest day's enjoyment in the history of the association.

During the run to Worcester Mr. Hanlon distributed little descriptive pamphlets which told of the trip as covered by the party together with routes in Central Massachusetts and the Connecticut Valley. These folders will come in handy when an individual trolley tour is contemplated and the management of the road is always glad to furnish them to interested parties who will only send their name and address to the general offices of the road.

A Brilliant Affair.

One of the most successful social events of the summer season was the ball given at the Bay View Hotel, Jamestown, R. I., by the treasurer, Mr. Joseph C. Atkinson of Newtonville, on Wednesday evening, August 23d. It was in honor of the officers of the battleship squadron.

The dining room which had been cleared for dancing, was handsomely decorated with bunting, which was carried around the room as a frieze, with spread eagles placed every few feet. The coat of arms of Rhode Island was at one end of the room and at the other medallions bearing words of welcome. The band of the flagship Maine was stationed outside on the piazza and furnished the music for dancing. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. Joseph C. Atkinson, Mrs. Admiral Henry Eslen, Mrs. Lieutenant D. W. Wurtslang, Mrs. Lieutenant C. A. Darling and Mrs. Lieutenant Yates Sterling.

There was a large attendance of summer residents, hotel guests and naval officers, among the latter being Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, Lieutenant Commander Button, Lieutenant Crosley and Lieutenant Bristol of his staff; Rear Admiral Davis, Captain W. H. Reader, Captain Taussig, Captain Cowles, Captain Niles, Captain Tilley, Captain Fisk, Captain Fillsbury, and a number of others. It was a brilliant scene, the handsome costumes of the ladies and the uniforms of the officers giving a brightness and color which was most effective.

It pays the buyer to buy from an advertiser and to say he saw the article advertised in this or that paper. The man who mentions an advertisement when buying goods really gets the best possible service,—even better than the regular customer when this is possible. Why? Simply because the advertiser pays good money for his advertisement and he is glad to hear from it. It is a compliment to his good business judgment. tf

Birthday Celebration.

Capt. John Ryan of the Newton police headquarters Friday celebrated his 60th birthday and the 41st anniversary of his experiences in front of Petersburg, Va., where he was wounded three times. During the evening there was a quiet observance of the anniversary at his home, 29 Auburndale avenue, West Newton.

It was during the battle of Rean's station on the Weldon railroad, while helping to repulse a confederate charge, that Capt. Ryan was wounded three times and came very near being taken prisoner but managed to escape. At this time Capt. Ryan was a member of company C., 28th regiment, Massachusetts volunteers, Gen. T. F. Meagher's famous Irish brigade.

Capt. Ryan was also the man who fired the first and last shots in the famous Custer massacre his company numbering 45 men and horses, of which 14 enlisted men and one second lieutenant were killed, 10 men wounded and all but nine of the horses shot.

Capt. Ryan served four years, part of the time being a member of company C, 28th regiment, Massachusetts volunteers, and company K, 61st regiment, Massachusetts volunteers. He also served 10 years as first sergeant and duty sergeant of company M, 7th United States cavalry, all this time under Gen. Custer. For 28 years Capt. Ryan has been connected with the Newton police department, rising from patrolman.

On Monday evening he was one of the special invited guests of the management at the Grand Opera House, Boston, at the initial performance of "Custer's Last Fight."

Real Estate.

An important transfer of property has gone to record in the sale from Harry G. Chesley to Dr. Jno. D. Clark. The property sold is numbered 14 Hancock street situated at the head of the Burr Park and comprises a large frame dwelling together with 19,000 sq. ft. of land. The total taxed value is $6500 and while the price agreed upon is not stated it is for a figure very near the taxed value. No sale closed on Auburndale Hill for a number of years is more important than is this one for the reason that it is the intention of Dr. Clark to improve the same at the earliest possible date and in the most handsome manner.

A property in Newtonville to be conveyed is that numbered 122 to 126 Walnut street, title to which passes from John O. Teele to John R. Prescott. It is taxed on a valuation of $7100, $5000 on the buildings and the remainder on the land.

Franklin D. Amsden has conveyed to Guy P. Walton the property numbered 367 Walnut street, where a frame house and 9450 feet of land are taxed on a valuation of $6500. Of this sum $1000 is the land value.

A West Newton transfer is of the property numbered 876 Watertown street, the grantor being Wesley J. Furbush, and the grantee Margaret E. B. Shawler. The parcel comprises a frame house, which together with the land, has a taxable valuation of $2500, $1000 being on the land.

In Newton Highlands, a lot of land on the corner of Lincoln and Bowdoin street has been conveyed to Benjamin F. Trueblood by Winfield S. Richards. It has a valuation of $3200.

The property numbered 13 Devon road, Newton Centre, has passed from the possession of Louisa T. Dickerman, executrix, to that of Alice W. Wilkins. It is taxed on a valuation of $6400, but the price named in the deed was $7300.

A property at West Newton, numbered 441 Washington street consisting of 2810 feet of land, and a frame building, has been sold by Catherine F. Crowley and others to Robert H. Hill and others, who will improve the property, which will then be used for church purposes. Henry W. Savage was the broker.

WORN OUT?
Are Your Strength and Energy Gone?
If you are discouraged and despondent and wish to die, it is not because everything is black before you. It is simply because your vitality is so low and you are so weak that you have not the courage to face a lifetime.
Eminent physicians have been attracted by similar cases and after making a careful and scientific study of their requirements have compounded a remedy called Vin-Tone, which builds up body and mind in a remarkably short time.
Vitality is what you need and vitality is what Vin-Tone gives.
We tell you of this preparation hoping it may find its way into every home where man, woman or child is suffering from lack of energy.

Vacation Notes.

Dear Graphic:—

In my last letter I described my visit to Chautauqua and my impressions of the place and the work being done in the summer school. I left it with regret and retracing my route was in Albany early Sunday morning. As the day boat, down the Hudson river does not run on Sunday I had to stay in that city until Monday. The prinicipal object of interest, is the imposing and handsome State House, which stands on the slope of the hill and is a monument to Tammany Hall and political graft.

I spent the day in trolly rides and in the beautiful park and the following morning was on the boat going south. I landed at Poughkeepsie, and taking the ferry across to Highland and the electric to New Paltz was soon on the stage bound for Lake Mohonk. I little dreamed what natural beauty was before me and what primeval scenery was to be found in this vicinity.

The Lake Mohonk estate, comprising an area of over 4,000 acres is located in Ulster County New York, near the summit of Sky Top, one of the higher of the Shawangunk Mountains. It is about 15 miles west of Poughkeepsie, is 91 miles from New York City and the altitude of the lake is 1,245 feet.

Sky Top is 1,550 feet and its rocky sides loom up from the water's edge nearly 300 feet. This would over shadow the hotel if it were on the same side of the lake, but being opposite it adds majesty to the outlook without the gloom of near proximity. The strange thing about this mountain spur, which soars boldly skyward is that instead of descending gradually, as is usually the case, both sides are precipitous, with very little slope, to the valley. If it were less an area it would seem as if it must be the work of man, but such results could only be accomplished by the hand of the divine sculptor.

We arrived at the hotel in the late afternoon in time to rest and prepare leisurely for dinner. Many men might think they could not enjoy themselves at a summer hotel, without cards, dancing and a bar, but Mr. Albert K. Smiley who is a Shaker, does not approve and will not have such things in his house.

This no doubt keeps some away but as the house is full through the season and every one has nothing but praise for the service given, it is conclusive proof that a hotel can be run on temperance principles and under rather strict rules. The extensive library and reading rooms provide amusement for the quietly disposed, while those of strenuous habits can pass their time on the golf links, bowling alleys or in games of tennis, croquet and base ball. I have mentioned many of the attractions but have left one of the most important until the last; I refer to the drives, for one can walk or drive over nearly fifty miles of attractive roads lying entirely within the estate. These lead through beautiful and ever changing scenery of lake, massive rock, farm and woodland with here and there a water fall and splashing mountain brook.

Mohonk as it now stands represents 36 years of thoughtful and progressive development. Among the many drives one can go to Eagle Cliff, Guyot's Hill, Bonticure and Rock Rift roads, North Lookout, the Trapps, Coxing Clove, Rosendale and many other places with poetic names.

Near the last of my visit one beautiful clear, cool morning, proved to be the beginning of a red letter day in my life. A picnic had been planned, driving to Lake Minnewaska, and from there to Lake Awosting, the farthest objective point. This is seven and one half miles away and the drive leaves the main stage road just beyond the end of the lake and descending rapidly behind Eagle Cliff runs along the western slope of "The Trapps," near the old mill and the chapel.

As we drove along, looking eastward we had a panoramic view of the Wallkill Valley and the low line of mountains which separates it from the Hudson. Beyond these mountains is the eastern portions of the Valley rising until they terminate in the peaks of the Taconic Mountains and Berkshire hills.

To the southeast appeared in clear outline the Highlands of the Hudson, in the historic region of West Point, and to the west the peaceful Rondout Valley, dotted with woods, farms and towns, and beyond a succession of low hills and small valleys which conclude in the famous Catskills, a series of noble peaks forming miles of the western horizon.

The approach to the lake is made by a detour from the main road via the beautiful Awosting falls, hidden in a deep gorge and leaping some 75 feet into a shaded pool below. We stopped at the two hotels at the lake, the Wildmere House and the Cliff House where souvenirs were purchased and the party rested, then we drove on to the Awosting Lake and Castle Point where we ate our lunch. This lake is four times the size of Lake Minnewaska, which is considered larger than Mohonk and along its shores are several cottages and a boys' camp.

The view from Castle Point is the finest and most impressive in the region, but some of the party could not enjoy it as the driver had remarked that a false step of the horses would send us over the almost perpendicular cliff down to the bottom hundreds of feet below.

We continued our way without mishap however, and finally reached the hotel in good condition, and with our minds full of glorious scenery of mountain, lake and valley. My vacation was drawing to a close and as I had planned continuing my trip down the Hudson I returned to Poughkeepsie, where I spent the night, this arrangement giving me the opportunity to visit Vassar College, an institution I had long desired to see.

It compares most favorably with Wellesley as regards grounds but has some finer buildings, notable examples being the new Thompson Memorial Library, the Thompson chapel and Rockefeller Hall. The management has decided to limit the number of students the coming year to one thousand.

My next stop was at West Point, the site of the United States Military Academy and of a fortress erected during the war of Independence. The site commands one of the finest river passes in the world and the academy is located on a plateau 180 feet above the river. I climbed the hill from the wharf and spent several hours in a tour of inspection. The new buildings are the Officers' Club, and the Cullom Memorial Hall, but the Cadet Barracks and Gymnasium are handsome granite testimonials to modern architects' ingenuity. The museum was interesting with its collection of relics, mainly of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, flags, war arms and models of fortifications. The library is well equipped with books and on the walls are many portraits of famous teachers and graduates of the school.

Several of the classes were away but I saw some of the students in Camp and watched with interest artillery drill, dress parade and horse back practice, both with and without the saddle. Target practice was going on at one time and I saw the students at dinner in the handsome and well appointed dining hall.

The parade ground is extensive and in superb condition and there are a number of famous monuments located at different points. An excellent dinner was served at the hotel and I enjoyed a walk around the cliffs on my way to the boat.

The remainder of the trip down the river is considered the finest as regards scenery and we had excellent views of the thriving city of Peekskill, Tarrytown, Irvington, named in honor of Washington Irvington, the picturesque Palisades and Yonkers. Along the left shore, for several miles above New York City, many handsome summer residences were seen, partly hidden among the trees, several of them belonging to men famous in the financial, political and social world. I remained in New York a short time and then returned to Newton, feeling benefitted by the change and with memories of a pleasant and profitable trip.

Letter to Newton Doctors.

Dear Sirs: For your house, no matter what's the matter with it—it isn't a human you know—a prescription:

Devoe lead-and-zinc. Apply with a brush, from one to three coats—get a painter to do it.

Seven state chemists know all about Devoe; have analyzed it; report it pure; will analyze it occasionally. They buy it in the open market whenever they like.

You know what the color and dryer are for; do you know what the lead-and-zinc and oil are for? Not being a painter, you may not choose to know; but we'll tell you.

Lead-and-zinc and oil combine to form a rubbery waterproof coat to keep out dampness. That's the whole business.

The oil would do it alone; lead-and-oil would do it, without the zinc; zinc and oil without the lead; but the three together are best, because they wear best.

We say to you, "get a painter," as we'd say to him "get a doctor"—every man to his trade. Can't all be painters and doctors; don't want to.

You will be more successful in a prosperous looking house: and he in good health. Take good care of one another.

Yours truly
F. W. Devoe & Co.

P. S.—W. E. Tomlinson, West Newton, sells our paint.

Norumbega Park

A tribute to the excellence of Norumbega Park and everything connected with it is thefact that the twenty-four sheet poster which is used to advertise this picturesque resort on the Charles has recently been awarded one of the first prizes at the International Poster Exhibit held in the Drill Hall at Montreal, Canada.

A pleasing feature of the attractions at Norumbega Park that is often missed by patrons in the spectacle of the electric fountain, illuminated directly after the evening vaudeville performance, which is usually over by 9.30.

The holiday week attraction, beginning with the matinee on Labor Day will be the musical farce comedy, "The Belle of Boston," which was written by Matt Ott, the versatile writer and comedian whose excellent work has already been approved in several musical comedies which have been presented in this vast covered open air auditorium.

There is a slight suspicion of a plot which tells of a widow from Boston, who has gotten rid of a number of husbands by feeding them on bean soup, as she says, out of compliment to her native city. The piece is staged in an artistic manner and the costumes are most elaborate.

The principal characters are all in the hands of competent comedians and the chorus is composed of a group of maidens who have no equal in musical comedies in beauty and singing accomplishments. The musical programme includes all the latest popular songs and if one wishes to hear them well sung he should not miss this entertainment.

Police Paragraphs.

In the police court Monday Nicholas Doyle, a wife beater, got 30 days in jail for blackening the eyes of his wife, Margaret Doyle.

Jeremiah Desmond of 22 Middle street was in court Wednesday, where he was given six months in the house of correction for larceny in a building at Nonantum.

Joseph M. Maher, age 14, Charles B. Scott 11, Fred J. Butler 12 and Albert G. Collier 13, were in court Wednesday morning charged with malicious injury to personal property belonging to Thomas Guthrie, 15 Winthrop avenue. Judge Kennedy placed them on probation until Dec. 30, and suggested that the parents settle in the meantime for the tent which was damaged.

One of the biggest raids by the Newton police in several months was made Saturday night when a large quantity of liquor was seized from a railroad laborers' camp at Riverside. Michael Nikosi, 42 years old, said to be the boss of the camp, was arrested charged with making an illegal sale of liquor. While the score or more of laborers all employes on the railroad at Riverside, were in the height of a Saturday night celebration, they were surprised by Sergt. Burke and Patrolmen M. F. Kiley, Bates, Tainter, Dalton, D. Neagle and Kyte. They seized 327 bottles of beer and half a gallon of whisky. The load nearly filled the patrol wagon. The shanty, a picturesque affair, situated in the woods off Auburn street, near Charles, has been used for some weeks as a sleeping place for about 25 men. Several of the policemen went to the place in the disguise of laborers, and had no trouble in getting an insight into the proceedings. There was consternation among the laborers when they saw that their visitors were policemen. In court Monday Nikosi was fined $50.

Sergeant Chapman and Patrolman Hardy of the river police Sunday afternoon made a sudden descent on a quiet game of cards in progress on the banks of the Charles River and arrested James Hargedon and Frank Wright of West Newton and Frank Towne of Waltham. In court Monday each was found guilty and fined $5.00.

The pleasure of a trip up along the celebrated "North Shore" route to Gloucester at this season of the year is delightful beyond the power of words. Week-day starting time is 10 o'clock, but on Sunday the boat leaves the north side of Central wharf at 10:15, weather permitting. The fine steel steamship Cape Ann daily and Sunday is taking excursionists who love the ocean, and who are glad to exchange the noise and turmoil of the city for the cool, inspiring sea breezes to be found in a voyage up the Massachusetts coast to rugged old Cape Ann. The Columbus orchestra is in attendance. tf

Death of F. S. Rollins.

Mr. Fitzhugh Smith Rolins, a resident of Newton for about 35 years, passed away at his home on Walnut street, Tuesday after a long illness. He was a native of Petersboro, N. Y., where he was born 71 years ago, and was a son of the late John A. and Mary A. Leighton Rollins, both members of prominent Dover, N. H., families. He was formerly a member of the well known Boston wall paper firm of E. L. and F. S. Rollins, but since his retirement has been interested in developing real estate. He is survived by a widow, two daughters and four sons. Funeral services of the simplest character were held from the family residence Wednesday afternoon at 2, Rev. Henry J. Patrick officiating and the interment was in the family lot in Newton cemetery.

Mr. Eben Draper, candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor, has made a wise selection for chairman of his campaign committee in the person of Mr. Seward W. Jones of this city. Mr. Jones has successfully managed two campaigns for the republican congressional nomination and knows the ropes perfectly.

The most astonishing result of the outcome of the peace conference this week has been the praise of President Roosevelt in the editorial columns of the Boston Herald, Springfield Republican and the Louisville Courier-Journal. We trust the President is duly appreciative.

The auction sale of lots in the Claflin estate does not affect that part of the property which is being considered for municipal purposes. But it emphasizes the necessity for prompt action if this desirable proposition is to become a fact.

Wanted, a strong candidate for representative to the General Court.

GREAT LABOR DAY PICNIC OF FR. CALLANAN'S PARISH, NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

For the past 14 years the great Labor Day attraction for Newton, and all the surrounding towns, has been the picnic and athletic sports held on the magnificent grounds opposite St. John's church, Newton Lower Falls. Some idea of the enormous success of last year's Labor Day Picnic may be judged from the fact that fully ten thousand people attended.

Situated on the border line between Newton Lower Falls and Wellesley Hills, the St. John's church property stands on the most beautiful spot between Boston and Natick.

This year Fr. Callanan has started out to eclipse all former efforts.

On Monday, Sept. 4th, Labor Day, the Great Picnic will take place.

From 11 a. m. to 10 p. m. the air will be filled with mirth, music and merry making.

Twelve teams of ten men each, representing Weston, Auburndale, Natick, West Newton, Salem, Wellesley and Newton Lower Falls will engage in a great Tug-of-War contest for a purse of $50 in gold. Prizes will be given for running, jumping, pole vaulting, egg races, obstacle races, hurdle races, ladies' nail driving matches, throwing the weights and heavy hammer, and a hundred other sports, including the greased pig race, and greased pole contest.

Five acres of grounds are given over to games, a fine orchestra, ten large canvas refreshment booths, a large shooting gallery, an archery gallery, magic rings, ring quoits, game of pichett and African dodger, and a thousand other attractions will make this a carnival the like of which has never been attempted before in any parish in the state.

The pavilions will be beautifully illuminated at night, and thousands of Chinese lanterns will flicker from the hundreds of trees about the grounds.

The phenominal success of this Labor Day carnival is owing to the fact that Fr. Callanan spares no expense or labor in all his arrangements.

Nugent-Sullivan.

The social event of the season at the Upper Falls was the marriage on Wednesday morning of Miss Julia Josephine Sullivan, daughter of the late Richard T. Sullivan and Mrs. Julia M. Sullivan of Elliot street, and Mr. William D. Nugent of Philadelphia.

Nuptial high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's Church at nine o'clock, Rev. T. J. Danady being the celebrant, Rev. Edmund D. Daly, deacon, Rev. J. A. McNamara of New Mexico, sub deacon and Rev. Fred Aichin, master of ceremonies.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. T. J. Sullivan looked charming in a gown of liberty chiffon, over taffeta, with Duchess lace, which had been worn at her mother's Wedding, and a bridal veil with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white pinks.

Miss Katherine C. Sullivan, sister of the bride was the bridesmaid and wore pink messaline, pink lace with pearls, black picture hat with white plumes and carried a shower bouquet of pink peas.

Mr. Martin Nugent of Medford was best man.

The ushers were Messrs Richard T. Sullivan and Wm. Parker Sullivan of Newton, Joseph M. Daily of Boston, Thomas A. Daly of Philapelphia and William A. Flannery and Dr. Thomas Nugent of Medford.

A largely attended reception followed at the bride's home from eleven to four, the house being tastely decorated with golden rod and asters and the refreshments being served from a tent on the lawn.

Among the many guests noted were Mr. J. J. Sullivan of Chicago, uncle of the bride, John P. Sullivan and family of Nyack, N. Y., Rev. Edward Farmer, Mrs. Mary Hopkins, Miss Ann Sullivan and Mr. Wm. McCann of Janesville, O. and Joseph P. Daly and Wm. A. Ryan of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Nugent will make their future home an 4952 Rubican avenue, Philadelphia.

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of L. Elizabeth Ward, late of Newton, in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, John Ward, executor of the will of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the whole of a certain parcel of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of legacies and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County on the twenty-sixth day of September, A. D. 1905, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this thirty-first day of August in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

CITY OF NEWTON.

Sale of Unredeemed Real Estate by the City of Newton.

Collector's Office,

NEWTON, September 1, 1905.

In conformity with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the public and all persons interested as former owners and occupants of each of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth aforesaid, are hereby notified that said parcels have been conveyed according to law to said City of Newton for non-payment of taxes and assessments and the time within which each of the estates might be redeemed by the owners thereof having expired, each of said parcels will be offered for sale in accordance with section 67 of Chapter 13 of Revised Laws by public auction at the City Hall in said Newton, on and to the highest bidder for each of the several parcels a quitclaim deed will be delivered. For further particulars reference is made to the Registry of Deeds for the Southern District of the County of Middlesex, the volume and folio numbers following the description of each parcel, indicating the record of the deed under which the said City of Newton now holds title to the estate described.

Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1905,

At 3 o'clock p. m.

The sums set against the several estates show the amount due thereon respectively for the taxes and assessments for the non-payment of which said estate was sold to the said Newton, together with the subsequent taxes and assessments, interest on the same, and all lawful costs and charges. And none of the said estates will be sold for less than the amount set against said estates, respectively.

BY A WOMAN'S WIT

Copyright, 1905, by the S. S. McClure Company

By.... CHARLES C. WADDLE

IN the farther ring a troupe of agile Japanese disported themselves on flimsy ladders or balanced in incredible attitudes at the top of long bamboo poles. Nearer at hand Coralie posed and pirouetted upon her broad backed palfrey and floated high as a bespangled thistledown through paper hoops.

The ringmaster was making an announcement from his rostrum beside the center pole. "Maddox, the fearless, the premier wild beast trainer of the world!"

Coralie rested from her exertions. A white and scarlet clown strolled at the side of her horse as it ambled slowly around the ring.

"See that man in the derby hat standing over by the main entrance?" he asked in an undertone, an ugly sneer visible on his lips beneath the grease paint.

She glanced carelessly in the direction indicated. "What of him?" she said uninterestedly.

"He's the sheriff of Sangamon county, Ill.; that's all!"

The woman gave a sudden, uncontrollable start, and her face underneath the rouge grew white as a sheet of paper. Had the careful planning and subterfuge of all these months gone for naught?

"He's looking for a man named Clark Sawyer, wanted out there for murder," went on the clown in a malicious whisper.

Coralie's gray eyes blazed into a sudden fury. "You hound! You are responsible for this!" she cried, and in her passion she raised her whip and slashed him squarely across his painted face.

"I'm glad of it, then," he snarled viciously at her as he sprang out of reach. The crowd was laughing uproariously, thinking the action of the pretty rider merely a humorous interlude.

"I told you I'd get even with you both," went on the clown. "You won't hold your head so high when they take that convict husband of yours back where he belongs."

The woman made a sudden movement as if to slip from her horse. "Ah, you'd warn him, would you?" broke in the clown. "I'm afraid it's just a little bit too late. Here he comes."

As he spoke the band blared forth, the curtains parted and a cage of tigers was wheeled into the central ring. A shudder and a murmur ran through the audience. In the wake of the cage walked Maddox, the trainer. In his purple tights, with a suggestion of gold here and there, he was as splendid as a knight in a ballad of chivalry.

He gave a glance and a smile across the arena to where Coralie stood erect upon her horse's back. Then, pushing aside the barred door, he sprang into the cage, lightly striking the two tigers nearest him with the whip he carried.

The trainer handled them as a snake charmer might his pythons, pulling open their huge jaws, lifting their heavy paws upon his shoulders, posing graceful as themselves, yet never for a moment relaxing his watchful gaze, never failing to bring down the whip at the least show of insubordination.

"You hound! You are responsible for this!"

Meanwhile Coralie was once more pirouetting upon her horse, but while she airily leaped upon banners her mind was busy with far different questions.

Her husband was innocent of the crime charged against him; that she knew, for he had told her so himself. Nevertheless, circumstantial evidence had convicted him. Now, if apprehended, nothing could save him from that dread prison, there to spend in confinement all the years of his strong, young life.

She could see the sheriff edging around toward the entrance to the dressing tent. Oh, if there was only some way to outwit him!

Like an inspiration came the thought to her that the town where they were showing was on the bank of the Ohio river. Across that placid stream lay West Virginia and a chance for liberty. Once on the other side, no officer dare lay hands upon her husband until a fresh requisition could be secured.

A bell tapped, and the act was over. Six horses were led in and attached to the cage, in which the trainer remained. The team, well broken to its task, wheeled with military precision and started at a slow trot out of the ring. Just by the curtains which screened the entrance to the dressing tent stood the sheriff of Sangamon county.

As the leaders of the team came abreast Coralie she sprang forward, vaulted postilion wise to the saddle of the wheel horse, gathered up the reins, and before any one could intercept her she had turned their heads out toward the track.

At the same moment her keen whip slashed across the leaders' flanks. Startled, they leaped forward with a bound, and the others followed.

The man in the cage gave one swift, alarmed glance forward when the vehicle made the turn, but, catching sight of the driver, betrayed no more perturbation and turned his attention to his charges. The people rose up in their seats, gaping wonderingly. The circus men were literally paralyzed by astonishment. Of all the assemblage only two seemed to realize the meaning of the occurrence—the clown and the sheriff—and they immediately started in pursuit, shouting lustily for some one to stop the runaways.

Coralie never looked back, but, bending low in her seat, with whip and voice madly urged on the flying leaders. She gave a sudden gasp! The main entrance loomed up before her, and she had forgotten. It was barred with stakes and ropes to keep the crowds moving through it in single file. But she had dared too much to falter now. Hi! At it they went in a thunder of galloping hoofs, a whirlwind of choking dust. The near horse attempted to swerve, but she held his head with a wrist like steel and lashed him again and again.

Crash! The barrier went down before the force of their whirling onset. Ropes parted; stakes were hurled aside. They were in the open field now, and, with a clear road before them to the gate, she sent them thundering still faster. The heavy van behind them rocked and lurched like a ship in a storm. Maddox had all he could do to stand upright, and the tigers were tossed from one side of the cage to the other. The man clung to the bars with one hand, while with the other he beat the snarling brutes.

It was a picture for a painter, that—the man all tinsel and glitter in the den of raging tigers, the plunging horses and astride the leader the lithe, slender figure of a girl in rose pink tights, riding like one possessed, her hair loosened and floating behind her in the breeze, her cheeks flushed, her eyes alight with excitement of the wild venture.

Onward they tore, over a narrow plank bridge crossing a ditch, the hind wheels just grazing the edge; up a little incline, and then a perilous rush around a turn almost at right angles to their course. At last they were squarely on the level turnpike, with a straightaway before them to the river.

Coralie glanced back. The people were streaming out of the tent, and men were just commencing to mount horses to pursue them. And again she called upon her team for greater speed and vigorously plied the whip.

Just a minute more! Already Coralie had thrown herself back in her seat and was tugging at the reins to ease the furious rush, when—crash, crash—a wheel spun off its axle, and the heavy cage toppled down at one corner. She put forth all the strength of her arms and in half a dozen lengths had pulled her horses to a halt. Then, leaping down almost before they stopped, she ran back to the sagging cage. The force of the jolt had thrown the tigers directly in front of its narrow door.

"Clark," cried Coralie breathlessly, "the sheriff is after you! We must hurry to a boat and get over in West Virginia!"

Maddox started for the door, but at his approach the tigers set up so menacing a growl that involuntarily he halted. The terror engendered in them by their wild ride had made them unmanageable. Standing off, he beat them cruelly, brutally, but they seemed as impervious to his heavy blows as to the taps of a mullein stalk.

The man and the woman could now hear plainly the sounds of pursuit. More and more slender each moment became their chance of escape. A countryman upon a load of hay drove up and stopped, surveying the thrilling incident in startled amazement.

The sheriff and party of circus men were plainly in view, urging their horses to the uttermost.

"Give me a match!" shrieked Coralie to the rustic upon the hay ladder. He stared at her a moment, then with maddening slowness fingered in his vest pocket, abstracting the desired article from a mass of string and trifling trinkets. Before he fairly had it out she had sprung up on the wheel of his wagon and snatched it out of his hand. As she leaped down she dragged a bundle of hay from the load, quick as a wink had it ablaze, then thrust the flaming brand squarely into the face of the nearest tiger.

Daunted by this new and unexpected attack, the terror stricken beasts sprang backward, snarling and scratching, rolling over one another in their haste to get away. Maddox lost no time. The door snapped with a click, and he was safe beside the woman in the road.

She seized his hand to fly toward the boat. Too late! With a rush and whirl of flying hoofs the sheriff was upon them.

"What are you running away for, Sawyer?" he shouted as he sprang from his foaming horse. "I have a pardon for you in my pocket. The guilty man has confessed."

CHINESE MUSIC.

What Dr. Whewell, Master of Trinity, Knew About It.

The remarkable extent of the knowledge possessed by Dr. William Whewell, at one time master of Trinity, Cambridge, is well illustrated by the following story, taken from the "Life and Work of Dr. Momerie."

Two of the younger dons, growing rather jealous of the master's reputation for omniscience, determined that they would discover something of which he knew nothing. They pitched upon the subject of Chinese music. How should he know anything about it? They did not, so they went to an encyclopedia and read the subject up.

The next time they met Whewell at a dinner party they led the conversation gradually in the direction of music, when they began to discourse upon the music of the Chinese and gave out all their recently acquired information.

Whewell was silent, much to their satisfaction. Evidently he knew nothing about the matter. But just as they were beginning to rejoice in their triumph he said:

"Might I ask, gentlemen, where you got your information?"

"Oh, yes," they replied. "We picked it up out of such and such an encyclopedia."

"Ah," said Whewell, "I was thinking so. I wrote that article thirty years ago, and it's full of mistakes."

THE ELECTRICITY HABIT.

There Is One Thing In Its Favor—It Is Usually Beneficial.

"Of all the habits the one that sticks closest to a fellow is the electricity habit," said a young doctor. "The drink habit and the cocaine habit are mere summer fancies compared with it. But there is one thing to be said in its favor—it is usually beneficial. The electricity habit is contracted just like any other habit. A few currents are administered during an illness. They strengthen and stimulate, and the first thing the patient knows he finds the tonic indispensable. Even after he gets well he craves the treatment. I know one young woman who makes a fair living by calling at the homes of electricity victims and dosing them with a few shocks from a galvanic battery. Most slaves to the habit have their own batteries, but they are afraid to apply the treatment to themselves. That is practically a groundless fear, for there isn't one chance in a thousand of a person giving himself an overdose. Still they prefer an experienced hand to manage the current. Not all the electricity fiends are invalids by any means. Many of them are now as well as they ever were, yet they have become so addicted to the habit that they require the weekly, semiweekly or possibly daily electric thrills to tone them up."—New York Post.

THE KISS IN THE TUNNEL.

The Way a Man Had Revenge For an Act of Discourtesy.

"Courtesy always pays; discourtesy never does," said a famous Frenchwoman. "Let me tell you a story of an actual happening:

"Two women occupied a compartment in a railway carriage with one man, a stranger. They were extremely rude to this man. In whispers that he could overhear they criticised his costume, his figure and his manner. He, to be revenged, did a singular thing.

"The blackness of a tunnel enveloped the car, and under cover of the darkness the man kissed the back of his hand loudly and repeatedly. Then when the train entered the light again he looked from one woman to the other with a significant smile.

"They exchanged glances of suspicion.

"'Was it you he kissed?'

"'No; of course not. Was it you?'

"And neither lady would believe the other's denial, and each in her inmost heart believed the other had encouraged the kiss. The man looked cool and complacent. When finally he rose to go he said, lifting his hat with a jocular air:

"'Have no fear, ladies. I shall never tell which of you it was.'"

The Sago Plant.

Sago is a nutritive, farinaceous substance obtained from the pith of several species of palms growing in such hot countries as Java and Sumatra. The stem, about fifteen to twenty feet long, is cut into pieces and the pith dug out and placed in a vessel having a sieve bottom. Water poured into the sieves washes the flour thus exposed into a second vessel. When the water is poured off and the residue becomes dry it is known as sago flour. The pith left behind forms what is known as common brown sago.

Revised Version.

"It's curious that women are never great poets or great musicians," said Mr. Meeker.

"What did you say?" asked his wife belligerently.

"I was merely remarking that women are too sensible to squander their energies on poetry and music to the extent that some men do."

His Terrible Accident.

New England CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Founded 1853

Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.

GEORGE W. CHADWICK, Director.

Term opens September 14

There are privileges and advantages connected with the student life at the New England Conservatory of Music that mark it an institution of unusual efficiency. The remarkable equipment and strong organization for musical education have resulted from a growth of more than fifty years. The material increase is significant, but of greater importance is the experience that has come with these fifty years of progress. To-day, no school in America can contribute as much and none in Europe offer more toward a musical education than the New England Conservatory of Music.

Every branch of a musical education has a special master. The student's capacity sets the only limitation to his progress.

Owing to the practical training of students in our Normal Department graduates are eagerly sought as teachers. Practical Pianoforte Tuning Course in one year.

Detailed descriptions of Courses are best told about in the year book which will be sent on request. Address

Literary Notes.

McClure's has always something that compels attention, something immediate and significant that is important to all Americans. The September number adds to an unbroken series of "McClure Articles," an illuminating study of commercial piracy, the first half of Miss Tarbell's study of the Kansas Oil War, and an excursion into the marvels of modern biology, "Prolonging the Prime of Life" which is an authoritative account of the discoveries of a group of scientists who have determined that old age is a disease. Color printing has never achieved more perfect results than in the eight full page reproductions of Lungren's paintings of the Grand Canon of the Colorado, which accompany William Allen White's description of the wonders "On Bright Angel Trail," a bit of descriptive writing which may well take place with the classic of our language. Eugene Wood, George Randolph Chester, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, Jean Webster, Arthur Train, and Norvell Harrison supply a round of short stories stirring, humorous, light or serious to fit every mood.

Pearson's Magazine for September opens with an interesting article describing the work of the Bandit Hunters of the Union Pacific Railroad. "Flyers of the Seas," an extremely timely article, tells all about the construction, hulls and machinery of the automobile boats that have been smashing records this summer. New Hope for the Consumptive is an account of a consumption cure devised at the N. Y. Post-Graduate Hospital. Three other interesting articles are there. Of fiction instalments there are eleven including the rejuvenated Don Q.

The September Suburban Life will be especially attractive to the homemakers who are contemplating any renovations of the house which make for comfort or beauty for this issue is the Fall Household Number and is replete with practical suggestions and schemes. The questions of lighting, heating, painting, of the water supply of floor and wall coverings, of fireplaces and other matters of the liveliest interest to the heads of an up-to-date home are intelligibly discussed with always the end in view of catering to the man or woman with a moderate sized purse. Besides the wealth of household articles, there are many of interest to lovers of country living and to persons interested in flower and vegetable culture. A humorous piece of fiction entitled, "A Corner in Parsnips," is one of the pleasing features of this issue, and, as usual, there is a review of the best country life books under the heading "The Suburban Library."

Mr. Arthur W. Blakemore of this city, a member of the Suffolk Bar, has just published, through Little, Brown and Co., a valuable little book on the subject of abolition of grade crossings. The abolition of grade crossings in Massachusetts is a subject of ever increasing importance to the profession, to the landowner, and to the public, who will find collected in this book everything bearing on the topic. The present act covering this subject was passed in 1890, and during the fifteen years of its existence its meaning has been in most part well crystalized by judicial exposition. The author has collected here all the statutes now governing the subject and has also examined the reports volume by volume, and has taken from them much material of importance which is necessarily omitted from the headnotes and digests. The book should prove helpful to all having occasion to examine the subject. Neatly bound in linen boards, price 75 cents.

Autumn Millinery.

Mlle Caroline, who has just returned from Europe, says the styles for the fall headgear are quite extreme, and while each is entirely different in effect there are several details peculiar to them all. The side flair, the high backs and high trimmings, the prominence of the crowns, many of which are round, the short fronts and extended backs, and the exaggerated positions and poise are the prominent features. No doubt there will be some modifications as the season advances. Mlle Caroline captured many of the newest models from the Parisian designers while there, which she will display at her rooms the last of September, 486 Boylston street, Boston in the block of the Brunswick Hotel.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Keith's Theatre—The fall season is to be inaugurated in earnest at Keith's the week of Sept. 4, for a program that will rival any of the mid-winter season is announced from that popular playhouse. Among the notable entertainers scheduled are May Duryea who is too well known to amusement seekers hereabouts to need any extended mention, and W. H. Mortimer who will make their debut at this playhouse in the one-act comedy sketch, "The Imposter," which is fairly bubbling over with funny situations and is considered one of the liveliest little plays of the season. Other entertainers on the program, many of whom have been absent from the city for several years, are Saliao Stembler, the charming and popular singing comedienne; DeWitt Sara and Torrance in the acrobatic comedy sketch "The Awakening of Toys," which is one of the most interesting acts in the varieties for the juvenile amusement seeker; The Tobins, Two handsome young women who are talented musicians; Murphy and Francis, the greatest of all "real coon" singers, comedians and dancers; T. J. Gorman and Estelle West, in their mirth-provoking sketch, "A Special Meeting," which has been rewritten; Jack Gardner, a clever blackface comedian and parody singer; The Alpha trio, skillful hoop rollers and jugglers, and the Crogrons, vocalists and dancers. The Kinotograph will show the usual new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures. Underlined for the week of Sept. 4, are Will M. Crossy and Blanche Dayne.

Grand Opera House—The world famous Byrne Brothers with a clever company of comedians, pantomimists and young women presenting the latest edition of their rollicking acrobatic comedy, "Eight Bells," will be the holiday week attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House commencing with an extra matinee on Monday, Labor Day. The production this season will be greater than ever. It contains within itself a musical comedy, a farce comedy, a pantomime spectacular play, besides burlesque which help to make material constructed for laughing purposes only, and in all the Brothers Byrne, and players fully succeed. The applause is incessant and curtain calls numerous. The first scene is a pretty one representing two gardens divided by high brick walls, with a cottage on each side. The second scene is on a steamer's deck, and by a quick change and really wonderful mechanism, turns into a big ship at sea; two adjoining staterooms of an Atlantic steamer are shown, and while the ship is rolling on the high waves a number of peculiar acrobatic features are performed by the inimitable Brothers Byrne, some of which are startling. The third act represents an island upon which the ship has been wrecked, and here occurs a number of first-class specialties terminating with a funny fire scene, one of the most laughable effects ever produced. The Brother Byrne's production of "Eight Bells," is a sure cure for the blues. The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, with an extra matinee Monday, Labor Day.

Castle Square Theatre—On Monday, with the opening of the season at the Castle Square Theatre, Mr. John Craig returns to the position of leading man, which he so ably filled for several seasons. The Castle Square stock company, with Mr. Craig as its leading man, and Miss Lillian Kemble as its leading lady, will be larger and stronger than ever before, and there is no doubt that the long list of notable plays selected for production each week by the management will receive adequate and artistic presentation. The play for the opening week of the season, which begins with a special holiday matinee on Labor Day, will be "Old Heidelberg," a romantic comedy of German student life in which Richard Mansfield won an extraordinary success two seasons ago. "Old Heidelberg" has been played in many countries and in many languages, but except for its two weeks presentation by Mr. Mansfield, it has never before been given in Boston. In fact, the performances at the Castle Square Theatre will be the first in Boston by a stock company at popular prices. The role of Karl Heinrich will be played by Mr. Craig, whose fine presence and personality fit him admirably for that romantic character. During the week of September 11, Henry V. Esmond's comedy "Imprudence," will be produced.

Tremont Theatre—There have been abounding signs of popularity for "The College Widow," which will begin its third week at the Tremont next Monday. The success of Mr. Ade's latest comedy is not difficult of analysis. Any one can recognize its cleverness in dialogue and character sketching and, moreover, every one is infected with the buoyant, youthful spirit of the story. It is not easy to recall a play in which so many healthy, wholesome young people are introduced. It is the heyday of the college boy and his best girl—a sunshiny picture and an exhilerating one. Consideration of some individual work is likely to be deferred during the series of surpises in dialogue and incident unfolded in the first hearing. Later some of the less broadly humorous characters come in for delighted attention,—the kindly and simple college president, excellently portrayed by Mr. Bryant; the tutor who discusses brain anatomy with him during the throes of the football game, presented with singular fidelity by Mr. Hollis; Edgar Davenport's manly Jack Larrabee; Morgan Coman's irrepressible Stub Talmadge, and the slangy football trainer played by Dan Collyer. Mr. Ade's observation has enabled him to present a wider range of odd personalities than any of the playwrights of today, and in the population of his plays no character occupies quite the position tha Flora Wiggins takes. Miss Quinlan, catching the exact spirit of the part at the outset, gets a laugh every time she speaks. Of the several parts "opposite" to hers, the green freshman seems to provide the best companion picture, especially when he restores the dropped saucer to her with true Squantumville gallantry. "The College Widow" is at the Tremont for a considerable stay. The avidity with which the public has already seized its many good points indicates that the engagement will be pre-eminent, even among the notable runs of Mr. Savage's other Boston productions

The Boston Operatic Society—A new musical organization has been formed in Boston, and one that will cover a field hitherto not attempted to any great extent, and is called the Boston Operatic Society. Its object is the study and production of light operatic works and it is intended to give two productions each year. Under consideration for production during the coming year are operas by Flowtow, Offenbach, Thomas, Lecocq, Planquette, Genee, and others. The membership, which is limited to fifty and is nearly full is made up of trained singers skilled in chorus and solo work, many of whom are members of such societies as the Handel and Hayden, etc. Rehearsals will be held in the New England Conservatory Building in September and the public performances will be given in Jordan Hall. The experience gained by singers in actually participating in productions of this kind will be of material benefit and applications are being received from many singers of local prominence. Mr. Herbert Forrest Odell, who is well known in the city of Boston for his connection with operatic musical events, has been engaged as musical director. Miss Mabel L. Stone will be the pianist and the officers are: S. H. Brice, treasurer; V. O. Anderson, secretary; advisory board, C. E. Patterson, chairman; Annie Laurie Heiser and D. E. Bowen.

The New England Conservertory of Music.

Prospective students are reminded that the fifty-third year of the New England Conservatory of Music begins on September 14th, and the office opens for registration on September 7th. With its fine building and superior equipment, the worth of a course at this institution is of inestimable value to those who desire to make the study of music a life work. for here is centred everything which tends to the pertection in every detail of a musical education, and nothing is spared in cultivating the talents of the students individually. The privileges of lectures, concerts and recitals, the opportunities of ensemble practice and appearing before audiences, and the daily associations here offered are invaluable advantages to the music student, and are such as are enjoyed only in a school of the scope of the New England Conservatory—in the recognized music centre of the country. Success founded upon true merit is certain to have an influence for all time, and is exemplified in the growth and progress of the New England Conservatory of Music.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

A peculiar accident occurred in West Newton, last week Thursday, when an automobile driven by Dr. Fred M. Lowe of that place grazed a horse attached to a butcher wagon from Cahill's West Newton provision house, frightening the animal so that he lost his balance and fell with a crash, taking the wagon with him. The driver jumped and escaped injury and neither the butcher cart nor the auto was damaged.

The accident occurred on Webster street about 9.30 o'clock. Dr. Lowe was passing in front of the butcher's cart, when his auto brushed against the animal. The horse gave a jump which caused him to lose his balance and fall to the street, tipping the wagon over. The horse and wagon were soon righted.

In another column the advertisement of an auction sale of lots on the Governor Claflin estate will be found. This is an exceptional opportunity to obtain some desirable real estate.

THE IMPROVED BETZ SYSTEM. RHEUMATISM

Dry Superheated Air Baths with electrical vibratory massage and stimulation for Rheumatism is the only form of treatment for this disease which is uniformly successful in all cases. By means of dry hot air baths, massage and regulation of diet, we are able to break up and eliminate rheumatic and gouty deposits from the tissues. We claim to cure completely and permanently all cases where the bony structures have not been previously destroyed. This treatment is especially beneficial during the warm summer months and if you are now suffering, or have in the past suffered from symptoms of rheumatism you owe it to your future health and happiness to eradicate this poison from your system while the heat of the summer can assist in the eliminative process and before the variable weather of the winter months aggrevate the disease and prohibits active treatment. Do not be deceived into thinking you are improving simply because you did not suffer as you did last winter. If the rheumatism poison was in your blood then, it is there now and all the symptoms will return with renewed vigor, unless you take advantage of this opportunity to restore the organs and functions to perfect health. Our system of treatment has been so successful that we feel warranted in being enthusiastic over its possibilities. We know that our former patients have been pleased one and all, and why not you?

TESTIMONIAL.

Eugene A. Osha,

Dear Sir:—

The quick and thorough action of the IMPROVED BETZ SYSTEM was a complete astonishment to me. I was suffering from a bad case of muscular rheumatism in both shoulders and arms. The best doctors could give me no relief from the suffering, and so I turned to the Betz System. The effect was simply marvellous. The relief was immediate, and the cure was complete with only four treatments. I cannot say too much for your system, but you can refer anyone to me.

Yours Respectfully,

MISS IDA A. VIENNEAU,

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Opening Next Monday Will Witness a Number of Changes in the Teaching Force

Mr. Frank W. Chase to be Master of the Bigelow School

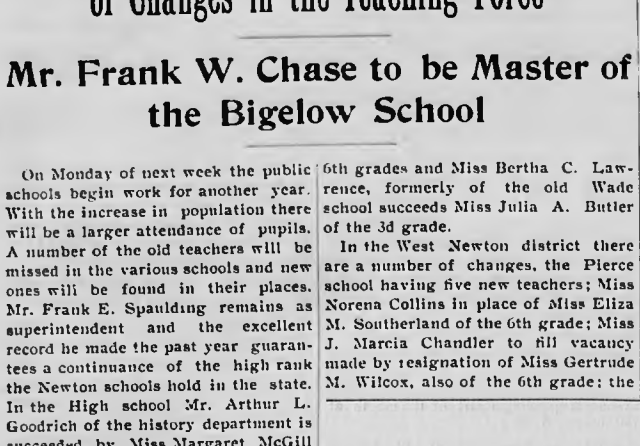

On Monday of next week the public schools begin work for another year. With the increase in population there will be a larger attendance of pupils. A number of the old teachers will be missed in the various schools and new ones will be found in their places. Mr. Frank E. Spaulding remains as superintendent and the excellent record he made the past year guarantees a continuance of the high rank the Newton schools hold in the state. In the High school Mr. Arthur L. Goodrich of the history department is succeeded by Miss Margaret McGill and she will have as an associate Mr. Robert W. Belcher. Miss Grace Burrows takes the place of Miss Helen H. Irons as instructor in English and French and Miss Josephine Bates will be a teacher in the English Course. The military drill which it was deemed best to dispense with will be missed by many and in its place there has been installed an athletic department under the direction of Mr. Fred L. Thompson.

In the Newton district a wise choice has been made in filling the vacancy of head master at the Bigelow school. Mr. Frank W. Chase, who comes from the Allston grammar school, is not a stranger to the city as he was formerly master of the Horace Mann school at Newtonville. It is generally conceeded that he is a worthy successor to the dearly beloved and much lamented Mr. H. Chapin Sawin.

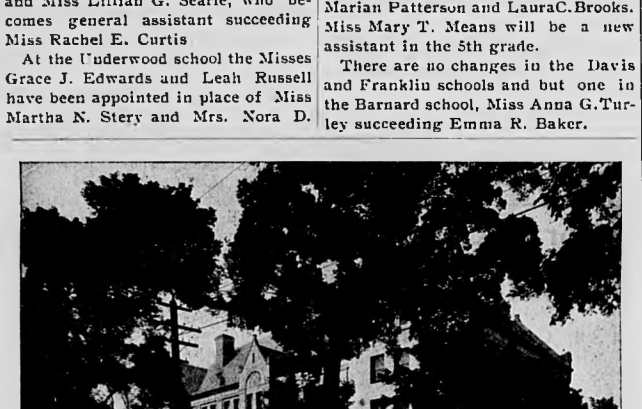

The new assistant is Miss Florence J. Everett, who takes the place of Miss Alice M. Lilly of the 4th grade and Miss Lillian G. Searle, who becomes general assistant succeeding Miss Rachel E. Curtis

At the Underwood school the Misses Grace J. Edwards and Leah Russell have been appointed in place of Miss Martha N. Stery and Mrs. Nora D. Freeman in the first grade. Miss Elizabeth A. Loveland resigns as assistant kindergartner. At the Lincoln school there is no change in the teaching force

At Newtonville the Horace Mann school has one change, Miss Beulah D. Robinson taking the place of Miss Lena E. Tukey of the 7th grade, and one addition, that of Miss Winnifred C. McEvoy.

HIGH SCHOOL.

BIGELOW SCHOOL.

At the Adams school Miss Mabel P. Emerson has been appointed to succeed Miss Helena M. Kimball. There is no change in the Eliot or Jackson schools at Nonantum.

Mr. Herbert F. Sylvester has resigned as master of the Claflin school and Miss Emma D. Larrabee will have charge. Miss Ellen McGrath takes the place of Miss Grace M. Hill of the 8th and 9th grades, Miss Anna H. Bartlett that of Miss Alma L. Carpenter of the 7th and 8th grades; Miss Katherine Railey that of Miss Blanche A. Chadwick of the 5th and 6th grades and Miss Bertha C. Lawrence, formerly of the old Wade school succeeds Miss Julia A. Butler of the 3d grade.

In the West Newton district there are a number of changes, the Pierce school having five new teachers; Miss Norena Collins in place of Miss Eliza M. Southerland of the 6th grade; Miss J. Marcia Chandler to fill vacancy made by resignation of Miss Gertrude M. Wilcox, also of the 6th grade; the Misses Bertha M. Sherburne and Mary A. Tisdale to the 5th and 2d and 1st grades respectively, filling vacancies made by resignations of the Misses Marian Patterson and Laura C. Brooks. Miss Mary T. Means will be a new assistant in the 5th grade.

There are no changes in the Davis and Franklin schools and but one in the Barnard school, Miss Anna G. Turley succeeding Emma R. Baker.

At Auburndale Miss E. J. McKenzie continues as acting master with Miss Florence W. James as acting first assis't and the Misses Alma Schworer and Mabel F. Studley take the places of Miss Elizabeth M. Eaton and Miss Ada B. Judson in the 8th and 7th grades.

The interior of the Williams school has been considerably improved, the walls of the corridors and class rooms having received a coat of paint. In this school Miss Elizabeth P. Anthony and Miss Katherine C. McCarthy are the new teachers in the 5th and 4th grades, the former in place of Miss Jennie F. Hayden. Miss Mabel Gray will be a special assistant and Miss Helen Newell an assisant in the kindergarten department, following Miss Ruth Brewer.

At the Hamilton school at Newton Lower Falls there are two changes, Miss Grace K. Blackmore succeeding Miss Mabelle P. Emerson in the 2d and 1st grades, and Miss Clara Kramer becomes special assistant in place of Miss Grace A. Cunningham.

The new Ralph Waldo Emerson school, which was completed and opened in May, is a handsome red brick building with all modern conveniences, containing 12 rooms and a hall and is located on the site of the old Wade school on High and Pettee streets, Newton Upper Falls, a part of the basement has been fitted up for a branch of the public library and will probably be opened about Sept. 15th. Here Miss Helen B. Somers will assist in the 9th and 8th grades and the other changes are as follows: Miss Katherine C. Sullivan becomes a permanent teacher in place of Miss Austine C. Moody of the 5th grade; Miss Ida M. Pettee in place of Miss Bertha C. Lawrence of the fourth grade, who is transferred to the Claflin school. Miss Elsie Fuller will be a new assistant and Miss Katherine C. French has been assigned to the 3d grade.

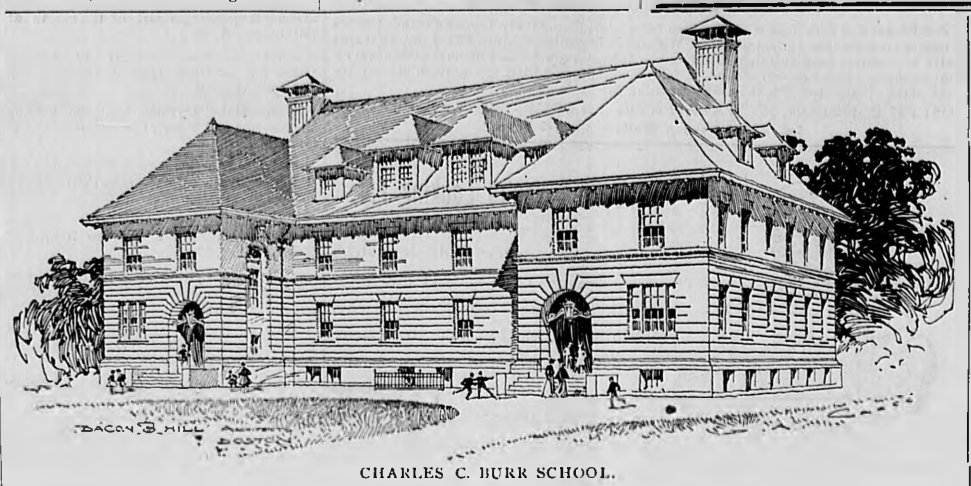

At the Hyde school, Newton Highlands, there are no new teachers and Mrs. Mabelle F. A. Douglas, the primary assistant and Miss Helen E. Newell of the kindergarten department have been dropped.

At the Roger Wolcott school at Waban, modern sanitary arrangements have been installed in place of the old cremating closets and the kindergarten department has been removed to a hall on Wyman street near the station. The only change in the teaching force in the addition of Miss Mary E. Coyle.

The interior of the Mason school at Newton Centre is now in keeping with the handsome exterior, the latest imprints being of the tinting of the walls of the class rooms in a new neutral green, the walls of the corridors in a light terra cotta and the ceilings a cream white. Miss Ada M. Smith is the new teacher in the 8th grade in place of Miss Adelaide F. Perkins, Miss J. Gertrude Ogilvie follows Miss Ida B. Eames in the 7th grade and Miss Lillian Russell and Miss Stella M. Jones succeed the Misses Emma A. Batchelder and Mary C. Tilton in the 7th and 4th grades respectively.

At the Rice school Miss Alice I. Spencer is the first assistant in place of the late Miss Mary E. Mason, and Miss Mary C. Gilton, formerly of the Mason school, comes to the second grade, succeeding Miss Nellie A. M. Alger.

In the Thompsonville school there is no change from last year. One special teacher has been appointed, Miss Catherine T. Boyce who will be primary supervisor.

CHARLES C. BURR SCHOOL.

Police Paragraphs.

For hitting Fred M. Nugent on the head with a pipe coupling at the Saxony mill, Joseph Roffo was fined $20 in court on Saturday. The trouble started Friday and terminated when Nugent was knocked senseless. Roffo was discharged by his employer.

Mrs. Mary E. Payne, the divorced wife of Nelson A. Payne, of Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, for whom the Newton police have been searching, was seen wandering in the drenching rain at Newton Lower Falls Sunday afternoon by several residents of the village. She left town before the police could catch her and place her under arrest.

More petty thieving was reported to Chief Mitchell Monday. Mr. T. W. Proctor of 23 Hammond street, Newton Centre, complained that a tent was stolen from his lawn the night previous. The police believe that the vandals belong to some of the camps scattered through the woods off Beacon street and will try to locate the property.

A paty of young men from Roxbury who started in to celebrate in a field at the junction of Commonwealth avenue, Wolcott and Rowe streets, last Monday afternoon, were arrested by the police. In a barge loaded with barrels and bottles of beer, the party numbering 25, were driven to police headquarters. After a warning all but six were allowed to depart. The six were John J. Kenny 23; James F. Greevey 24; James T. Devine 26; James F. Casey 31; Aloyse Vatter 26 and Owen H. Lynch 26. All were locked up for drunkenness but later were discharged

WORN OUT?
Are Your Strength and Energy Gone?
If you are discouraged and despondent and wish to die, it is not because everything is black before you. It is simply because your vitality is so low and you are so weak that you have not he courage to face a lifetime.
Eminent physicians have been attracted by similar cases and after making a careful and scientific study of their requirements have compounded a remedy called Vin-Tone, which, builds up body and mind in a remarkably short time.
Vitality is what you need and vitality is what Vin-Tone gives.
We tell you of this preparation hoping it may find its way into every home where man, woman or child is suffering from lack of energy.
Vin-Tone can be procured at a very trivial expense and will build up your system as it has thousands of others

MIDDLESEX SOUTH ANNUAL CATTLE SHOW

Arrangements for the annual Middlesex South cattleshow at Framingham are now well advanced, and a good and wholesome show is arranged for this year. It will be two days—Tuesday, Sept. 19, and Wednesday, Sept. 20. Features already decided on include:

The bench show is to be open to New England dogs, Loring L. Brooks being chairman of the committee, with Tom B. Middlebrook, a well-known Boston dog fancier, as superintendent.

Frank W. Jennings will be in charge of the poultry show and a fine exhibition is promised.

There will be Grange competition this year for prizes amounting to $75. Framingham, Cochituate Sudbury and other Granges have signified their intention to compete with Grange exhibits.

Hon. Chester B. Williams of Wayland is in charge of advertising and special features; L. F. Childs is superintendent of grounds; Frank S. Gowell superintendent of horses; Isaac Damon superintendent of hall.

Tuesday Afternoon.

Trotting in the 2.37 class and exhibition of gentlemen's driving horses.

Baseball game between Cochituate and team not yet named.

Arrangements are also in progress for a trot confined to local horses, and it seems likely this will also be a Tuesday afternoon feature.

Wednesday.

Trotting in the 2.27 and 2.22 classes

Hurdle races and jumping competition under management of N. I. Bowditch.

Other special features will be added as the arrangements progress.

The disposition this year is to admit any and all respectable fakirs and fun-makers on payment of a reasonable fee, and there will be a live cattle-show and fair.

The Annual Dinner will be served on the second day and prominent speakers will be engaged to address the society. Invitations will also be extended the governor, lieutenant-governor and other state officials.

Letter to S. O. Thayer.

Dear Sir: It's the same everywhere; can't guess little enough.

Mr. C. O. Brown, Columbia, S. C., employed an experienced painter to paint his house. The painter on seeing the quantity sent to the house—Devoe—said there wasn't enough. There were ten gallons left, when the job was done.

It's the common experience.

Yours truly

Morrison—Sherman.

One of the prettiest weddings of the early autumn season occurred at St. Anthony's church, Holton street, Allston, on Wednesday, the contracting parties being Miss Marion Louise Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Sherman of Ashford Court, Allston, and Mr. Edward Philip Morrison of Watertown. The ceremony occurred at 10 o'clock, before a large company of relatives and friends and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Father Keliher. The best man was Mr. David Penner of Boston and the maid of honor Miss Cora Wallace Francis of Cambridge. The Misses Lucy E. Jackson of Brighton, Rena King Purves of Cambridge and Sara Louise Shaw of Brighton were the bridesmaids and Messrs. Arthur Timmins, John Timmins, Harry McDevitt and George McDevitt, all of Allston, were the ushers. The order of the bridal procession was the ushers, then the bridesmaids and maid of honor wearing white muslin with roses, trimmings of German Valenciennes lace, pink sashes and white maline hats with pink roses. They carried immense boquets of pale pink asters tied with pink ribbons and in lieu of gloves, wore mitts. The bride who followed on the arm of her father, was gowned in a creation of princesse lace over chiffon, over silk trimmed on neck and sleeves with seed pearls and wore a bridal veil caught up with small sprays of orange blossoms. At the altar she was met by the groom and his best man and the marriage ceremony followed. At the close the company repaired to the Tuileries on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, where a reception was held. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by their parents Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Edward Morrison, also by the bride's attendants. Later they left on a wedding trip to the Adirondack Mountains, going in a private car, the groom's father being assistant superintendent of the Boston and Albany division of the New York Central Railroad. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are to reside at 15 Eliot street, Watertown, where they will be at home Tuesdays, Nov. 14 and 21.

Washington Letter.

The enthusiasm felt in Washington over President Roosevelt's large part in bringing the Russian and Japanese peace envoys together is to be displayed in a popular welome to the President when he returns to the city. Washington is on particularly good terms with President Roosevelt. He has been a resident of the city so long aside from his term in the White House and many of the leading citizens know him personally, so that the man in the street feels that he is better acquainted with him than with any president for many administrations past. The return welcome that is being planned probably will not include a parade or set speeches but will consist in greeting the President at the depot as was done two years ago and escorting him to the White House. It will be a personal tribute to his work for peace and will be the informal sort of greeting that the President much prefers to more set and stilted affairs.

It is quite possible however, that the President may have something to say a little later as to the part he personally played in the peace negotiations. Up to the present, his part in the negotiations has been well and properly guarded. Alone and unadvised the President took a step never before attempted by any chief magistrate and threw himself between the hostile envoys till their instructions could be changed by the two sovereigns to whom he appealed. The text or substance of those notes to St. Petersburg and Tokyo has never been divulged and it probably will be well to keep them secret till after the treaty of peace has been signed. But then there will be a great deal of pardonable curiosity to know just what steps the President took that caused such a complete and sudden change in the attitude of Japan. But that he bore an important personal part is shown if by nothing else in the telegrams of congratulations that reached him from King Edward, the Kaiser, the Czar himself and other continental monarchs who ascribed the conclusion of peace as a direct tribute to his intervention. Great pressure has been brought to bear on the President to divulge the text of his notes to the two rulers, and it is possible in the near future that he may either in a public address or in an official statement say something that will throw light on this interesting chapter in modern diplomacy.

A very important step was taken Sept. 2 in the convening in Washington of the special board of consulting engineers who will settle the question of whether the Panama canal shall be a lock canal or built at sea level. The board will consist of Gen. W. Davis, Alfred Nobel, William Barclay Parsons, William H. Burr, Henry L. Abbot, Frederick Sterns, Joseph Ripley, and Isham Randolph, all American engineers, Henry Hunter, nominated by the British government; Herr Eugene Tinkhauser, nominated by Germany; M. Guerard, nominated by France; M. Quillenec, consulting engineer of the Suez canal, and J. W. Welcker nominated by the government of the Netherlands. The board did not do much at its first meeting but it expects to get its report ready for transmission to Congress in December. It is possible that the engineers may visit the scene of the work before their report is rendered, but a number of them have been there already and as they have at their disposal the maps and surveys of all the previous commissions, it may not be necessary for them to leave Washington. It is thought likely that President will send a very urgent message on the subject of the canal to Congress, making some definite proposal as to the work and defining the sort of canal that should be built instead of leaving the question open any longer. It is now understood that the chief objection to a sea level canal will be that it will cost more and take longer to build. The lock canal can be built in from six to eight years while the sea level one would take from ten to twelve years. The question of money does not so much stand in the way as the time and it is said also that if the traffic of the canal increases to warrant it in the next fifty years that the canal can gradually be changed from lock to sea level without greatly incommoding traffic.

NEWTON DAMAGED BY RECENT STORM.

The Garden City was swept by the storm Sunday and Monday; many wires were down and telephone, telegraph and street lighting service was interrupted.

The deluge of rain caused many washouts and various tributaries of the Charles river gullied their banks. Several Newton Upper Falls thoroughfares were washed out and the excavations for a new dam in the Charles at Boylston street, in that village, were filled with water and gravel.

The wind blew down wires on Grove street, Woodland road, Grant avenue, Dalby street and Institution avenue and a telephone pole near Islington road, Auburndale.

Pedestrians had narrow escapes from live wires and the wire men were in considerable danger while making repairs.

At West Newton, Cheesecake Brook became a torrent and for a time damage was feared. The ball games scheduled for Monday were canceled and the Labor Day picnic of Fr. Callanan's parish at Newton Lower Falls was postponed until Saturday.

LABOR DAY CARNIVAL POSTPONED TILL SATURDAY

The great annual Labor Day athletic carnival and tug-of-war tournament of Rev. P. H. Callanan's parish, Newton Lower Falls, which was to be held on Labor Day, has been postponed till Saturday next, Sept. 9th.

Notwithstanding the storm on Labor Day, fully two thousand people assembled on the great athletic field at Lower Falls, only to go away again disappointed. On Saturday all of the features announced for Labor Day will be retained and several others will be added. The great pavilion, the largest ever erected in New England, if not in the United States, is now in place and will remain till the carnival is over. This pavilion encloses four acres of ground and will accommodate twenty thousand people. As ten thousand people annually attend this athletic carnival, the accommodations, though ample, are not too great for the thousands who will attend. More canvas has been used in its construction than in all the combined tents of the largest circus that ever showed in Boston. A well-known firm on Commercial street built this great pavilion and fifty sail makers were engaged for ten days in its construction.

Besides this great pavilion three other great tents one hundred by fifty feet have been erected, one for the tug-of-war contests which has been equipped with graded seats on the circus plan so that all may see the contests; the two other tents are used for the dancing and main dining halls. An information bureau pavilion thirty by forty feet, a fancy-work pavilion, two candy booths and twelve refreshment booths complete the canvas equipment.

Five hundred 32-candle power electric lights will turn night into day. The electrical display will be a most beautiful sight, and the canvas city within will be a veritable fairy land.

Athletic sports and games will continue all day and evening up to 11 P. M., and young and old will find something to interest and delight them. One of the finest orchestras of Boston of ten pieces, will furnish the dancing music. Twenty teams of ten men each from as many cities and towns in the state have entered for the purse of gold. These ten-men-teams, making a contest of twenty men on the cleate at once, are a unique feature of Father Callanan's carnival. Father Callanan himself has invented a "Block and lever and Saddle Apparatus" for the tug-of-war contests, which insures absolute justice in this great game. The apparatus also insures fairness in the start and finish of the "Pull" and does away with all possibility of dispute.

A greased pig that is positively wild will be a "slippery proposition" for someone to hold, and the greased pole contests will amuse all. Add to this the running, jumping, hurdle races, potato races, bag races, wheel-barrow races, obstacle races, girls jump-rope races, hoop races, candle-blow races and the nail driving contests for men and women and the bill of fare should suit every taste.

Three great African dodgers, Ivory Bill, Rubber Neck Pete and Cocoanut Dan with shooting galleries, "Aunt Sally," Pitchett Boards and many other games for ladies and gentlemen, will keep all busy.

The tug-of-war contests and all the games and sports will continue up to 10.30 P. M., the brilliantly lighted pavilions and grounds being better adapted to the sports at night than during the sun light. The grounds will be open from 10 A. M. till 11 P. M., and are directly opposite St. John's church, on the main line of electrics from all points.

Entries for the purse of gold in the tug-of-war contests may be sent any time before Saturday to David Warren, Newton Lower Falls.

While the appointment of Father Gilfether, the assistant pastor of the Church of Our Lady as pastor of the church at West Lynn is decidedly complimentary to him, and a tribute to his high standing in the archdiocese it will be received in this city with the keenest regret.

For over twenty years, Father Gilfether has ministered to the spiritual and material needs of his parish with a simple fidelity and straightforward sincerity which has not only exalted his high office in the church, but has brought to him in an unusual degree the love and respect of all his people.

The impress of his work and the force of his character have not been confined wholly to his parish, and his influence and personality have been strong factors in the life of the city.

The highest tribute of his worth as a priest and as a man, which Father Gilfether takes with him to his new pastorate, is the mingled love and sorrow of his parish and friends in Newton.

The census figures for the entire state as announced late last week confirm the fact on which we commented some time ago, regarding the difference in the rate of increase between 1895 and 1900 and during the last five years. The state ratio of increase during the first half of the decade was about 12 per cent and only a little over 6 per cent for the last half. Newton gained 21 per cent for the first five years and only 9 per cent during the last five years. We are therefore a little better off in this respect than the average for the state.

The return of Mr. Frank W. Chase to the teaching force of the Newton schools is the source of much satisfaction to those who have an interest in educational matters. Mr. Chase made a fine record while master of the Horace Mann school and will undoubtedly make a success as master of the Bigelow district. We congratulate the city in general and the Bigelow district in particular on this auspicious occasion.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sawyer Bullens celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday, at their beautiful home on Waverley avenue. During the afternoon and evening a large number of people called to offer their congratulations. The affair was entirely informal and Mr. and Mrs. Bullens were the recipients of many beautiful presents. After the reception an informal luncheon was served.

Mr. Bullens is one of our best known residents and his name is closely indentified with the history of this city since his removal here in 1859. He was born in Walpole, April 13, 1829, receiving his early education in the public schools at Chicopee. Upon the completion of his school career, he entered the commission dry goods business with the firm of J. C. Howe and Co. He remained with this firm 27 years, during the last seven of which he was one of the partners. Upon the dissolution of this firm in 1875 he entered the banking business, forming the well known banking house of Bullens and Mixter. In 1878 Mr. Bullens was elected president of the National Revere Bank, and withdrew from the firm of Bullens and Mixter. He remained with the Revere bank until it was merged with the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

Notwithstanding his busy career Mr. Bullens found time to do much for this city, serving as alderman during 1876, 7, 8. He was a trustee of the Suffolk Savings Bank from 1871 to 1902. In 1882 he was elected treasurer of the Newton Hospital, which position he held until about a year ago. In 1884 he was appointed sinking fund commissioner of this city, serving as chairman of the board for many years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bullens, who was Miss Caroline A. Jerome of Boston, have taken an active part in Grace church, of which Mr. Bullens is senior warden now.

Miss Charlotte L. Bullens is the only surviving member of their family of four children.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A special meeting of the aldermen was called for Tuesday evening at 7.45 o'clock but it was 10.10 before a quorum was secured and business could be transacted.

Those present were Aldermen Baker, Bishop, Cabot, Doherty, Ensign, Hunt, Palmer, Riley, Weston and Underwood.

Alderman Hunt was elected president pro tem.

Alderman Ensign was designated to draw the name of three traverse jurors for duty at Lowell on Sept. 11th and George L. Marcy, Chestnut street, Upper Falls, Arthur W. Kelley, Central street, Auburndale, and Isaac D. White of Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands, were selected.

Communications from Wm. H. Mague, chairman of the Democratic city committee and from C. E. Hatfield, chairman of the Republican city committee relative to caucuses to be held Sept. 26th were received and filed.

Similar action was taken on the communication from Chas. F. Pidgin, chief of Bureau of Statistics of Labor on preliminary count of population for 1905.

The bond of John J. Kenney as constable with the Aetna Indemnity Co. as surety was approved.

The claim of Llewellyn Hurton for injury on account of kick from horse and of Sarah Fuller for refund of sewer assessment on Concord street were referred to the Committee on Claims.

Petitions for sewers from G. D. Rand on Groveland street and of C. F. Libbey on Hyde street were referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Petition of J. M. Spence for wagon license was referred to the Committee on Public Franchises, etc.

The communication from the Secretary of the Commonwealth relative to incorporation of James Donalson et al as "The Auto and Driving Club of Greater Boston" was received.

On these petitions of the N. E. Tel. and Tel. Co. hearings were ordered for Sept. 11th.

For locations on Pearl street, 1 pole, Berwick road, 2 poles, Winchester street, 50 poles, Foster street, 1 pole, Walnut street, 1 pole, Allerton road, 1 pole, Jewett street, 4 poles, Winchester street, 1 pole, Washington street, 1 pole, and for attachments to N. and W. Gas Light Co. poles on Washington street, 1 pole, Old Orchard road, 1 pole, Newtonville avenue, 3 poles, Groveland street, 2 poles, Washington street, 3 poles, Jackson street, 2 poles, Collins road, 3 poles, Bellevue and Claremont streets 4 poles.

Orders calling primary election on Sept. 26; establishing poling places for primaries of Sept. 26 and Nov. 21, and establishing pay of election officers were adopted.

At 10.30 P. M. the board adjourned.

Cherrington—Joy.

Mr. Frederick B. Cherrington, son of the late Frank W. and Mrs. Cherrington of Boston, and Miss Clyda Joy, second daughter of the late Herbert H. and Mrs. Joy of New York, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother on West 57th Street, New York city on Wednesday evening, September the sixth, by Rev. J. B. Remensnyder of St. James Church.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Clyde R. Joy of Keokuk, Iowa, and attended by her cousin, Miss Mildred Joy of Keokuk. The groomsman was Mr. Joseph Congdon of Waban, brother-in-law of the groom.

After a brief trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cherrington will take up their residence in Waban.

Pettengill-Gowing

Miss Eva I. Gowing of 6 Boyd street, Newton, eldest daughter of B. H. Gowing, and Mr. George W. Pettengill of Boston, were married Monday evening, August 25th, in the Temple Street M. E. Church at Boston by the pastor, the Rev. J. Frank Knotts. Only the immediate relatives were present. The bride was attired in white crepe de chene, the veil being held in place with a diamond circlet, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Lela Gowing and Miss Lola Raymond were maids of honor and the brother, F. H. Gowing, gave away the bride. After an extended trip south they will take rooms in Boston Back Bay.

How a Bee Gave Up Work.

On landing in Australia our hive bee industriously collected quantities of honey. Finding, however, that there was no winter such as we have in England, it gave up laying in stores. Its morals are corrupted, for it is no longer busy, and leads a butterfly life. —Nature Notes.

No Extension.

"Is the wind due east or due west today?" asked an evasive creditor by way of changing the subject of his debt.

"It's due now, and you'd better hustle to raise it," was the unfeeling reply.

His Defense.

The Count—You do me an injustice. I am not mercenary. The Heiress—No? The Count—No, I assure you. It is my creditors who are.—New York Press.

FR. GILFETHER TO LEAVE NEWTON.

Rev. James F. Gilfether, for 21 years the assistant pastor of the Church of Our Lady at Newton, has been appointed as pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart at West Lynn, and will assume charge of his new parish in a very few days.

Father Gilfether is one of the most popular priests in the city and is said to be one of the best preachers in the archdiocese.

He was born in South Boston in 1860, ordained at St. Mary's seminary at Baltimore and in 1884 began his labors in Newton as curate of his present church.

Boy Shot

Winship E. Webster of Russell road, aged 17, was shot on Wednesday afternoon by his chum, Joseph E. K. Robblee, aged 18, who resides at 230 Washington street.

The lads were inspecting a new rifle on the shores of the Charles river when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking young Webster in the thigh. He was taken to Dr. Davenport's office where the bullet was removed and the wound dressed, and later the police ambulance took him home.

Five years ago Mr. Edwin DeMeritte —for many years identified with the success and prosperity of two of the best private schools in Boston—started a school for boys at 30 Huntington avenue, Boston. From his long experience he brought into the new enterprise a determination to build up a school where manliness and education go hand in hand. He further strengthened his position by associating with him young men fresh from the college, strong in modern methods and strong in character. The broad and progressive ideas of the founder, the ability of his associates and their fidelity to their work, the combination of ripe experience and modern methods, have already made it a school strong in numbers, strong in character of its boys, strong in its eductional work and strong in the preparation it gives to boys to fight the battle of life successfully.

The Waltham School of Business
EVENING SESSIONS.
The evening sessions of the Waltham School of Business will begin September 6, instead of September 18, the change of date being made at the request of several pupils who wish to begin as soon as possible.
The subjects regularly taught will be Book-keeping, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Shorthand, Typewriting, and English.
Special attention is called to the subject of Book-keeping. The methods of recording transaction have undergone great changes. Many experienced book-keepers indeed are in need of instruction in the new ways so great are the improvements.
Pupils who desire to do so may devote the whole time to English or to any other study.
There will be a special course for those who wish to fit for civil service examinations.
The School occupies the second story of the Waltham Trust Company's building The rooms will be open during August from nine a. m. to twelve m., two to five, and seven to nine p. m. The Principal intends to be there Wednesdays and Saturdays, both afternoon and evening. For further information concerning either day or evening sessions, apply to the School in person or by letter.

Castle Square Theatre—The coming week will see the first stock company presentation of "Imprudence" in Boston. It will be given by the full strength of the stock company, with John Craig and Lillian Kemble in the leading roles. "Imprudence" is a comedy of English life and manners, by Henry V. Esmond, the author of many other successful plays. It has the rare charm of purity and genuineness; its satire is keen and good humored, and it presents a pleasant and amusing picture of the English life and the English people of today.

The afternoon performances at the Castle Square begin promptly at two o'clock and the evening performances at eight.

Afternoon performances will be given daily hereafter, with the exception o Mondays.

Capt. Dockendorff Dead

On Monday of this week Captain Philip Dockendorff passed away, after an illness of some months, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nelson H. Brown, on Walnut street. Captain Dockendorff was born in China, Maine, July 11, 1816. As a young man he removed to Pittston where he was mainly occupied as a hay merchant, although he followed the sea for some years in the coasting and West Indian trade. After the death of his wife he took up his residence in Massachusetts with his children, first at Braintree and then at Newtonville. With the death of Captain Dockendorff the community loses one of its oldest and best known members. In addition to a daughter he leaves a grandson, Mr. Reginald W. P. Brown of Newtonville, and a granddaughter, Mrs. George Gordon Webster of Newton Centre.

Funeral services were held at the Brown residence yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Polk of Boston, officiating. The Harvard quartet sang several selections and the interment was at Newton cemetery.

—Miss Agnes Bulman, who has been visiting her cousin on Brook street, has returned to her home in Boston.

CITY OF NEWTON.

Sale of Unredeemed Real Estate by the City of Newton.

Collector's Office.

NEWTON, September 1, 1905.

In conformity with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the public and all persons interested as former owners and occupants of each of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth aforesaid, are hereby notified that said parcels have been conveyed according to law to said City of Newton for non-payment of taxes and assessments and the time within which each of the estates might be redeemed by the owners thereof having expired. each of said parcels will be offered for sale in accordance with section 67 of Chapter 13 of Revised Laws by public auction at the City Hall in said Newton, on Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1905,

At 3 o'clock p. m.

and to the highest bidder for each of the several parcels a quitclaim deed will be delivered. For further particulars reference is made to the Registry of Deeds for the Southern District of the County of Middlesex, the volume and folio numbers following the description of each parcel, indicating the record of the deed under which the said City of Newton now holds title to the estate described.

The sums set against the several estates show the amount due thereon respectively for the taxes and assessments for the non-payment of which said estate was sold to the said Newton, together with the subsequent taxes and assessments, interest on the same, and all lawful costs and charges. And none of the said estates will be sold for less than the amount set against said estates, respectively.

FRANCIS NEWHALL,
Collector of Taxes for the City of Newton.

Literary Notes.

Hinds, Noble and Eldredge, the well known music and book publishing house, have issued a series of four new music folios which can not fail to prove of interest to every lover of vocal music who is fortunate in the possession of a piano or organ.

The particular feature about these books which will strike the casual observer is the attractive manner in which they are published, both as regards typographical excellence and artistic beauty. This is of course secondary in importance to the quality of the musical contents, but as the latter leaves nothing to be desired, it is also pleasing to note that extra plans have been taken in making the books as attractive as possible.

We really can not see how any one musically inclined can afford to be without a copy of "The Most Popular College Songs," for there is certainly no folio containing more songs in which every one, whether he be musically proficient or not, can join in the chorus. Such standard gems as "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party," "Jingle Bells," "Solomon Levi," "Suwanee River," "My Bonnie, "Forsaken," "Old Oaken Bucket," "Annie Laurie," "Upidee," "Juanita," "Sweet and Low," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Clementine,""Polly-Wolly-Doodle," Home Sweet Home," "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and in fact all those old familiar melodies which are the first to be called for when a happy party of friends gather around the piano or organ to enjoy a little music, are included, thus making it an ideal collection and one which ought to be highly prized.

Another book of college songs which has a peculiar significance to any one, be he a graduate of many years, or at present a student, is "The Songs of All the Colleges." This book contains not only the college songs which are most familiar to every one, but also special songs which have been written at the different universities for their Alma Maters. It scarcely makes any difference what college one has attended, for he will still be able to find in this book the song which was his favorite and which will bring back to him pleasant memories of the past, or revive the enthusiasm of the present. For instance, Yale College is represented by the famous "Yale Boola" song. Naturally there is no student from that college who will not prize this book highly just because it contains the song which he likes best. This is equally true of other songs of other colleges, such as Harvard, Cornell; Chicago, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and a score more of the leading universities.

The other two books just issued by this house are also very valuable in their particular field, both being devoted to new songs for male quartets. One is entitled "New Songs for College Glee Clubs," and contains about 35 excellent numbers. These are al written by well known composers, and are simply as well as effectively arranged for male quartets. The other book is entitled "New Songs for Male Quartets," and contains a splendid series of thirty songs, both secular and sacred in character, by such well known composers as George B. Nevin, Henry K. Hadley, Walter Howe Jones, and Roys Bridgman. As in the case of the other quartet folio, the arrangements are most effective in style, and either of the books can be used for male choruses as well as quartets, while there are a number of selections in the latter book which can be used to advantage by churches having male choirs.

All these folios can be found at our local music or book stores, or can be purchased from the publishers at the prices indicated in their advertisement placed with us this issue.

It pays the buyer to buy from an advertiser and to say he saw the article advertised in this or that paper. The man who mentions an advertisement when buying goods really gets the best possible service,—even better than the regular customer when this is possible. Why? Simply because the advertiser pays good money for his advertisement and he is glad to hear from it. It is a compliment to his good business judgment. tf

THE WORD STAPLE.

How It Came to Be Applied to Articles of Commerce.

The word "staple," applied as an adjective to distinguish certain articles of commerce, had its origin in England in the early part of the thirteenth century. The merchants of the staple were the first and most ancient and were so called from their exporting the staple wares of the kingdom—namely, wool, leather, skins, lead and tin. The king's staple was established in certain towns, and certain goods could not be exported without being first brought to those towns and rated and charged with the duty payable to the king. The grower of wool contented himself at first with the sale of it at his own door or at the next town. Thence arose a class of men who bought it from him and became a medium between the grower and the foreign cloth merchants. In 1319 the company had the legal form of a corporation and was the oldest mercantile corporation in England. Edward II. had for the better collecting of duty on wool ordained that the staple for it should be a certain town in the Netherlands, and Antwerp was fixed upon. It was afterward successively removed to St. Omer's, Bruges, Brussels, Louvain, Mecklin and Calais. In 1353 the staple was fixed at Westminster, which caused so great a resort of traders that from a village it was raised to the dignity of a town. In 1378 it was removed to the place still named Staple inn, in Holborn. Hence "staple goods" are such as have been duly appraised and have paid the regular customs duties.

MILLET'S INFLUENCE.

A Host of Painters Followed Him In Depicting Peasant Life.

In his own words Millet tried to depict "the fundamental side of men and things." His subject was the peasant life—not the representation of it such as one sees in opera or the pretty, sentimental aspect of it, but the actual drama of labor continuously proceeding through the four seasons, the "cry of the soul," echoing in the hearts of the patient, plodding, God fearing toilers. Everything was typical. We have spoken of his "Sower." Of another picture the critic Castagnary wrote: "Do you remember his 'Reaper?' He might have reaped the whole earth!"

Everything that Millet did was full of a deep seriousness and sincerity. He never was an "easy" painter, so that his greatness as an artist is perhaps more clear in the black and white than in the colored subjects. Certainly in his crayon drawings, lithographs and etchings he proved himself to be one of that limited number of artists who may be reckoned master draftsmen. Moreover, the character that he expresses is of that grand and elemental quality which sometimes reminds us of Michael Angelo.

Millet's influence produced a host of painters of the peasant, among whom the strongest are the Frenchman L'Hermitte and Israels, the Dutchman. These, like him, have represented their subject with sympathy and with understanding also.—St. Nicholas.

The British Speaker.

Not only does the speaker of the house of commons enjoy the material benefits of a lordly residence at Westminster palace, a salary of £5,000 a year, £100 a year for stationery and two hogsheads of claret and 2,000 ounces of plate on election, but he enjoys the less substantial advantage of taking precedence of all other commoners. By an act of 1689 it was provided that the lords commissioners of the great seal not being peers "shall have and take place next after the peers of the realm and the speaker of the house of commons."—London Chronicle.

An Eye Test.

Most people believe that they see the same with both eyes. That this is not the case one can easily convince himself by the following simple experiment: Cover one of the eyes with a hand or a bandage and let the experimenter attempt to snuff out a candle suddenly placed within a few feet of him. He will almost invariably miss the flame, either overreaching, underreaching or putting the fingers too far to the right or left of the flame. With both eyes normal and open the accommodation for distance and direction is instantaneous.

A Curious Tablecloth.

The German emperor owns a curious tablecloth presented long ago by the women of Sleswick-Holstein. It is entirely worked over with moral sayings that include the following: "Do not believe all you hear; do not say all you know; do not do all you would like." "Wilt thou here have spass (fun)—be careful with thy glass." "First weigh and consider, then dare." "German house, German land—guard it, God, with mighty hand." "Contentment is a rare art."

Agreed With Her.

Tramp (at the door)—If you please, lady— Mrs. Muggs (sternly)—There, that will do. I am tired of this everlasting whine of "Lady, lady." I am just a plain woman, and— Tramp—You are, madam—one of the plainest women I've ever seen an' one of the honestest to own up to it.

A Reproof.

"Oh, children, you are so noisy today. Can't you be a little quieter?"

"Now, grandma, you must be more considerate and not scold us. You see, if it wasn't for us you wouldn't be a grandma at all."

His Temper.

Blobbs—Wigwag has a frightfully bad temper. Slobbs—Well, it doesn't seem to make him any more amiable when he loses it.—Philadelphia Record.

New England CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Founded 1853 Term opens September 14

Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.
GEORGE W. CHADWICK, Director.

There are privileges and advantages connected with the student life at the New England Conservatory of Music that mark it an institution of unusual efficiency. The remarkable equipment and strong organization for musical education have resulted from a growth of more than fifty years. The material increase is significant, but of greater importance is the experience that has come with these fifty years of progress. To-day, no school in America can contribute as much and none in Europe offer more toward a musical education than the New England Conservatory of Music.

Every branch of a musical education has a special master. The student's capacity sets the only limitation to his progress.

Owing to the practical training of students in our Normal Department graduates are eagerly sought as teachers. Practical Pianoforte Tuning Course in one year.

Detailed descriptions of Courses are best told about in the year book which will be sent on request. Address

Coming Attractions

Grand Opera House—The Russell Brothers, James and John, who for many years were well known on the vaudeville stage, but for a year essayed the serious drama, have succeeded so well that they have this season mounted a big production which will be seen at the Boston Grand Opera House next week. The play which is called "The Great Jewel Mystery," is from the pen of Mark E. Swan and by all accounts is a thriller, of course, as the title suggests it is a detective story and the Russell Brothers, who play Nolan and Dolan are the sleuths, the strenuous work keeps the audience in a perpetual stage of excitement from beginning to end of the drama and their impersonation of the Irish chambermaids is well known to be a wonderful example of character acting. The story of the play tells of a very clever robbery of jewels and in the early scenes of the drama the situation seems to be so much of a hopeless entanglement that it will be almost impossible for any detective work to unravel the mystery. The police are baffled and finaly it is up to two Irishmen to ferret out the truth, which they do by assuming female disguises. This leads to many dangerous situations but ends in the discovery of the plot and the triumph of justice. To those who have never seen the Russell Brothers a treat is in store as without doubt they are two of the best entertainers now upon the stage. They have a line of work that is strictly their own and which so far none have been able to imitate. In female make-up they absolutely lose their male identity and create roars of laughter by their perfect work. Matinees will be given as usual on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Keith's Theatre—That the program announced from Keith's theatre is one of the strongest and best bills of the season goes without saying for a mere scansion of the list of entertainers will convince any regular patron of vaudeville. The headline entertainers of the bill will be Will M. Crossy and Blanche Dayne in their latest and best pastoral play—"Town Hall Tonight," which is claimed to be one of the funniest little vechiles ever seen in the varieties. Both entertainers are too well known hereabouts to need any introduction as their names are synonomous with the best of pastoral comedies. The surrounding show is a most notable one including Marshall P. Wilder, the clever humorist, well known on two continents; The Zancigs who give a most remarkable exhibition of thought transmission, being one of the most sensational acts seen in the varieties; Herbert's dogs, than whom there is none better trained, including a canine who loops the loop in true man fashion; Charles Sera, skilful and daring European equilibrist; Kelly and Violette, well known for their vocal accomplishments and stunning costumes; Smirl and Kessner, comedy acrobats; the tumbling of the man being one of the features; A. O. Duncan, vaudeville's best vintriloquil comedian; Norcross's Minstrels who will sing up-to-date ballads; A. Coleman mimotic comedian; Dolmar trio barrel jumpers and trick tumblers; Jack and Bertha Rich singers and dancers; Kit Karson, skilful sharpshooter on the slack wire, and the Valtos, Russian dancers and singers. The customary list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

The pleasure of a trip up along the celebrated "North Shore" route to Gloucester at this season of the year is delightful beyond the power of words. Week-day starting time is 10 o'clock, but on Sunday the boat leaves the north side of Central wharf at 10:15, weather permitting. The fine steel steamship Cape Ann daily and Sunday is taking excursionists who love the ocean, and who are glad to exchange the noise and turmoil of the city for the cool, inspiring sea breezes to be found in a voyage up the Massachusetts coast to rugged old Cape Ann. The Columbus orchestra is in attendance. tf

Real Estate.

Alvord Bros. have rented in the past week in Newtonville, the house No. 66 Harvard street, for G. G. West to Mrs. F. H. Carlisle of Winthrop, Mass. No. 22 Court street for Mrs. J. Coleman to C. M. Kipp of North Brookfield, Mass. At the Centre they have rented No. 128 Langley road for A. S. McPherson to A. S. Campbell of Richardson's store. No. 201 Summer street for Herbert Lane to Charles P. Lyford of Newton Centre.

Solomon A. Wood has sold to a buyer, for improvement, 11,900 square feet of land on Pine Ridge road, Waban, and Ernest S. May has sold a building lot, containing 17,640 square feet to a buyer, for improvement. The above sales were made by Frank A. Childs.

A lot of land on Upland street, Waban, has been conveyed to Ellen B. Oakes, by Edwin P. Seaver. It has an area of 10,426 feet and a valuation of $1000. The new owner will improve the property.

A horse was entered in a trotting race. When he was put on the track to be warmed up he seemed to move with great energy, and a number of inexperienced persons put up their money on him, but when the actual race came off a rawboned, yew necked animal that had no style about him passed the showy horse with great ease and on the home stretch distanced him.

"That horse," said an experienced race track man who had been wise enough to back the rawboned steed, "which lost out is like a good many people. He spends too much time and energy going up in the air instead of getting over the earth."—Missouri Valley Farmer.

Self Respect.

It is a mistake to associate pride or foppishness with self respect. The one rises from a judicious consideration of what we are, the other from an extravagant notion of what something extraneous has made us. The one is true, the other is false, and both cannot exist together. A man that respects himself cannot be proud, and a proud man does not respect himself.

Ability.

Father—You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Dick. You are now in your twenty-fifth year and you haven't earned a penny yet. At your age I had already married a woman with £10,000.—London World.

THE IMPROVED BETZ SYSTEM.

RHEUMATISM

Dry Superheated Air Baths with electrical vibratory massage and stimulation for Rheumatism is the only form of treatment for this disease which is uniformly successful in all cases. By means of dry hot air baths, massage and regulation of diet, we are able to break up and eliminate rheumatic and gouty deposits from the tissues. We claim to cure completely and permanently all cases where the bony structures have not been previously destroyed. This treatment is especially beneficial during the warm summer months and if you are now suffering, or have in the past suffered from symptoms of rheumatism you owe it to your future health and happiness to eradicate this poison from your system while the heat of the summer can assist in the eliminative process and before the variable weather of the winter months aggravate the disease and prohibits active treatment. Do not be deceived into thinking you are improving simply because you did not suffer as you did last winter. If the rheumatism poison was in your blood then, it is there now and all the symptoms will return with renewed vigor, unless you take advantage of this opportunity to restore the organs and functions to perfect health. Our system of treatment has been so successful that we feel warranted in being enthusiastic over its possibilities. We know that our former patients have been pleased one and all, and why not you?

TESTIMONIAL.

Eugene A. Osha,

Dear Sir:—

The quick and thorough action of the IMPROVED BETZ SYSTEM was a complete astonishment to me. I was suffering from a bad case of muscular rheumatism in both shoulders and arms. The best doctors could give me no relief from the suffering, and so I turned to the Betz System. The effect was simply marvellous. The relief was immediate, and the cure was complete with only four treatments. I cannot say too much for your system, but you can refer anyone to me.

Yours Respectfully,

MISS IDA A. VIENNEAU,

The H. C. LIBBEY ESTATE

36 Walnut Park, Newton.

Consisting of House, Land, Stable and Household Furniture on Monday, September 18th. 1905

At 4 P. M.

Sale of Furniture to begin at 1 P. M., and to continue until sold.

This handsome estate contains 13 rooms with all improvements. The stable contains 8 stalls, carriage room, etc. Together with 24,418 sq. ft. of land, large Shade Trees and Fruit Trees of all kinds, also Grape Arbor. Mr. Libbey paid $15,000 for this estate three years ago. It was taxed in 1904 for $13,700. As the owner is compelled to leave Newton, the property will be sold at a great sacrifice. The land alone, situated as it is, with a large frontage on Walnut Park, is worth $8000. We will consider an offer of $8500. If no higher offer can be obtained. At this price it will be an excellent investment for Real Estate Speculators; and for a gentleman's residence, if bought at this price, will be a Genuine Bargain. The stable cost $4000 alone.

Also Household Furniture, consisting of Parlor, Dining Room, Kitchen and Bedroom Furniture. Also one upright Haines Piano and one Square Piano. Terms $200 to be paid down at time and place of sale. Other terms at Sale. All Furniture must be removed by day following sale. For further particulars apply to JOHN T. BURNS, 383 Centre Street, Newton. Tel. 391-2.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Important Financial Matters Submitted by Mayor.

Many Trivial Hearings Occupy Time at the First Fall Meeting.

The first regular meeting of the board of aldermen following the summer vacation was held Monday evening.

President Saltonstall in the chair. Present, Aldermen Baker, Bishop, Bosson, Bowen, Cabot, Day, Dennison, Doherty, Ellis, Hunt, Palmer, Stone, Underwood, Weston, Webster and White.

Communications from Governor Douglas, being a precept for election on Nov. 7, of a Register of Probate and Insolvency for Middlesex County, vice, Samuel H. Folsom, removed; from the Railroad Commissioners certifying that order granting Boston and Worcester St. Railway Co. an additional track on Boylston street, Chestnut Hill; Order granting Newton Street Railway Co. locations across Commonwealth avenue and Auburn street to Riverside, and order granting Newton and Boston St. Rwy. Co. locations on Elliott and Boylston streets to tracks of Boston and Worcester St. Rwy. Co. were consistent with the public interests, were severally received and filed.

FROM THE MAYOR.

Submitting amendment to regulation of speed of automobiles on Commonwealth avenue, to require reduced speed at corners and intersecting streets. Referred to Committee on Rules, etc.

Recommending transfer of $1000 from appropriation for Maintenance of teams to Trimming and Removing trees, a transfer of $3000 from New Drains and Culverts to Maintenance of Drains and Culverts, and an advance from the treasury of $1861.30 for expense of Water Dept. Referred to Finance Committee.

Recommending issuance of three notes of $10,000 each, to cover balance of amount due the treasury on account of sewer notes. Referred to Committee on Finance.

Recommending that balance of appropriation for furnishing new Wade school be transferred to School Incidentals and to Wade School Construction account. Referred to Committee on Finance.

HEARINGS.

The following hearings were severally announced, and as no one appeared were declared closed.

On petition of Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company for cross over on Boylston street near Walnut street.

On petitions of Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company for pole location on Marlboro street (1) and on Reservoir avenue (12).

On petitions of the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. for attachments to poles of the N. and W. Gas. Light Co. on Dedham street (3,) Emerson street (3), Washington street (3), Wolcott street (1), Auburndale avenue (4), Washington street (3), Old Orchard road (1), Groveland street (2), Washington street (3,) Jackson street (2), Collins road (3), Bellevue and Claremont street (4).

On a similar petition for attachments on 3 poles on Newtonville avenue, Mr. L. L. Tower spoke briefly in opposition, saying that there were enough wires on the poles at the present time. Mr. Greene for the Company explained that they desired to reach a subscriber at 91 Newtonville avenue.

On the petition of the same company to attach to 4 poles of the city of Newton on Jewett street Mr. J. L. Caverly asked for explanations and stated he had no objection as long as no additional poles were to be erected. Mr. C. W. Keefe spoke in opposition saying that the present poles were dangerous, that a child had been killed by a falling pole on this street, and argued earnestly for underground construction. A letter from Patrick Kone protesting against any more poles was also read.

On the petitions of the New Eng. Tel. and Tel. Co for pole locations on Berwick road, Mr. Arthur H. Williams spoke in opposition, saying that where land sold from 25 to 60 cents a foot, it was too high class a neighborhood for the telegraph poles. Mr. Greene for the company stated that they desired to ensure Mr. Williams, a continuation of his present service, he being now supplied across private lands, and also to reach other subscribers in the neighborhood.

On the petition of the same company for 50 poles on Winchester street the City Engineer in answer to questions of Alderman White, stated that the street was 33 feet wide and that in all probability the poles would be set some distance away from the present travelled way.

No one appeared at the hearings on petitions of the same company for relocation of poles on Pearl street (1), Foster street (3), Walnut street (1), Winchester street (1,) Washington street and (1) Allerton road (1); a letter protesting against any additional poles being read from S. A. Hardwick on Allerton road.

No one appeared at the hearing on the altering and widening of Woodward street near Beacon street.

The appointment of election officers for 1905 was received from His Honor the Mayor and confirmed.

PETITIONS REFERRED

To the committee on Public Works, of Alton Babcock for sewer in Gibbs street; of J. F. Lothrop et al for sewer off Crafts street; of Sarah T. Coffin for sewer in Lee avenue; of Sturgis Coffin for sewer in Old England road; of W. H. Coffin for sewer in Reservoir avenue; of Alfred Farlow for sewer in Waban Hill road. The petition of F. W. Lee for sewer in Reservoir avenue was taken from the files and also referred to this committee.

To the committee on Public Franchises etc.: of John Connelly for wagon license; of Simon Orenstein for junk license; of Edward Katzman for junk license; of the Newton Street Railway Company for extension of time for completion of track location to Riverside, and of the Newton and Boston Street Railway Company for extension of time for completion of track connections on Elliot and Boylston streets.

Petitions of John F. Lothrop to move building from Lowell avenue to Crafts street, and of Jake Labovich for pool table on Auburn street were granted without reference.

Petition of George E. Crafts et al for additional police protection on the south side and for a night officer at station was referred to the Mayor.

Hearings were ordered for Sept. 18 at 7.45 P. M. on petitions of N. E. Tel. and Tel. Co. for attachments on Chestnut street and Newtonville avenue, and on petitions of N. and W. Gas Light Co. for pole locations on Commonwealth avenue and for conduits on Walnut and Homer streets.

RECESS.

From 8.20 to 9.03 for meeting of Finance Committee, and upon reassembling, a report from that committee, favorable to the various transfers of appropriations recommended by the Mayor, recommending issuance of three notes of $10,000 each on account of sewer purposes, and an advance of $1861.30 from the city treasury for Water Department purposes was received.

Reports of the Committee on Public Works, favorable to sewer construction in Reservoir avenue and to widening of Woodward street near Beacon street, were received.

ORDERS ADOPTED.

Transferring $145.94 from appropriation for furnishing Wade school to New Wade School account; transferring $1587.48 from appropriation for furnishing Wade School to School Incidentals; transferring $2000 from special appropriation for school furnishings to School Incidentals; transferring $1000 from appropriation for Maintenance City teams to Trimming and Removing Trees and granting same; transferring $3000 from appropriation for New Drains and Culverts to Maintenance of Drains and Culverts; authorizing advance of $1861.30 from city treasury to appropriations for water department; authorizing issue of three notes of $10,000 each, for one, two and three years on sewer account, and designating polling places for state and city elections.

The annual return of armory rent was signed by the aldermen present and acknowledgements taken by the City Clerk.

At 9.25 P. M. the board adjourned, permission being granted the Finance Committee to sit previous to the next meeting at 7.15 P. M.

Political Notes.

Among those noticed at the Middlesex Club banquet last Saturday at Pemberton, were Congressman John W. Weeks, Representative E. W. Warren, Judge J. C. Kennedy, Col. I. F. Kingsbury, Col. W. L. Sanborn, Col. J. G. White, Col. R. B. Edes, Major M. E. Cobb, W. M. Flanders, S. W. Jones, Dr. E. R. Utley, G. P. Bullard, T. W. Proctor, F. R. Moore, J. B. Jamieson, H. C. Daniels, M. C. Laffie, R. T. Laffie, and E. A. Brown.

The officers of the Ward Seven Republican Club and the Republican committee of that ward dined at Young's on Tuesday evening.

A recent number of Practical Politics had the following item which will be of interest to Congressman Weeks' friends in Newton:

A Solid Concern. One of the solid State street firms which has grown from a small beginning to a concern of great importance is Hornblower and Weeks, who occupy four of the largest offices on the Kilby street side of the Exchange building on the second floor. This firm was organized and began business in 1888, with Henry Hornblower and John W. Weeks as partners and one clerk, James J. Phelan. Today there are five partners, two of whom are members of the Boston Stock Exchange and one a member of the New York Stock Exchange. The New York office is at 120 Broadway and there is a branch office in New Haven. Eighty clerks are now employed. Mr. Henry Hornblower is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange and one of its governors. He is also a director in the First National Bank of Arlington. Mr. John W. Weeks is a member-elect of congress from the 12th district, vice-president of the First National Bank of Boston, president of the Newtonville Trust company, ex-captain of the Massachusetts Naval Brigade, graduate of Annapolis in 1881 and an ex-mayor of Newton. Mr. James J. Phelan is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange and vice-president of the Federal Trust company. Mr. James H. Wainwright is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and the resident New York partner. Mr. Edward L. Geary is the fifth member of the firm.

It pays the buyer to buy from an advertiser and to say he saw the article advertised in this or that paper. The man who mentions an advertisement when buying goods really gets the best possible service,—even better than the regular customer when this is possible. Why? Simply because the advertiser pays good money for his advertisement and he is glad to hear from it. It is a compliment to his good business judgment. tf

Golf

The first invitation tournament of the fall season was played at the Woodland Club last Saturday afternoon, with 51 players entered. The play was 18 hole handicap medal match and was won by C. L. Becker of the home club with the best net score of 73 and Percy Gilbert of Brae Burn Country Club with the best gross of 77.

At the Brae Burn Country Club last Saturday the postponed holiday cup was played after the Woodland invitation match had been finished, several players participating in both events and Percy Gilbert winning the best gross prize in both events. At Brae Burn his score was 84 while A. D. Locke won the best net with 76. Gilbert, Levi, Squire, Locke, Whittemore, Evans, Stiles, and Herrick qualified for the Founders cup and the club championship, and Noyes, Eddy, Carleton, Pierce, Sprague, Stiles, Whiting, Lovell and R. D. Pierce qualified for the consolation.

At Newton Highlands, Dr. F. E. Withee won the finals of the medal contest began the week previous with a net score of 75. N. P. Trickey won the postponed Labor Day tournament on the same Saturday afternoon with net of 70, H. S. Tripp making the best gross score with 81.

Hoosac Mountains, Deerfield Valley, Hudson River Excursion to New York, $5.00, Oct. 5 from Boston, and Oct. 4 from all other stations.

The Hoosac Mountains and the DeerField Valley form a combination of mountain grandeur and pastoral beauty of rural landscape, seldom seen.

It was Hawthorne who in a ride through this region perceived the variations of nature in her bestowal of beauty upon this favored country, and he expressed it forcibly when he observed that the peaceful scenery of the valley was diversified by the mountains in their offerings of sunshine and shadow, glory and gloom.

It is the Fitchburg Division of the Boston and Maine R. R. which has the honor of serving this scenic section; and it is safe saying that no railroad in the United States has such a magnificent border of landscape beauty as the railroad from the "Charles to the Hudson."

This is the route of the $5.00 excursion from Boston on October 5th, and from other stations on October 4th, and one has but to receive an inkling of what wonders are in store, and a "sure venture" that he will see for himself. After departure from the North Station, it is but a few minutes ere we are in Waltham, the city of watches, and watch out, for you are on the banks of the Charles and about to commence a railroad journey through New England's "Garden of Eden."

Bustling cities dropped midst the green hills of central Massachusetts; shimmering lakes whose shores are sheltered with large shade trees; silvery streams whose green banks and verdant border lands invitingly welcome us to tarry awhile and rest; roaring water falls, snowy cascades; sportive brooks, and huge hills and mountain peaks all pass in the Boston and Maine biograph. At Troy, N. Y., we bid good-bye to the delightful scenery as viewed from a car window. We cross the Hudson and alight from the train at Albany, N. Y. You can enjoy the moonlight view of the Hudson River on the night steamers or remain in Albany over night and take in the sights of the capital city. The day line trip down the Hudson on the palatial steamers is undoubtedly the grandest sail in the country. We pass in plain view of the gorgeous Catskill Mountains, under the famous Poughkeepsie Bridge, past West Point, Newburg, and the historical shrines of the Revolution, the palisades and all the scenic wonders of a wonderful region; through the maze of flying craft in New York harbor, and dock at the metropolis.

Two days in New York—you can do as you please. Returning, we journey via the Fall River Line steamers to Boston and other stations, and via the Providence Line to Providence and Worcester. $5.00 is the round trip rate. Send to the General Passenger Department, Boston and Maine R. R., Boston, for the beautiful illustrated booklet and souvenir of the trip. It describes the journey in detail, and is beautifully illustrated. It will be sent free to any one upon receipt of address.

The pleasure of a trip up along the celebrated "North Shore" route to Gloucester at this season of the year is delightful beyond the power of words. Week-day starting time is 10 o'clock, but on Sunday the boat leaves the north side of Central wharf at 10:15, weather permitting. The fine steel steamship Cape Ann daily and Sunday is taking excursionists who love the ocean, and who are glad to exchange the noise and turmoil of the city for the cool, inspiring sea breezes to be found in a voyage up the Massachusetts coast to rugged old Cape Ann. The Columbus orchestra is in attendance. tf

WORN OUT?
Are Your Strength and Energy Gone?
If you are discouraged and despondent and wish to die, it is not because everything is black before you. It is simply because your vitality is so low and you are so weak that you have not the courage to face a lifetime.
Eminent physicians have been attracted by similar cases and after making a careful and scientific study of their requirements have compounded a remedy called Vin-Tone, which builds up body and mind in a remarkably short time.
Vitality is what you need and vitality is what Vin-Tone gives.
We tell you of this preparation hoping it may find its way into every home where man, woman or child is suffering from lack of energy.
Vin-Tone can be procured at a very trivial expense and will build up your system as it has thousands of others

Portsmouth a World Beater.

BY LEVERETT BENTLEY.

Back to the woods with your summer resorts;
Back with your "pleasures complete;"
Back to the mines with your "Manifold charms,"
For
Portsmouth has got 'em all beat.

Back to his cage for "the only young man;"
Back with the "summer girl" sweet;
Back with all bids for the wealthy man's dough,
For
Portsmouth has got 'em all beat.

Back to the brine with those ea serpent tales,
Back with the gay yachting fleet;
Back with the mermaids that "sun" on the sand,
For
Portsmouth has got 'em all beat.

Back with your shows that throng all the beach,
Back your "ten cents a seat;"
Back with your theatres, tents and the like,
For
Portsmouth has got 'em all beat.

Back if don't want to see a great sight,
Back if you can't stand the heat;
Russians and Japs are pretty fly mugs,
But
Portsmouth will soon have 'em beat.

Letter to Henry W. Bates,
Newtonville.

Dear Sir: Have you found-out you can paint a job with fewer gallons Devoe than of anything else,lead-and-oil or anything else?

Mr. Floyd Almy, House and Sign Painter, Greenwich, N. Y., found it out three years ago; he writes: "I have used Devoe lead-and-zinc for the past three years and cannot say too much in its favor. I am using it now on a big job that I took by contract and it has saved me at least $25 in the cost of material.

Devoe is the strongest paint we know-of; goes furthest:takes less of it to do your job.

Lead-and-oil is pure; lead-and-zinc is stronger,covers more; goes further.

Have you found-out you can paint a gallon Devoe in less time than a gallon of anything else? That means less time for the job. Less time; less money.

Less paint: less money for that; less time, less money for that. Devoe lasts longer; do you mind the less money for that? You are surer of it.

Yours truly
F. W. Devoe & Co.

P. S.—W. E. Tomlinson, West Newton, sells our paint.

Something New.

The Mothers' Rest Association of Newton Centre are certainly entitled to the gold medal for originality of entertainment in the Automobile Trip around the World which they have planned for Saturday, October 7th. The affair is under the direction of the Globe and Newton Centre Transportation Company of which Mrs. J. H. Sanborn is president, and one may visit Germany, Russia, England, Japan and return by the new overland route at any time after 3 P. M. on the day advertised.

Russia will be found at the residence of Mrs. Arthur B. Badger on Chase street, where Russian tea will be served and old brasses and fine Russian embroideries are on sale. Japan, at the residence of Mrs. Joseph L. Colby on Centre street, has a generous display of Japanese goods, both useful and artistic. The residence of Mrs. George S. Smith on Grant avenue will represent Old England and is to be devoted to household goods of all kinds and at the residence of Mrs. Morton E.Cobb of Lake avenue. Germany,with its dolls,toys, and fish pond will interest both old and young.

Automobiles will leave the Newton Centre M. E. church at intervals of ten minutes after 3 o'clock and tourists can stop at any of the countries named, see the sights and purchase fancy and useful souvenirs of the trip.

A supper will be served in the dining room of the church between 6 and 7.30 P. M. and light refreshments at other hours of the afternoon and evening.

Fall Disinfecting

Is there anything more important to the health of the family than putting the home in a perfectly sanitary condition for the coming winter? Sanitary cleanliness by which the process of bacteritic life harmful to health is arrested and overcome—is occupying a very prominent place in the up-to-date housekeepers mind. A little Sulpho-Napthol, one of the strongest bactericides known to science, in every pail of water used for cleansing gives a condition of cleanliness and purity which is the highest point reached in home sanitation today. Sulpho-Napthol has revolutionized modern ideas of house cleaning.

At the Churches.

The 50th anniversary celebration of Grace church will begin Sept. 24th. There will be five public services—the morning and evening of the 24th, the morning of the 27th and the morning and evening of Oct. 1st. The preachers will be Bishop Lawrence and Bishop Vinton, Drs. Steerstra and Shinn and Mr. Smith.

It is expected that the stone Credence Table for the chancel of Grace church will be dedicated at 9.45 o'clock on the coming Sunday morning. It is the gift of nearly two hundred ladies in memory of Mrs. Shinn.

An effort is being made by the congregation of Grace church to buy the property on Eldredge street next to the church grounds, for a rectory. The offerings at the Anniversary are to be devoted to that purpose.

Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 9, 1905.

There are numerous indications that the railroads of the country are preparing to offer the private car lines now doing business on their lines as a sacrifice to the President's demand for railway rate legislation at the next session of Congress and if that is rejected as insufficient to defy the President and trust to the powerful influence of their lobby in Washington and to the votes of the members of Congress whom they own, body and soul, to prevent the enactment of any legislation which would not prove to their liking. While this impression was gained some time ago, both from talking with prominent railroad men in Washington and from the character of the testimony presented before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, but it has received strong confirmation from the tenor of the replies of the railroads to the questions addressed to them by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the subject of private refrigerator car lines.

Thus far four important railroads have signified in writing their determination to make further contracts with the private car companies and to conduct their own refrigerated freight system. These are the Michigan Central, the Pere Marquette, the Chicago Burlington and Quincy and the Illinois Central railways, all of whose lines have proved especially profitable fields to the rapacious private car companies. While these are the only lines which have thus signified their intention, there are numerous others which have given indications of a similar purpose and there ground for the belief that the campaign instituted by President Roosevelt will at least serve to relieve shippers from the extortion of the private car companies and to remove from the difficult railway equation this important factor in the creation and maintenance of trusts.

The private car lines, on the other hand have apparently, determined to defy the Interstate Commerce Commission and the national government. The Sante Fe Refrigerator Despatch Company has filed a reply to the question addressed to it by the Commission in which it asserts that it is not a common carrier and is not therefore amenable to the interstate commerce law, or to the jurisdiction of the Commission, that its rates and profits are its own private business and that it does not purpose to answer further the inquiries of the Commisson. The Armour Refrigerator Car Company, which, it was intimated by witnesses before the Senate committee was one of the most high handed monopolies as well as an important factor in the perpetuation of the Beef Trust has filed a similar reply and is even more defiant in its attitude than the afore named company.

The methods of the private car companies have already been referred to in these letters but in view of the renewed interest in the subject some further light on their practices may be of interest. A private car company will secure from a railroad a contract giving it the exclusive right to run refrigerator cars over the lines of that road. The railroads are obliged, under a decision of the Supreme Court affecting the use of Pullman sleeping cars, to pay the private car companies for the use of their cars. The railroads charges the shipper the regular freight rates and the private car company charges him for the use of its cars, for iceing, etc. In some, perhaps many instances the private car companies are owned by trusts or by the same men as compose trusts. Practically unrestricted as to the charges they compel the individual shipper to pay they can make their rates virtually prohibitive. Their rates may be made lower to the trust which owns them, or they may charge the trust an extortionate rate,but that is merely transferring money from one pocket to another as the owners of the trust and the car line are the same. The railroad charges the trust the same freight tariff as it charges other shippers, but the rate which the railroads pays the private car company for the use of its cars amounts, in effect, to rebate on the freight charges, and a rebate which, although illegal in spirit, cannot be reached under any existing law. The result as may be easily seen, is that a trust dealing in perishable goods and owning a private car line with exclusive rights on certain big railway lines may ruin any competitor who attempts to enter the same field and from this there is no recourse under the law. The good to be accomplished by the abolition of this condition of affairs would be inestimable of course, but equally, of course, it does not touch the railway rate evil which the President has urged Congress to remedy.

The President has given no indication of modifying his urgent demand that Congress enact legislation which shall remove the private shippers from the position he now occupies, at the entire mercy of the railroads. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt has given every indication that he will not be content with any half-way legislation but that he will put very clearly before Congress its "plain duty"in this connection. The result of such a course on the part of the President will, unquestionably, be a battle royal in the next Congress. The railways will try to becloud the issue by urging the necessity of tariff revision or readjustment while the protected industries will harp on the necessity of railway legislation and there is a possibility that all important remedial legislation will fall in the dust and din of conflict, although the indications seems to be that the President will attempt but one thing at a time and that he will devote his energies and influence to the accomplishment of railway rate legislation for the present, leaving the tariff to be attended to later. The President is still in Oyster Bay and one can only judge of his intentions by the indications, at present, but when he returns to Washington your correspondent expects to be able to speak with authority regarding Mr. Roosevelt's plans so far as he can advise and influence legislation in the coming session of Congress.

Mr. Shaw's Candidacy.

The withdrawal of Mr. Hubbard from the senatorial contest practically leaves a clear field to Mr. James F. Shaw of Manchester for the nomination. Mr. Hubbard undoubtedly made as good a fight as was possible under the circumstances; he showed that he was strong and popular in Gloucester, his three years of service in the house proved that he was a careful legislator. But Mr. Shaw has developed a wonderful campaign and proved that he is a great organizer and is a power in politics who must be reckoned with. The campaign which he has carried on has been characterized by brilliancy and dash.

He has gone down among the every day people and the voters have been attracted to him by his many manly qualities and by the evidences of great business ability. It has been above everything else a clean campaign. As the contest has come along in this city the claim of Manchester that after twenty years she was entitled to recognition has been conceded, and has overweighed the locality argument to a great extent, and the overwhelming sentiment of that town in favor of Mr Shaw marked him out as the man. It is conceded that Mr. Shaw will win the nomination,that he will be handsomely elected, and that as the senator from this district he will prove a legislator of the first order, by whom the interests of his constituents will be safely conserved. Ambitious to do well in the trust and confidence imposed upon him, his service in the senate will be but the stepping stone to higher honors which may await him in the future.—Gloucester Daily Times

Police Paragraphs.

In court Monday morning Judge Kennedy imposed fines of $10 each on Joseph Crowell and Francis E.Stanley for overspeeding. Both pleaded guilty. Mr. Stanley stated that it was impossible for any one to take out an automobile and not at some time exceed the legal rate of 10 miles an hour. He said that he never exceeded the limit where the public were endangered and had been exceedingly careful in his use of the machine. Judge Kennedy when imposing sentence stated that he should not expect the police to bring into court everyone who exceeded the legal rate of speed, and he thought the department had been very generous in not prosecuting automobilists.

As the basis upon which the new apportionment of senators and representatives will be made is the number of registered voters, it is doubly important this fall that the political committees add as many names as possible to the list in order to ensure us three representatives instead of two as at present. A glance at the prospects of such an apportionment cannot fail to be of interest. On the basis of the census figures just announced, each representative should be chosen from every 12,496 of population. Newton, with its 36,694 is just inside the number required for three men. Middlesex County, by the new figures is entitled to 48 representatives, with a large fraction remaining of population. The present number is 47. In 1895 when the last apportionment was made Newton with over 5600 voters was given two men, while other cities and towns in the county, were awarded one representative on figures ranging from 1800 to 2300. In comparison with Malden, for instance Newton with a population in 1895 of nearly 28,000 with 5600 voters, and paying a state tax of about $32,000 was given two representatives while Malden with but 29,000 population, 6500 voters, and paying a state tax of but $17,000 was given three representatives.

This year, Malden has about 2000 more population than Newton and pays a state tax of $39,000 to our $80,000, and every effort should be made by our political leaders to place this city on an equality with our sister city at the State House.

It isn't in every city of this commonwealth that the aldermen would confirm over two hundred election officers without knowing the names of the men so selected by the mayor.

Political Notes.

Lists of delegates to the various republican conventions were filed with the City Committee yesterday afternoon in the Masonic Building, Newtonville.

There was but one list filed in each ward, and it is stated that the state delegates are unanimous in favor of Draper for lieutenant governor and largely in favor of Champlin for attorney general, Sanderson being credited with five or six.

Representative James A. Lowell is again a candidate and ex-alderman John F. Lothrop will be unopposed for the office from which Representative Warren retires.

The list is as follows:

WARD 1 State, Edward Sawyer, O. M. Fisher; county, F. W. Stone, E. F. Barnes; senatorial, S. W. Holmes, D. F. Barber; councillor, W. H. Emerson, I. T. Fletcher.

WARD 2. State, C. F. Avery, C. S. Denson, F. L. Nagle, C. D. Cabot; senatorial, P. Carter, C. F. Cheney, E. P. Hatch, J. F. Lothrop; county, G. F. Williams, F. E. French, E. L. Avery, E. C. Wilcox; councillor, E. K. Hall, J. M. Stickney, H. F. Ross, H. H. Carter.

WARD 4. State, E. L. Pickard, A. C. Farley, F. Johnson; county, J. F. Ryder, H. M. Bunker, H. P. Converse; senatorial, W. A. Knowlton, G. M. Fiske, G. D. Harvey; councillor, P. C. Baker, W. F. Haddock, G. H. Bourne.

Ward 5. State, E. W. Warren, S. W. Jones, T. W. White, L. H. Bacon; senatorial, P. E. Withee, T. J. Sullivan, A. S. Hutchinson, S. R. Moulton; county, A. R. Logan, W. B. McMullin, C. W. Mercer, H. S. Bosson; councillor, F. R. Moore, W. C. Strong, H. E. Morse.

Ward 6. State, D. Chester, E. T. Colburn, J. G. White, B. P. Gray; county, W. A. Donavan, E. A. Brown, I. C. Paul, G. W. Pratt; senatorial, W. M. Flanders, J. D. Colt, C. E. Kelsey, F. B. Bishop; councillor, E. T. Colburn, A. O. Swaln, G. F. Richardson, G. W. Pratt.

WARD 7. State, S. L. Powers, A. R. Weed, W. F. Dana; senatorial, M. Bunker, A. Scott, A. W. Blakemore; county, M. Wing, J. C. Brimblecom; councillor, H. W. Jarvis, B. S. Rich, V. B. Swett.

For representatives, James A. Lowell, John F. Lothrop.

A Suicide.

Burpee O. Jodrey shot himself in the right temple about eleven o'clock on Monday morning at his boarding place, Washington terrace, Newtonville, and died about two hours later at the Newton Hospital.

He was thirty years of age and a native of Gaspereau, Kings County, Nova Scotia, and had been employed by H. F. Ross as a carpenter.

No cause is assigned for the shooting although his landlady, Mrs. John Baird, says he has suffered from severe headaches of late.

Newcomb – Ward.

Miss Susie Hiltz Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ward of Oakland street became the bride of Mr. Frederick Newcomb, Tuesday evening, the ceremony taking place at 8.30 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. A. Parkhurst, 241 Church street.

Rev. Frank B. Matthews of Immanuel Baptist church performed the ceremony and the best man was Mr. John C. Ward, brother of the bride.

The bride was gowned in white landsdowne, trimmed with old lace and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

She was attended by Miss Gladys Wood as maid of honor dressed in pink silk, trimmed with Valcennes lace and carrying pink carnations. Miss Eva Sanborn, cousin of the groom, played the wedding march.

A largely attended reception followed until 10.30, when the bridal couple and invited guests sat down to a wedding supper.

The house was tastily decorated with flowers, potted plants and streamers of ribbons and the bridal couple received their friends under a floral bell.

The groom is connected with the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company of Newton Upper Falls and the bride is a popular member of the younger set of the Immanuel Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb will reside at 33 Irving street, Newton Centre.

This is the only time in the year when the opportunity is given to ride through the Hoosac Mountains and Deerfield Valley to Albany, N. Y., sail down the Hudson River to New York City, stop in the Metropolis and return to Boston via the Fall River Line Steamers, all for $5.00. Send to the Boston and Maine Railroad, General Passenger Department, Boston, your address and we will mail you a beautiful illustrated booklet describing the trip in detail.

Inman – Doane.

A pretty home wedding took place Monday evening at the residence of Mr. Frederick A. Inman, 75 Auburn street, West Newton, when Miss Nellie Mae Doane of Waltham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Doane became the bride of Mr. Harry Bigelow Inman. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Edwin F. Snell of the West Newton Baptist church and was followed by a reception until 10 o'clock.

The house was decorated with huge masses of yellow flowers with a background of ferns and golden rod, the dining room having white carnations and ferns in charming contrast.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. James Doane the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother, Mr. James Doane of Newton Highlands by whom she was given away. She was gowned in white silk draped with lace and wore a tulle veil with white roses. Her boquet was of bride's roses. Miss Jessie McCann of Worcester, the maid of honor, was dressed in simple white silk and carried pale yellow roses tied with yellow silk.

Dr. Bradbury Holbrook of West Newton was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. George S. Inman of Boston, Joseph B. Robinson of Dorchester, Frank A. Inman of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Dr. Robert A. Whitford of Waltham.

The bride's sisters, the Misses E. Mabel and Cora L. Doane in pretty frocks of silk muslin served in the dining room with the assistance of the Misses Gladys and Beatrice Hamilton.

Later in the evening, the bridal couple, the bride wearing a going away gown of checkered veiling over silk in pastel shade with hat to match were well showered with rice and confetti as they started on a wedding journey. After October first Mr. and Mrs. Inman will be at home at 75 Auburn street, West Newton.

Ladd-Hunter

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hunter on Putnam street, Tuesday evening, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Willington Hunter to Mr. Arthur Shirley Ladd of Haverhill. The ceremony, which was attended by the relatives and a few friends took place in the drawing room at 6.30, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Dr. Henry J. Patrick, pastor emeritus of the Second Congregational church and Rev. Dr. Theodore P. Prudden, the pastor. The bridal couple were unattended and the ushers were Dr. Preston of Haverhill and Messrs. Frank Babcock of Haverhill, J. Dwight Howard of Newton and George P. Hatch of West Newton. The decorations in the various rooms were most attractive, consisting of autumn foliage and field flowers, red being the prevailing color. A reception followed from 7 to 8 which was attended by many neighbors and friends from the Newtons and surrounding towns. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hunter of West Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel P. Ladd of Haverhill. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Ladd will reside at 60 Highland avenue, Haverhill, Mr. Ladd being in the insurance business in that city.

CITY OF NEWTON.

Sale of Unredeemed Real Estate by the City of Newton.

Collector's Office,
NEWTON, September 1, 1905.

In conformity with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the public and all persons interested as former owners and occupants of each of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth aforesaid, are hereby notified that said parcels have been conveyed according to law to said City of Newton for non-payment of taxes and assessments and the time within which each of the estates might be redeemed by the owners thereof having expired, each of said parcels will be offered for sale in accordance with section 67 of Chapter 13 of Revised Laws by public auction at the City Hall in said Newton, on Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1905,

At 3 o'clock p. m.

and to the highest bidder for each of the several parcels a quitclaim deed will be delivered. For further particulars reference is made to the Registry of Deeds for the Southern District of the County of Middlesex, the volume and folio numbers following the description of each parcel, indicating the record of the deed under which the said City of Newton now holds title to the estate described.

The sums set against the several estates show the amount due thereon respectively for the taxes and assessments for the non-payment of which said estate was sold to the said Newton, together with the subsequent taxes and assessments, interest on the same, and all lawful costs and charges. And none of the said estates will be sold for less than the amount set against said estates, respectively.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Keith's Theatre—Owing to the big hit scored by Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne during the last week, at Keith's the management have been prevailed upon to hold them over for the week of Sept. 18. Mr. Cressy and Miss Dayne are most popular hereabouts and there is no question of doubt but that many patrons will be glad of the opportunity to see these clever people again. The surrounding show contains a host of new material, never before seen in this city together with three European acts, including George Munroe, "My Aunt Bridget," a clever impersonator of Irish women and one of the most unctious entertainers in the varieties; the Ellis Nowlin trio of comedy acrobats; Laura Burt, late leading woman with Sir Henry Irving, in monologue and song; Mon. Chassino, the wonderful European hand and foot shadowgrapher; the Italian trio, pleasing vocalists in high class songs; Max Walton, the foremost European female impersonator; Martin Brothers, clever xylophone players; the National trio, ring performers and gymnasts; John Zimmer, a skilful juggler of small articles; Phil Rado and Jessie Bertman, in the funny comedy sketch, "The New Girl," and other notable entertainers. The Kinetograph will exhibit the usual new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures. Underlined for the week of Sept. 25, is Lasky's military musicians, one of the most novel acts of the kind ever seen in the varieties.

Grand Opera House—The offering at the Boston Grand Opera House next week will be Robert Fitzsimmons the noted pugilist actor in Hal Reid's best comedy "A Fight for Love." The play is in four acts and described as being one of the most consistent that Mr. Reid has ever written. The production met with great success last season and during the summer months has been rewritten and greatly improved. Mr. Fitzsimmons is seen in a role of a retired country gentleman and it is said that Bob has developed into an actor of considerable merit. The play gives him ample scope to display his talents. In act one he shoes a horse, act two gives a scientific exhibition of bag punching and in act four spars three rounds with the villian of the play who is reported to be an exceedingly clever boxer.

Castle Square Theatre—For the third week of the season, beginning next Monday, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is announced. This play which is a dramatic version of Thomas Hardy's famous novel made by Lorimer Stoddard, a son of the poet Richard Henry Stodddard, was made famous by Mrs. Fiske's interpretation of the unfortunate heroine some years ago. It will now be brought out at the Castle Square for the first time in Boston as a stock company production, and it will moreover serve to introduce Miss Mary Lawton as a member of the company at that house. In "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" John Craig will play Angel Clare, the part he originally played in support of Mrs. Fiske, and the character of Marion will be assumed by Miss Florence Kahn. Mr. John Waldron and Mr. William McVay will also have important roles.

POSTPONED CARNIVAL.

In a monster pavilion, one of the largest ever erected in New England, the members of St. John's parish, Newton Lower Falls, and their friends to the number of nearly 3000, last Saturday enjoyed the annual field day and picnic postponed from Labor Day.

All the features announced for Labor Day were retained with several others added. The grounds covered nearly four acres, crowded with every amusement attraction that anybody could desire.

There was a spacious dining hall, dancing hall, information bureau, fancy work booths, candy booths, and refreshment booths, presided over by the young women of the parish.

One of the athletic features was the tug-of-war contests. In addition there were hurdle races, potato races, wheelbarrow races, jump-rope races and a host of other sports.

Not until long after 11 were the attractions ended. The field day was one of the most successful held under the auspices of the parish for many years, and a neat sum was netted. Much of the credit for the success of the event is due to Rev. Fr. P. H. Callanan, who for the last 14 years has personally superintended the arrangements, which has come to be an annual affair.

The prize in the shooting gallery was won by Wm. Butler of Newton with a score of 7 consecutive bullseyes out of 9 shots or 106 points out of a possible 108. Mark Conners of Wellesley Hills won the silver spoon holder for the best record on the striking machine, 50 consecutive bells.

Owing to the fact that the men entered for the greased pig race were working men and could not attend during the day the race did not take place.

Prizes were given in the greased pole climbing, the nail driving, the pitchett, the hook ring, the magic rings, the pail game, and many amateur games for boys and girls.

The tug-of-war contests were badly interfered with owing to the postponement. Entries from Lawrence, Salem, Somerville, Cambridge, and Boston did not appear on the grounds as the contestants were obliged to work on Saturday and could not attend. Six teams reported and some excellent contests took place.

The Spring Team of Lower Falls and the Lawless Team of Wellesley Hills were the first contestants and the Spring Team won the prize, beating their opponent by 2 inches. The second contest was between Div. 25, A. O. H. of Lower Falls and the Wellesley Avenue Team of Wellesley. The Wellesley Avenue Team won by six inches. The last contest was a remarkable exhibition of science and strength. The Coffee Team of South Boston, the champion team of the United States, was pitted against the best team of Newton and Wellesley. As a special inducement to the All Newton Team they were allowed an extra man on the rope but notwithstanding this great advantage the Coffee Team won by ⅛ of an inch. The Coffee Tem has a standing challenge out to pull any team in the U. S. and only recently they won a contest with a team of the Irish Athletic Association of Greater New York for a purse of $500, and the championship of the United States. The "Pulls" lasted only two minutes each and were ten men contests. Next year Fr. Callanan proposes to make these contests the leading feature of the Labor Day Carnival and to that end work on the entries will begin fully four months in advance of Labor Day. An elegant souvenir booklet gotten up in the best form of the printers' art was distributed free to the patrons of the carnival. Three of the best African Dodgers in the business kept the crowd busy and the Aunt Sally and other games offered opportunities to the ladies to try their skill.

The dancing pavilion was well patronized during the day and evening as were the many refreshment booths about the grounds. The electric display at night was a very beautiful sight and every part of the four acres of ground was brilliantly illuminated by the 500 lights judiciously distributed about the campus. The wall pavilion which enclosed the entire four acre field was the largest ever erected in New England. In fact the entire equipment is most complete and the canvass pavilions alone represent a very large outlay.

Brilliant Lawn Fete.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 21st, an enjoyable Lawn Fete, supplementary to the carnival and picnic will be held under the auspices of St. John's parish, on the carnival grounds, at Newton Lower Falls. No admission fee will be charged. The splendid dancing and dining pavilions will be left standing until the 21st inst. for this Fete. The Aunt Sally, Dart Gun Gallery, Fancy Table and other features will also be in operation.

Father Callanan promises good music, a select party and an enjoyable time to all who attend, both from Lower Falls and the other neighboring towns. Light refreshments will be served and the grounds will be brilliantly illuminated. All the features will be held within and under canvass pavilions, insuring protection and comfort for all.

How British Cities Manage Public Utilities

Glasgow Was the First City to Challenge the Supremacy of the Telephone Trust—A Glance at Edinburgh

By FREDERICK UPHAM ADAMS

[Copyright, 1904, by Frederick Upham Adams.]

XI.

GLASGOW'S experience with telephones should be of interest to those citizens of this country who are complaining of extortionate rates for inferior service. As usual, the Scotch metropolis was the first city in the kingdom to challenge the supremacy of the telephone trust, which in Great Britain goes by the name of the National Telephone company.

The fight for a municipal franchise was a complicated and interesting one. In 1911 the imperial government through its postoffice department proposes to take over the control of the telephone system of the United Kingdom. At that time the National Telephone company will be compelled to surrender its property at its actual market value without a penny additional for good will or franchises. The municipalities expect to arrive at some agreement with the general government by which they will be left in partial control of their plants and to share in its profits. Be this as it may, the last privately owned telephone will disappear in about six years from this date.

It is more than ten years ago since Glasgow proclaimed revolt against the high charges and bad service of the private telephone company. A committee of the city council reported in favor of establishing a municipal plant, and, without going into details, it may be stated that on March 1, 1900, Glasgow obtained the first license ever granted to a city for the purpose of constructing and operating a telephone system.

The work of construction was begun in July, 1900, and up to the present time Glasgow has expended $1,350,000 on its telephone plant. While the city contains only twenty square miles of territory, the telephone wires reach out over nearly ten times that large a district.

Under the old telephone company no effort was made to reach the suburban area. The private company catered only to the congested district and imagined that it would lose money if it improved the service, extended the scope or lowered the rates. Under its management the average annual cost of a telephone was $60 or more. It took from one to ten minutes to make a connection.

The Glasgow telephone service is the best I have ever inspected. I was informed that statistics showed that the average time required to make a connection was less than fifteen seconds. I made a test on my own account and called up ten subscribers. Of the nine who responded the average time from unhooking the receiver to answers from those addressed was fourteen seconds. It should be explained that the telephone booth is practically unknown in the office of a Glasgow business man. The instrument is on the edge of his desk, and the receiver and transmitter are in one piece.

The rate to a subscriber for a service with an unlimited number of calls over the entire system is $25.50 a year. There is no installation charge and no dues of any kind other than the annual payment of this amount. A toll service is rendered for $17 a year, with an additional charge of a penny for each outward message, with unlimited inward calls free. On a party line with more than four subscribers the rate is $6 per annum, with an unlimited number of calls.

There are 11,000 subscribers to the municipal telephone system of Glasgow. The private company predicted that the insanity of the management in reducing rates and giving decent service would result in financial ruin, but the investment showed a profit of $100,000 a year.

The cleansing department of Glasgow is an interesting institution. It owns thousands of acres of farm lands where once were nothing but bogs and marshes. To these farms are conveyed the refuse products of the streets. On them are stone quarries and brickyards owned and operated by the city. There are also great factories. Connecting the factories and the farms is a system of steam railway, the city owning more than 700 railway cars and a large number of locomotives.

In 1892 Glasgow purchased the small private electrical plant for about $75,000. From this modest beginning it has developed a comprehensive system modern in every particular. It now represents an investment exceeding $5,000,000, and the profits last year amounted to $340,000. This does not include $30,000 paid for taxes. As has been stated before, all public enterprises in Great Britain pay taxes and are thus on the same footing for purposes of comparison as private industries. Even a fire department pays taxes on every dollar of its assets. After marking off $185,000 for depreciation—a most liberal allowance for a new plant—the department placed the balance to its credit.

Glasgow purchased the private gas plants in 1869 and has made profit on the investment every year since then. This great industry now has a capital account exceeding $10,000,000, and the gross profits last year passed the $1,000,000 mark for the first time in the history of the enterprise. When the original purchase was made it was arranged that the owners should receive in perpetuity annuities and stock valued at more than $2,000,000. The city has now adopted the policy of purchasing at a premium these annuities and last year wiped out more than one-third of the amount. Under private management gas cost consumers from $1.25 to $1.50 a thousand feet, but this has been steadily reduced until the rates now stand at 48 cents for motive power and 54 cents for lighting. When the plant is fully paid for, which will not be many years at the present rate of profits, the citizens of Glasgow will pay not more than 30 cents for gas, though it costs much more for oil and coal in Scotland than in any part of the United States.

It is nearly forty years since Glasgow startled Great Britain by declaring war on the slums and tenements which disgraced the city. The property owners refused to remedy conditions and the city took radical steps. It pushed through parliament a bill giving it power to condemn and purchase insanitary property. Armed with this act, the city authorities of Glasgow wiped out whole districts of insanitary property, and the city started by constructing several model tenement houses.

Glasgow now owns millions and millions of dollars' worth of dwellings and is one of the world's greatest landlords. Its competition with private landlords is friendly, but wonderfully effective. The city fixes a rate of rents beyond which others cannot go. It rigidly enforces building and sanitary laws which have greatly reduced the death rate.

Glasgow has municipalized all the common services with the exception of cemeteries. It is the owner of profitable markets and slaughter houses; it maintains a splendid system of baths and washhouses; it possesses a magnificent art gallery and has built a "people's palace" which combines a winter garden, art gallery, museum, reading rooms, theater and concert hall; it furnishes hydraulic power at cost; it spends vast amounts on parks, music and entertainments. These and other functions are financed and managed by the elected representatives of the city.

Party lines are absolutely ignored when it comes to the election of members of the city council. The man who has served his people faithfully seldom is opposed when election day arrives.

The city hall of Glasgow does not remind the visitor of any civic structure in the United States. No swarms of loafers, waid heelers and office brokers or seekers hang about its entrance or lounge in its halls. You are not permitted to smoke or carry a lighted cigar. One sees business men, architects, engineers, bankers and others who have occasion to visit the various departments. The atmosphere is that of a well regulated bank or great mercantile establishment. It is the business office of a municipal estate worth more than $90,000,000.

There is no army of parasites drawing salaries for work which is not performed. There is no line of citizens ready to commit perjury in order that they may escape their fair share of the burdens of taxation. There are no go betweens employed by dishonest wealth to extort by bribery favors from those who have taken an oath to faithfully serve their city and community. Aldermen meet in public to devise ways and means which shall promote the public good. There are no ward leaders. There is no gang. There is no pull. There is no graft. The men at the head of affairs would no sooner think of robbing their city than they would of stealing from their church or their club.

Just a glance at Edinburgh, the most beautiful city in Great Britain. Edinburgh owns its street railways, but instead of operating them has leased them for a term of twenty-one years to a company which pays a rental of 7 per cent on the capital outlay of $6,500,000. After paying interest, sinking fund and other expenses the city had a clear revenue of about $27,500. This does not compare favorably with the record of cities which operate their plants, and there is much dissatisfaction.

Edinburgh owns a fine system of baths. Its electric light plant paid last year a net profit of $300,000. In the construction of houses for the working classes Edinburgh has spent nearly $1,000,000, and, while maintaining low rent rates, there is a steady annual profit to the city. The technical and public schools of Edinburgh are famous. Like most Scotch cities, it owns its markets and slaughtering houses and has adopted modern methods for the disposal of sewage and street sweepings.

TIGER HUNTING.

Luring the Fierce Animals by Imitating a Monkey.

To call a tiger the proceeding was as follows: The mikir, having first ascertained that a tiger was in the neighborhood, would climb into a well branched, leafy tree situated near where he supposed the tiger to be, and after hiding himself among the branches as best he could would commence to imitate the chattering of a monkey and break and drop twigs in the way that monkeys do.

Then he would let fall to the ground a bundle of rags weighted so that the thud when it struck the ground would sound as if a baby monkey had tumbled down from the tree, and at the same time would imitate the supposed baby monkey cries. This would be the supreme moment, for if a tiger were near it would often spring out in the hope of snapping up such a dainty morsel as a young monkey, and then a bullet from the gun of the hidden mikir might find its billet in the tiger's body. By this means the mikir was said to have killed a considerable number of tigers, and certainly the man's power of mimicry was wonderfully good.

The call for deer was of an entirely different nature, the sound imitated being the cry of a fawn, and as this cry sometimes attracted tigers, too, it had to be adopted with caution, because it was used only in open grass land, from which the caller would not have had much chance to escape were a tiger suddenly to put in an appearance.—London Field.

THE MAD DOG FALLACY.

With Some Suggestions on How to Treat a Bite.

In all my own experience with dogs I have not only never seen a "mad dog," but have never known a dog owner—and by that I mean a man who has had experience in keeping dogs—who has seen one. If, then, rabies is so exceedingly scarce, hydrophobia becomes really an impossibility, and the fear of it should be dismissed without a thought.

A person may get dog bitten; but, in the language of the New York tough, "Forget it." If it is a bad bite it may twitch later on, and you may begin worrying, so it is a good plan to get rid of the twitching or throbbing in order to forget. I have been bitten so often that I think no more of it than a mosquito bite, and this is what I do:

If it is on the hand I put it under the faucet and wash thoroughly, with the object of cleaning the wound and preventing inflammation from any dirt or foreign substance. While doing this some one is getting the bicarbonate of soda and some clean rags or lint. With wfter a cream paste of the soda is made sufficient to plaster the wound well; then, putting some on a rag, it is applied to the wound and bound up. If in the course of an hour or more the application seems to be drying, a little water is poured on the bandage to soak through to the soda or the hand dipped in water.—James Watson in Country Life In America.

Fairy Rings.

Probably we have all seen in the fields or on the edge of the woods that circle called the fairy ring. Before fairy folk came to be doubted it was firmly believed these rings were the dancing ground of the fairies. In the moonlight the spirits danced, wearing down the grass under their feet. At least so our grandfathers said, but we must take science's simple explanation of it. A fungous plant will soon exhaust all the fungous food from the soil beneath it, so that only the spores which fall outside this barren spot will take root and flourish. So the ring is always widening outward, forming a perfect circle unless something interferes with it. The rings are abundant in wet weather, of a buff color or reddish.—St. Nicholas.

Evidence.

A green subaltern who was smoking while on duty was reminded by a sentry who had seen many years' service that it was against the regulations to smoke near his post, and he advised the subaltern to throw his cigar away. He did so and went on his rounds. The soldier then picked up the cigar and was enjoying it quietly when the subaltern returned.

"Why, how is this?" he asked. "I thought no smoking was allowed near your post?"

"That's true," replied the sentry. "I'm merely keeping this alight for evidence against you in the morning."—Harper's Weekly.

Trout Warnings.

In discussing whether or not trout hear a correspondent of the Amateur Sportsman asserts that they do not. In his opinion their sensitiveness to approaching danger is due solely to the vibration of the earth along the stream and the consequent vibration of the water. Thus persons standing perfectly still are able to talk and laugh with impunity, when the slightest bodily movement of either will frighten the shy fish.

The Real Victims.

"Was anybody punished for Grafton's misdeeds?"

"Yes."

"I understood he was acquitted."

"He was, but the business men on the jury lost money and missed their meals."—Washington Star.

A Model Husband.

"Does your husband ever make you a promise and then break it?"

"Oh, yes. But Jack is so good! He is always more than willing to make me a new one."

Sorrow is a school of virtue. It corrects levity and interrupts the confidence of sinning.—Atterbury.

—At the home of her brother, Mr. Henry R. Brigham on Shepard street, Cambridge, last Sunday, funeral services were held over the remains of Miss Pauline W. Brigham of Lawrence road who was drowned at Squam Lake, Meredith, N. H. The service was conducted according, to the Episcopal Church form, by the Rev. David C. Garrett of the Church of the Redeemer at Chestnut Hill, and the Rev. U. S. Shearman of Jamaica Plain. The Temple quartette sang "Peace, Perfect Peace," "Sun of My Soul," and "Abide with Me." The burial was private in Forest Hills Cemetery.

Ward's Fire Sale

Our readers have an exceptional opportunity this week to purchase some exceptional bargains at the great Fire Sale now going on at Samuel Ward Comany's, 57-63 Franklin street, Boston. Large quantities of slightly damaged stock consisting of office furniture, loose leaf specialties, blank books, box files, ink, pens, pencils, inkstands, waste baskets, duplicating apparatus, desk supplies, leather and brass goods, fountain pens, playing cards, whist sets, paper and envelopes, photo and postal card novelties have been placed on the counters, marked from 20 to 90 per cent below regular prices.

The quality of Ward's goods is so well known as to need little comment and the exceptional prices which have been placed on them for this sale, make them a bargain well worth investigating. Prompt attention should also be given this sale as these prices are intended to move the goods quickly and make room for new stock.

—The new Memorial Credence Table which was to be dedicated in the chancel of Grace church last Sunday did not reach Newton in time. It is expected that the Table will be erected before next Sunday and that its dedication will take place at 9.45 a. m.

—The many friends here of Miss Mary B. Hill of Bellevue street will be pained to learn of her serious illness. She was removed from Redlands, Cal., to Pasadena and later to Colorado Springs. Her parents, Prof. and Mrs. Junius B. Hill are with her.

—Mrs. William H. Davis and her son, Mr. Robert M. Davis, have been guests the past week of Mrs. C. B. Prescott of Centre street. Mr. Davis, who has just returned from a several months' sojourn in Chicago will spend the coming year at Hanover, where he will be an instructor at Dartmouth College.

Change of Time.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Newton and Boston Street Railway Company relative to a change in service on its line now running from Needham to Watertown. This line will, on and after October 1st, be discontinued and there will be substituted therefor a line running once every thirty minutes between Needham and the Lake St. terminal of the Commonwealth Avenue line, at which point connection will be made for Boston and Brookline by three different routes.

This line will give what has long been desired by people residing in Newton Highlands, Newton Upper Falls, Highlandville and Needham, in the way of a direct line and a connection with the Boston Elevated Railway Company at Lake St. It will make the run from Needham to Park St. subway in slightly over an hour, and the fare from Needham to Park Street will be ten cents.

It will be seen that this line will accommodate a large number of people in the South side of Newton, who now have no direct and convenient means of reaching Boston by electric cars, and will make it unnecessary for people to transfer to reach a line connecting with the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

Transfer will be made at Lake Street, which is the most convenient transfer point in the suburbs of Boston, as the transfer is made under cover, and there is a convenient waiting room, and it is unnecessary to go into the street at all.

This line should not fail to develop a considerable traffic between the south side of Newton and Boston, via Lake Street.

On the return trip passengers are reminded that if they take cars from the Subway in Boston about thirty-five minutes before the leaving time at Lake Street for Needham, they will be sure to make connections. Either the line marked "Newton Boulevard, via Beacon St. and Reservoir Station," or that marked "Auburndale, via Brighton and Commonwealth Avenues," will connect directly with these cars.

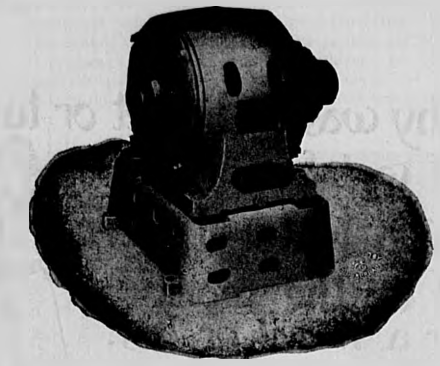

A third line to be changed will be that between Newton Upper Falls and Stowe Street, which will run instead of to Stowe St., from Newton Upper Falls to Watertown on the regular main line of the Newton and Boston Company's system. It is believed that all of the above changes are in the interest of the travelling public, and will serve to accommodate many people who are obliged at the present time to transfer, or make other arrangements for reaching their destination.

Notice is also called to the change in service between Nonantum Square and Waltham, and the additional cars put on between Nonantum Sq. and that part of Waltham adjacent to High, Prospect and Upper Main Sts. The cars will operate leaving Nonantum Sq. every thirty minutes for Stowe Street by way of Washington, Walnut, Crafts, Waltham, High, Maple, Woody, Prospect, Main and Weston streets to Stowe street. This will be the quickest and shortest route between Nonantum Sq. and the territory served by this line.

Co. on Boylston street near Walnut street; recommending granting Newton Street Railway Co. extension of 90 days to complete track location to Riverside; recommending granting Newton & Boston St. Rwy. Co. extension of one year to complete track connections on Boylston and Elliot streets.

From committee on Public Works: Recommending taking land for sewer in Lee avenue; recommending taking land for sewer between Lincoln street and Meredith avenue; recommending taking land for sewer in Ashmont avenue; recommending laying out, etc., of Oakwood road; recommending laying out, etc., of Woodside road; recommending laying out, etc., of Foster street, and recommending change of name of portion of Edinboro street to Page road.

From committee on Finance; Recommending grant of $19,305.42 for city expenses to Oct. 15; approving recommendations for sewers in Lee avenue, Ashmont avenue, Reservoir avenue and between Lincoln road and Meredith avenue; recommending transfer of $18.28 from treasury department office expenses to interest on city loans permanent; and submitting report of Amos D. Albee, public accountant on examination of books of late city treasurer. The latter report was ordered printed and placed on file.

These reports were accepted: From the committee on Public Franchises, etc., recommending leave to withdraw on petitions of N. & W. Gas Light Co. for pole locations on Needham, Oak and Fuller streets; recommending leave to withdraw on petitions of N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. for pole locations on Berwick road; recommending granting sixth class liquor licenses to Albert F. Wright, Bernard Billings and Samuel W. Moore; recommending revocation of junk license held by Abram Shrier, and recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Edward Katzman for a junk license.

A recess was taken from 8.12 to 8.41 o'clock for meeting of committee on Public Franchises, etc., and upon re-assembling, reports from that committee were received as follows: Recommending granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole locations on Grafton, Ward, Hammond and Cedar streets, and attachments to poles on Cedar street, Chestnut street and Newtonville avenue; recommending granting N. & W. Gas Light Co. conduit locations in Walnut and Homer streets, and recommending granting extension until Nov. 26, for completion of track location on Boylston street by Boston & Worcester St. Ry. company.

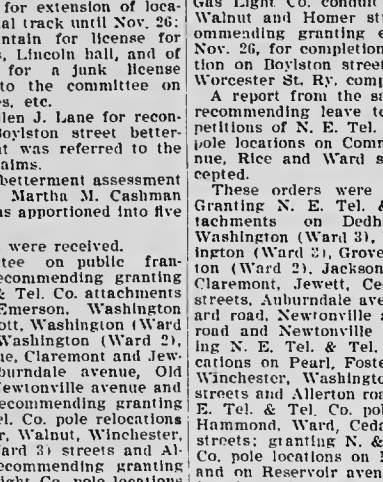

A report from the same committee recommending leave to withdraw on petitions of N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. for pole locations on Commonwealth avenue, Rice and Ward streets was accepted.

These orders were then adopted: Granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. attachments on Dedham, Emerson, Washington (Ward 3), Wolcott, Washington (Ward 3), Groveland, Washington (Ward 2), Jackson, Bellevue and Claremont, Jewett, Cedar, Chestnut streets, Auburndale avenue, Old Orchard road, Newtonville avenue, Collins road and Newtonville avenue; granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole re-locations on Pearl, Foster and Walnut, Winchester, Washington (Ward 3) streets and Allerton road; granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole locations on Hammond, Ward, Cedar and Grafton streets; granting N. & W. Gas Light Co. pole locations on Marlboro street and on Reservoir avenue and conduit locations in Walnut and Homer streets; granting Newton Street Railway Co. extension of 90 days to complete track location to Riverside; granting Newton & Boston St. Ry. Co. extension of one year to complete track connections on Boylston and Elliot streets; granting Boston & Worcester St. Ry. Co. extension until Nov. 26 to complete additional track on Boylston street; assigning hearings on Oct. 2, on taking land for sewer in Lee avenue, in Ashmont avenue, in private land between Lincoln street and Meredith avenue, on laying out, etc., of Foster street, on laying out, etc., of Oakwood road, and on laying out, etc., of Woodside road, and changing named portion of Edinboro street to Page road.

Orders granting $19,305.42 for city expenses to Oct. 15; transferring $18.28 from city treasury, office expenses to interest on city loans, and authorizing sewer construction in Reservoir avenue were read twice and adopted.

An order granting Boston & Worcester St. Ry. Co. location for crossover on Boylston street near Walnut street was laid on the table at the request of Alderman Webster.

And the board at 9.05 p. m. adjourned.

MR. J. HOWARD NICHOLS.

Mr. J. Howard Nichols, for many years one of the prominent residents of Newton died at his home on Sargent street last Friday night, in his 68th year. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia lasting about four weeks, although he has been in very poor health for several years.

He is survived by a widow, and three daughters, Mrs. Edward F. Greene and the Misses Eleanor H. and Grace Nichols.

Mr. John Howard Nichols was born in Kingston, N. H., Dec. 18, 1837. He was educated at Exeter and at Pembroke Academy of his native state, and came to Boston when nearly eighteen years of age, where he found employment in the wholesale grocery and later in a tea importing house on Central Wharf. When twenty years of age Mr. Nichols was appointed supercargo for Mr. John L. Gardner's bark "Arthur," bound for China in which country he remained as special agent for ten years. On his return to this country he continued in the China trade until 1876, when he was elected to his late position as treasurer of the Dwight Manufacturing Company. From 1886 to 1900 Mr. Nichols was also treasurer of the Great Falls Manufacturing Company. Mr. Nichols was a member of various clubs, a director in several manufacturing enterprises, and a member of the Eliot Congregational church.

Some two months ago on account of his poor health he resigned from all his active positions retaining only the treasurership of the Dwight Company.

Funeral services were held from the house Tuesday afternoon conducted by Rev. Dr. Wolcott Calkins and Rev. Franklin S. Hatch, and were of the simplest character. There were many relatives, neigbors and friends present including the officers and many of the employees of the Dwight Manufacturing Company, and representatives from the various business and social organizations to which the deceased belonged. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. There were no bearers and no music and Messrs. Theophilus Parsons, Frank A. Day and Charles F. Rogers served as ushers. The interment which was private, was in the family lot at Mount Auburn.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Castle Square Theatre—The attraction at the Castle Square next week, will be the popular romantic drama, "Under the Red Robe." Ever since its production some eight or ten years ago, "Under the Red Robe" has proved itself one of the most popular of romantic plays. It is a dramatization of Stanley Weyman's novel of the same name, and tells an entertaining and facinating story of life during the most pictureque period of French history. It will be cast with the full strength of the Castle Square Company.

Keith's Theatre—Another big program, fully as strong as that of the current week, is announced from Keith's for the week of September 25. Lasky's Military Octette, will be the headline feature of the program. A military fantasy in three scenes is presented, introducing the Octette playing on various musical instruments, and the Octette is under the leadership of one of the young women. Included in the surrounding show are the Five Pirossolis, direct from the music halls of Europe; Lee Harrison, monologue and story-teller; Klekko and Fravill, operatic singers in high-class selections; Clifford and Burke, blackface comedians, singers and dancers; Nessen and Nessen, skillful jugglers and hoop rollers; W. H. Whitie, ventriloquil comedian; The Althea twins, singers and dancers; Jack and Gilda Gannon, comedians and parody singers; Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne will be seen in one of their rural comedies, "The Village Lawyer." The kinetograph will show the usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures.

The pleasure of a trip up along the celebrated "North Shore" route to Gloucester at this season of the year is delightful beyond the power of words. Week-day starting time is 10 o'clock, but on Sunday the boat leaves the north side of Central wharf at 10:15, weather permitting. The fine steel steamship Cape Ann daily and Sunday is taking excursionists who love the ocean, and who are glad to exchange the noise and turmoil of the city for the cool, inspiring sea breezes to be found in a voyage up the Massachusetts coast to rugged old Cape Ann. The Columbus orchestra is in attendance. tf

Ivers & Pond PIANOS
Announcement
We rent every summer a large number of Pianos to wealthy cottagers at Newport, Beverly and Bar Harbor for a few months' use. These pianos are now being returned to Boston and will be sold at a liberal discount from last season's prices. Some of them were new when rented last June and the careful use they have had has not impaired their artistic musical value. Any scratches or signs of wear on the cases have been thoroughly removed so that they look like new. You will find these pianos on our floors for examination, or a printed list fully describing and pricing them will be mailed free to distant purchasers. Most attractive terms of payment for time buyers. Call or write.

FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. Father Gilfether Takes Leave of Congregation.

Much Sorrow Manifested Over Departure of a Popular Priest.

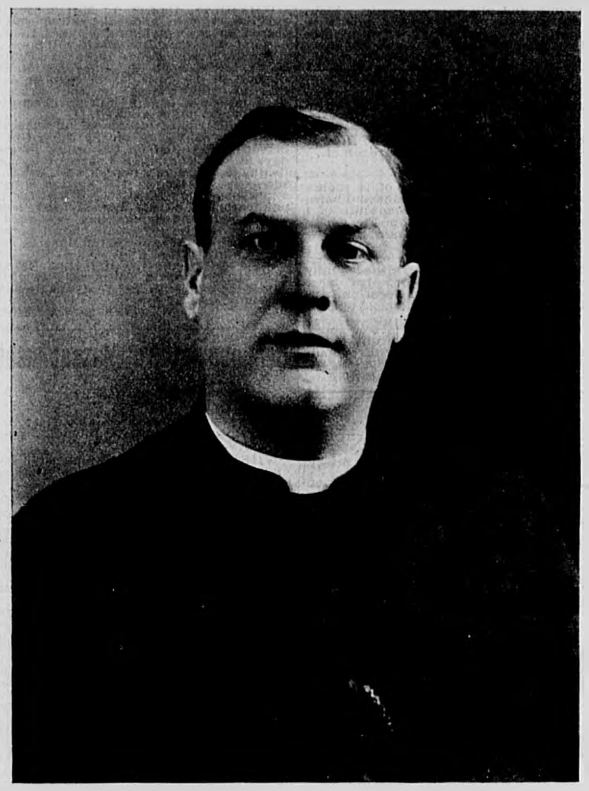

The Sunday masses at the Church of Our Lady were largely attended as it was known that Rev. Fr. Gilfether who has just received the appointment as pastor of the parish at West Lynn, was to say farewell to the congregation.

Father Gilfether spoke briefly at the three early masses, and quite at length at the 10.30 mass. He manifested considerable emotion and his audiences were also greatly moved, as he is a most popular priest.

Rev. Father A. S. Malone, formerly of St. Agnes' parish, Arlington, who succeeds Father Gilfether as curate, celebrated the 10.30 mass.

After reading the usual Sunday notices Fr. Gilfether said in part:

There is another announcement to be made, Brethren, which concerns myself—an unusual and difficult one. Unusual, because it is seldom that the Sunday announcements refer particularly to him who makes them; difficult, because it is always hard to say farewell. Today we part. As was announced on last Sunday I have been appointed by his Grace the most Reverend Archbishop, pastor of the Sacred Heart parish at West Lynn, in which with God's and the people's help, it is expected that I shall continue the work begun, and begun so well, by the late good and lamented Father Sullivan. I ask your prayers now and after I am gone, that God may help me in the work. In undertaking it, mindful of my limitations I put my whole trust in Him. "Unless the Lord build the house, in vain will they labor who build it."

REV. JAMES F. GILFETHER.

In parting with you dear and good friends, emotions, which if I would I could not disguise, betray themselves. They well up within me as I recall your unvarying kindness, exhibited at all times by your willing cooperation and encouragement, and by your warm appreciation of the little good I may have been to you. I confess I am overcome when I think that our pleasant relations of twenty-one years duration shall exist no longer.

It is a truism that priests, especially those who do parish work, are men with all the sensitiveness of men. A sensitiveness as keenly hurt by indifference as helped and encouraged by kindly assistance, and I am human enough to say it, kindly appreciation. In their God-given work of the salvation of souls and upbuilding of Christ's Church on earth, Christ's priests, I repeat, are sustained or hindered in their mission in no small degree by the devotion or apathy of those over whom they have been placed. Your works, Brethren, I say it truthfully, they speak for themselves and require no eulogist, not only attest your faith in God and your zeal for religion, but your attitude toward your priests. And I have only shared in what others have received and I am happy to say are receiving. I do not forget that when you were few in number and just organized as a parish, undismayed by a severe money panic in the early 70s you loyally stood by Father Green—God rest him—your first pastor. As the parish became larger I have seen your piety and good will and generosity increase as has been well evidenced by all Father Dolan has done for it. I may only say now that I have been something more than a mere spectator in the work which Father Dolan has accomplished; it only remains for me today to pray God to spare him to you, and to congratulate him and you as the possessors of a church property which easily ranks among the first in the archdiocese of Boston. With such a pastor, with such a people no priest's life could be otherwise than happy, and he would be hard to please, indeed, who could remain with you and not consider himself fortunate in working for you. You are appreciative, responsive, and docile people. Aye more, a faithful people in the best Catholic sense because you are a Sacrament-receiving and a Mass-attending people. It is true I might say other things of you; Brethren, listen, if I could not say this, my words of praise would be as sounding brass and tinkling cymbal—valueless. After all it is this which gives satisfaction and joy to the heart of a priest, this makes him labor more zealously and untiringly for God's honor and glory, the good of holy Church and the sanctification of the people entrusted to his care. And this, need I say it? has edified me. This, has made the years happier as time went on. This, has impressed me with the worth and activity of your faith and with a higher idea, I trust, of my own sacred and responsible calling.

Brethren, I rejoice at the growth of the Church in Newton. Some of you, the older members of the parish, can recall the time when there was no Church here and when you had to walk a long distance to be present at the single Sunday Mass in a neighboring parish. What a change in twenty-five or thirty years. In my own comparatively short time in Newton I have seen the number of priests more than doubled, two parishes have been made, here a parochial school, the crowning glory of a parish, the first, and I hope not the last in the city, has been built, and in it at the hands of a community of competent teachers, 1000 children are receiving a sound secular education and a Catholic training, and this at a saving to the city of about $40,000 annually. My dear people, you have reason to be proud of your parish and grateful to Almighty God for the blessings he has bestowed upon it. Although Father Dolan has labored unselfishly and successfully, setting the pace for generosity, and although you have responded willingly and well whenever he asked your help, still, I think I hear him and you say today, in the words of St. Paul, "Man plants. Apollo waters, it is God who gives the increase." And in the words of the Psalmist, "Not to us, O Lord, not to us, but to Thy Name be glory."

I rejoice, moreover, because year after year I have seen this beautiful city take on those features which make for and which bespeak the prosperity of its people and the integrity of those who represent them in office. From all, whether in public or private life, and irrespective of creed I have received the greatest courtesy. From you, the members of this dear old parish of Our Lady Help of Christians, I have been the recipient of every kindness which a good pastor and devoted people could bestow; and if there were times when I should have expressed my gratitude and did not, permit me to say now in bidding you farewell that from my heart I thank you.

Yes, looking back on the years we have spent together, memories which naturally fill every priest's mind on an occasion like this crowd in upon mine with unwonted rapidity. The hearts I have joined in holy marriage the children I have baptized and helped to instruct, now entering, some of them on the first years of manhood and womanhood. The penitents I have absolved, the little forgotten ministrations which may have brought consolation, courage, amendment of life to hundreds of breaking hearts and wayward souls. The sick I have attended ere God called them out of this world to Heaven, and, Oh, Brethren, when I think of it, out of how many of your homes have I not seen some dear one depart! May they rest in the Divine and loving heart of Jesus and until we join them let us pray for each other. I shall not forget to pray for you,—promise that you will not forget to pray for me.

Kneel, and I will ask God to bless you. God bless you, you and your families. God bless Father Dolan, Father Kelly, your new assistant, Father Malone, and their work. God bless the good sisters who have consecrated their lives to Him in the necessary work of Catholic education. God bless them and prosper that important work. God bless you again in all your ways—in your joys, and in your sorrows—in life and in death, until we meet in an inseparable union in Heaven. In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Rev. Father Gilfether took charge of his new parish last Monday.

SEPTEMBER 5, 1905.

Praise to God!
Through the land and far abroad
Quick the glorious tidings speed.
From New Hampshire's rocky strand
To Manchuria's distant land
Swiftly goes the word decreed.

Honored clime!
Latest on the roll of time.
Bidding to her peaceful shore
Old World nations, gray and grand.
Liberty, with lifted hand,
Guarding still her "open door"!

Leader true!
Ready still God's work to do—
How our hearts were stirred again—
Vibrant long 'twixt hope and fear
By the words courageous, clear,
Uttered through his voice and pen.

Noble band!
Countless eyes in every land
Watched your converse hour by hour,
And with joy to ears untold
Was your final message rolled—
"Peace is nobler far than power."

Glorious loss!
Giving up the fleeting dross
Of the ever-hoarded gold
For the richer gain of peace,
Bearing, in its glad increase,
Power renewed and strength untold.

They are saved!
As the flag of peace is waved
And the bells their tumult pour,
Thousands waiting, grim and strong,
For the pealing battle-song,
Drop their arms, and breathe once more.

Peace at last!
All the future—all the past—
Centre in this hour sublime.
'Tis a great world-moment now,
Rise, ye nations! Rise and bow
To the Lord of Earth and Time!

Primal word!
That the ocean-currents heard
First upon its lightning way:—
Ring again, and yet again!
Tell to angels! Tell to men
"What the Lord hath wrought" to-day!

Prince of peace!
May we, in this glad release,
See Thy beauty newly shine:—
Bring Thou from this ended strife
Fuller power and grander life,
And the glory shall be Thine!

The Graphic has advocated the inauguration of the direct nomination system in this state, in season, and out of season, but the present time is as favorable as any we know for bringing forcibly to the attention of the individual voter, the total inadequacy of the present delegate and convention system.

The daily papers have been quite liberal in the amount of space given to the three candidates for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor, and to the more numerous applicant for the office of attorney general. It is fair to assume that a great many of our citizens have made up their minds just whom they would like to support for these offices at the coming primaries. But the political leaders have ordained that the individual voter this fall shall not be allowed any choice in these matters, for but one list of delegates will appear on the ballot. The supporters of Messrs. Hall and Goetting for the lieutenant governorship cannot express their choice as the selected delegates will vote for Mr. Draper. In the attorney generalship, the Champlin leaders have pre-empted the majority of delegates the Sanderson leaders being content with selling out their man by accepting a few delegates and avoiding a contest. While this may be good politics from the standpoint that a few votes in the hand without a fight is better than none with a fight, it leaves the individual voter without that opportunity to express a choice which is his by right.

If these officers were nominated by direct vote, each voter could express his choice and the total throughout the state would clearly show whom the party favored for the nominations.

The celebration of the 50th anniversary of such a parish as Grace church is an event which interests not only the members of that congregation but the whole community.

Its membership has always been composed of some of our most reliable citizens, and its beautiful group of buildings has added to the renown of our city.

This anniversary is a reminder of the growth of our city, for whereas there were only about 6000 people in the whole district in 1855 there are now nearly 37,000. It also is a reminder of how the population changes by deaths and removals for there is only one person now connected with the parish who was here when it began.

The program which has been prepared for the week is of great interest and the musical parts to be rendered by its finely trained choir are of superior excellence.

Preparations for the great trip around the world at Newton Centre on October 7th are going on apace, and novel suggestions are being constantly added to the unique entertainment. The ladies in charge of the different countries are to be gowned in the costume of the country represented and the decorations, etc., will be appropriate.

In Russia orders can be left for lettering in cross-stitch on towels and other forms of linen, and there is to be social dancing in the evening. In England, a professional artist is to cut silhouettes and there will be a Punch and Judy show. In Germany the cottage and garden will have special decorations.

Tourists will be given a Baedeker guide book on request and the trips can be taken any hour between 3 and 9 o'clock.

Street Railway Notes

The Railroad Commissioners give a hearing next Tuesday at 11 A. M. on the matter of extending the time within which the Newton and Boston Street Railway Company may withhold free transfers.

The Newton Company has been granted an extension of three months to complete its tracks to Riverside.

Grace Church.

The celebration of the 50th anniversary of Grace church will begin on the coming Sunday. At the morning service at 10.30 the rector will speak on "Some Reasons for Rejoicing." The choir will render Stanford's Te Deum and Sir Arthur Sullivan's superb anthem, "I will mention the loving Kindnesses of the Lord" An original tune by the organist, Mr. D. W. Fitch will be sung as the Processional.

At the evening service the Rev. Mr. Smith will speak on "How an Episcopal Parish may benefit the life of the Community." The special music at this service will be Stanford's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, and Tours' anthem, "The pillars of the earth are the Lord's."

On Wednesday morning at 10.30 the speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Steenstra, who was at one time the rector of the parish. He is now a Professor in the Theological school, Cambridge. It is expected that a number of the clergy from neighboring parishes will be present at this service. The music will be led by the vested choir and will consist largely of the compositions of Prof. H. W. Parker, who was a boy in the parish.

All these services are open to the public.

Clubs and Lodges

A whist party and dance under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H., will be held in A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton, Wednesday evening, Sept. 27th.

Russell—Coombs.

Last week Thursday a beautiful wedding ceremony was solemnized at Camp Nonantum, Lake Cobbosseecontee at Manchester, Me., the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. M. Morton Russell of Newton, Mass., when their son, A. Lawrence, was united in marriage to Miss Evelyn D. Coombs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Coombs of Hallowell, Me. Rev. W. F. Livingston, rector of St. Matthews Episcopal church, officiated.

The living room was decorated with trailing vines, evergreen and asters and the effect was rare and really unique with the beautiful array. The ceremony was very impressive and opened with the rendition of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" by Fred D. Bates,

The bride and groom-elect were preceded by Master Robert Clary, a nephew of the bride, and little Miss Bessie Russell, a niece of the groom, who scattered asters as they led the way. The bride was very beautiful in a dress of white Brussels net with illusion veil, and carried a bouquet of white asters.

Immediately following the ceremony the newly married couple received the hearty congratulations of the company present and delicious refreshments were served.

Hahn—Bailey.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey, Auburndale, Monday evening, September 11th, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Miss Hattie S. Bailey, to Albert Hahn of Newton Centre. The ceremony was attended by the relatives of the bride and groom, the Rev. John Matteson being the officiating clergyman.

The decorations in the various rooms were most attractive, consisting of autumn foliage, hydrangeas and white asters. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. William Hahn, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, Mr. George Bailey, by whom she was given away.

She was gowned in white silk trimmed with lace and pearl ornaments, and wore a tulle veil. Her bouquet was of white pinks. Miss Smith was maid of honor and John Hahn was best man. A reception followed from 8 to 10.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hahn will reside in Everett.

Park Theatre.—One of the most sparkling and delightful romantic comedies that it has been the fortune of New England playgoers to witness in many a season is "His Grace de Grammont," in which Otis Skinner has scored such a pronounced triumph at the Park Theatre, Boston. The production itself is a magnificent series of pictures, its scenes reflecting all the graceful elegance, colorful charm and rich splendor of the Court of Charles the Second. Seldom, indeed, have the arts of the scene painter, costumer and stage director so brilliantly blended to produce a masterpiece of pictorial loveliness. It is the age of gay cavaliers and amorous court beauties that is here reproduced before the footlights. The main interest of the play, after all, is Mr. Skinner's footlight impersonation of the famous French Chevalier, De Grammont, who was the beau-ideal gallant of his time.

The Boston engagement will continue only until October 9, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Letter to Benj. T. Otis,
West Newton.

Dear Sir: A great many people will see your house in the course of the next ten years. We want it to show what Devoe lead-and-zinc will do. We should like you to paint it, and then not paint it again for ten years—unless it needs repainting.

We'd like such a sample as that in every town in the country—with a notice about it in the local paper: "Mr.——'s house was painted ten years ago with Devoe lead-and-zinc, and has never been repainted. The color is not so bright as it was; but the paint is as perfect a coat as ever, to keep out water."

A good lead-and-oil job is expected to last three years; it is a good one that lasts three years; it generally does not. Devoe lead-and-zinc lasts twice as long, if not:—

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it.

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

We want your house as a sample, and you as a witness.

Yours truly
F. W. Devoe & Co.

P. S.—W. E. Tomlinson, West Newton, sells our paint.

CORNER STONE LAID.

First Unitarian Society at West Newton Hold Interesting Services.

New Edifice, Opposite City Hall, to Cost Over $100,000, to be Completed Sept. 15, 1906.

The corner stone of the new church edifice now being erected by the First Unitarian Society in Newton at the junction of Washington and Highland streets, West Newton, was laid last Sunday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the presence of a large number of people, including many guests from other denominations.

Mr. Edwin B. Haskell, chairman of the General committee presided in his usual happy manner, and after an opening prayer by Rev. Francis Tiffany, spoke substantially as follows:

It is my privilege to welcome you to this interesting service. The ceremony has been delayed by the absence of a large number of our people during the vacation season until we are able to see the promise of the edifice to be erected here. It gives us especial pleasure to welcome here our friends and neighbors of other communions whose faith differs in some details from ours, but who believe with us in the need of reverence, the blessing of service and the value of character. In the larger view of our age we have come to recognize more the worthy aims in which we agree than the points on which we differ.

We all regret the absence of our pastor and his consort. We all know how interested and helpful they were in preparing the plans for the new church and we can imagine what their delight in this service would be were they here. There is no doubt that they are with us in spirit today. Meanwhile they are making good use of the Sabbatical year which they have earned by faithful and devoted service for twenty years; and we may hope that they will return to us in ample time for the dedication service, refreshed by their rest, and ready to take up the work to which they have consecrated their lives. May it be many years before they shall be separated from this parish and people!

In the enterprise of building this church we are only continuing in our generation the work of our forbears, who began it here three score years ago. It was a day of small things when they entered upon the work, and in this larger enterprise, which attests the growth of the seed they planted, we do not exceed them in faith and courage.

The Society first worshipped in the village hall. The church was built in 1860 and was enlarged three times, in 1868, in 1879, and in 1887. The last enlargement was eighteen years ago For some years more room has been needed by the increasing society, and now, the auspicious period having arrived, we are looking forward to a new and larger church and parish house.

Eleven ministers have served here, one of them, Rev. Francis Tiffany, for two periods aggregating fifteen years and our present pastor has been with us twenty years.

In an age of unquestioning faith, 1294, the people of Florence, when about to enter upon the work of building their famous cathedral, resolved in a general assembly of the people to build the most beautiful church in the world. I have always admired that resolution although the work was not completed until our own day six centuries after its beginning. We have not dared quite so boldly but we have with remarkable unanimity decided upon a plan which unites with liberal space and many conveniences, beauties and graces of architecture worthy of the high purpose the structure is to serve. May it serve us and our children and children's children for many generations, and may the world be better for the work to be done here. We cannot magnify the glory of God but may we be blessed and brought more and more into harmony with Him and reverence for the Highest.

Rev. Edwin F. Snell, pastor of the First Baptist church than read from the Scriptures, and a hymn, "The Church Universal" was sung, to the accompaniment of a piano and cornet.

Mr. George H. Ellis was then introduced and said in part:

The address I am about to make, should have been made by the chairman of the Building Committee but with his usual modesty he has turned it over to me.

At a parish meeting held April 24th authority was granted to build this church at a cost not exceeding $135,000, including the land, but exclusive of the organ. Messrs. Cram, Goodhue and Ferguson were selected as architects, and it is felt that they have given us a plan particularly suited to our needs.

Contracts have already been made for the construction of the building, heating and ventilating, plumbing and electric wiring, leaving still to provide for—electric and gas fixtures, pews and furnishing and putting the grounds in order and it is believed that this can all be done with the sum appropriated.

We have fully $110,000 pledged. In addition to this there will be the amount received from the sale of our old church, and it is earnestly hoped that there will be a sufficient sum raised to supply any deficiency, so that this church may be dedicated free from debt.

The contents of the sealed box are as follows: Plan of church erected in 1860; photographs of church 1870, 1882, 1900; parish directory 1904, '05; year book, American Unitarian Association 1905; annual report, American Unitarian Association, 1905; Christian Register, September 14th, 1905; Boston Transcript, September 15th, 1905; section of Boston Sunday Herald, January 22nd, 1905, with picture and description of proposed church edifice; Newton Journal, September 15th, 1905; Newton Graphic, September 15th, 1905; Newton Circuit, September 15th, 1905; photograph of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes; two sermons of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes "The place of Jesus in the Religion of today;" "Unitarianism as a Social Force;" three tracts of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes: "Stilling the Tempest;" "The Transfiguration;" "The Temptation;" Easter Sunday appeal, April 21st, 1905, with picture of new church edifice, reproduced from drawings of architects; programme of National Conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches, September 25-28, 1905; order of exercises, laying of corner stone, September 17th, 1905.

The corner stone, which had been suspended from a derrick, was then laid by Mr. Josiah E. Bacon, chairman of the Building Committee.

Mr. Haskell then introduced Rev. Francis Tiffany, a former pastor of the church, saying, "We are fortunate in having with us on this interesting occasion our dear friend whom we esteem and love as our pastor emeritus, Rev. Francis Tiffany, whom I now present."

Rev. Francis Tiffany said in part:

However beautiful this temple is to be, we should remember that the soul is the only true temple, and that the soul of the builders, is the only source of the beauty and harmony of the structure. As we assemble these stones into their places, the discordant into discordant places, the harmonious into harmonious places, so it is with you as worshippers in your lives and characters.

We rear this temple to the service of truth, of worship, of perfection of individual character and spirit, and to service to humanity. To truth, to faith in truth and to faith in the church. To worship, as life is barren without reverence, the love of God and of one another. To perfection of individual character, as man needs rebuke on account of the low elements which are in him. To service to humanity, for a church must not live for itself alone, although it must needs live for itself, its own faculties and views. It is to these ends we rear a church, for a God to worship whom we can trust to conserve all higher interests, a brotherhood to love and labor for.

Mr. Tiffany closed with the following lines from William Blake:

THE DIVINE IMAGE.

To Mercy, Pity, Peace and Love,
All pray in their distress
And to these virtues of delight,
Return their thankfulness.

For Mercy, Pity, Peace and Love
Is God, our Father, dear,
And Mercy, Pity, Peace and Love
Is man, his child and care.

For Mercy has a human heart
Pity, a human face,
And Love, the human form divine,
And Peace, the human dress.

Then every man, of every clime,
That prays in his distress,
Prays to the human form divine,
Love, Mercy, Pity, Peace.

And all must love the human form
In heathen, Turk, or Jew.
Where Mercy, Love and Pity dwell,
There God is dwelling, too.

Mayor Alonzo R. Weed then spoke as follows:

By a strange coincidence the year in which the then Town of Newton acquired its present City Hall was the year in which this Church was organized. For nearly sixty years your church and the City Hall have been near neighbors. Now that your new meeting house is to be a little nearer neighbor, it is fitting that the City Hall should bring you its neighborly greetings and in a broader and more representative way the good wishes of all citizens who whatever their creed welcome every earnest and sincere effort for the welfare of the community.

I am not sure but that there may be something prophetic in the drawing closer of this church to this centre of our local civic life. For we no longer fear ecclesiastical domination. But our fear is rather that we shall not find in full vigor in our civic and political life those principles and motives which it is one of the essential purposes of this and every other Christian church to foster and to teach.

I believe we are beginning to recognize more fully that the discharge of the duty of a citizen is no mere busi-

WORN OUT?
Are Your Strength and Energy Gone?

If you are discouraged and despondent and wish to die, it is not because everything is black before you. It is simply because your vitality is so low and you are so weak that you have not the courage to face a lifetime.

Eminent physicians have been attracted by similar cases and after making a careful and scientific study of their requirements have compounded a remedy called Vin-Tone, which builds up body and mind in a remarkably short time.

Vitality is what you need and vitality is what Vin-Tone gives.

We tell you of this preparation hoping it may find its way into every home where man, woman or child is suffering from lack of energy.

Vin-Tone can be procured at a very trivial expense and will build up your system as it has thousands of others ness, or the holding of public office, a mere trade. There is something more required of the good citizen than to buy the benefits of good government in the cheapest market and to sell them in the dearest—to get all that he can out of the city, the state or the nation, and to give in return as little as he can of time or money or sacrifice. There is something more required of him then to consult those motives of expediency and self interest which have always obscured for men their vision of the Infinite. We have come to know that we cannot hope for any permanent purity or elevation of purpose in our civic life save in the way made so startlingly plain in the Christian faith—in the willingness of men to sacrifice self and risk all in seeking that which is ideal.

It is one of the glories of this church and of the denomination of which it is a part that it has always laid an especial emphasis on the futility of religious profession and fervor unless crystalized in character and vitalized in action. True to its teaching this church has made yearly generous contributions to the citizenship and to the public service of Newton in men to whom the way of which I have spoken is not unknown or untravelled. This more permanent and beautiful structure will not have fulfilled its mission unless within its walls men shall be aroused to a more steadfast faith and a more earnest enthusiasm for righteousness. It is because the future is bright with this promise that we all rejoice with you in an event which is not only of importance to you but of the keenest interest to us all.

Prayer was then offered by Rev Theodore P. Prudden, D. D., pastor of the Second Congregational church, the Doxology was sung, and the exercise closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Tiffany.

The corner stone is a block of handsome Indiana limestone, 4 feet 4 inches long, 2 feet 8 inches wide, 1 foot 6 inches deep, weighs nearly 3000 pounds and bears the inscription "A. D. 1905." It is placed at the north west corner of the church, adjoining the porte cocher.

On the platform with the speakers were noted, Congressman and Mrs. Weeks, Hon. E. L. Pickard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Burrage, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Felton, Mrs. N. T. Allen, Miss Porter, Treasurer B. F. Otis, Messrs. George Hutchinson, Vernon, E. Carpenter, and Henry Whitmore.

It pays the buyer to buy from an advertiser and to say he saw the article advertised in this or that paper. The man who mentions an advertisement when buying goods really gets the best possible service,—even better than the regular customer when this is possible. Why? Simply because the advertiser pays good money for his advertisement and he is glad to hear from it. It is a compliment to his good business judgment. tf

Castle Square Booklet.

In a handsomely printed booklet of thirty-two pages, the plans for the coming season are set forth by the Boston Stage Society in a very attractive manner. After a statement of such important matters as the prices of seats at matinees, evening performances, and a description of the best means for reaching the theatre from all parts of the city and suburbs, the members of the Stock Company are made the subject of pictures and brief biographies and a list of plays already secured for weekly productions is given. Among these are "The Three Musketeers," "Alabama," "Under the Red Robe," "The Royal Box," "Secret Service," "Lady Windermere's Fan," "Mice and Men," "Madame Sans Gene," and Sardou's "Antony and Cleopatra." The most entertaining part of the booklet, however, to the curious theatregoer is the concluding pages, wherein are given an illustrated account of the method by which familiar stage noises and mechanical illusions are produced with all the semblance of reality. The reader here learns how a storm rages on the stage, how the surf rolls, stars shine, thunder crashes, lightning flashes, winds war, and a hundred other things that are bound to happen in farce and melodrama, comedy and tragedy.

Gypsy Moths.

The attention of Superintendent Kirkland of the State moth-suppression work has been called to the breaking-up of gypsy moth egg-clusters on tree trunks and branches while farmers and others are picking the fall crop of apples. Mr. Kirkland suggests that it would be wise for all property owners in the infested district to send to him for a Bulletin on the gypsy moth, by which they may learn the appearance of the gypsy moth egg-clusters. These clusters are easily destroyed by soaking them with creosote, and Mr. Kirkland says that, if the past is to be suppressed, it is highly important that every owner of fruit trees should take the necessary precautions to prevent scattering of the moth eggs. A few ounces of creosote will destroy millions of eggs, and the important thing now is to have the right work done in the right way.

Mr. Lawrence Killed.

R. Ashton Lawrence, a member of the old Lawrence family of Boston and a prominent capitalist associated with his brother, John, in the management of the Ashton Lawrence estate, was almost instantly killed last evening by falling from an inward-bound train at Chestnut Hill. He had attempted to board it after it had started.

Mr. Lawrence had left his home on Beacon street to take the 7.20 train to meet his wife. Reaching the railroad station just as the train had started he ran for it, catching the rail of the rear platform of the last car. His foot caught in one of the steps, causing him to fall backward. His foot remained wedged, between the steps for a few seconds and his body bumped along the ground: his head striking the ends of the sleepers.

Several persons on the station platform, as soon as they could collect their wits, shouted to the engineer, who brought the train to a stop about 100 feet from the station.

When Mr. Lawrence's body was picked up he was unconscious, but breathing. He expired within five minutes without regaining consciousness.

The body was taken into the Chestnut Hill railroad station and later removed to his residence in the police ambulance.

Mr. Lawrence was 37 years of age and leaves a widow.

Newton is Favored by the Recent Award

Metropolitan Park Assessments to be Reduced In the Future

The commissioners appointed by the Supreme Court to apportion the expense for parks and boulevards for the metropolitan parks for the succeeding five years have finished their work and filed their report and award with the Court last Friday.

The commissioners have raised the proportion of the city of Boston some 12 per cent so that that municipality will pay about 62 per cent. of the total expense. They formally adopt valuation as the basis of apportionment, saying Novel conceptions as to the distribution of this taxation should not be formulated and approved in preference to general rules which have stood the test of experience, merely because a wide discretion is conferred upon the commissioners. Unless justice will be wrought, it is wise to keep within the ancient landmarks of taxation. The distribution of public burdens, according to property valuation, including both real and personal, is the policy of this Commonwealth, approved by long usage. As applied to all the municipalities affected by this apportionment, and tested by all the schedules mentioned and all the arguments presented, the commissioners believe that this principle of apportionment on the whole is the nearest approach to justice and equity. It is, therefore, adopted. It is singularly appropriate to the present apportionment, for the reason that the Metropolitan Park District is a new political entity established for a specific, definite purpose, the territorial limits of which were based upon geographical and social considerations. The district was created to preserve for all time for the use of a crowded population the open areas in which the beauties of nature can best be enjoyed. These reservations will never be outgrown, worn out or discarded by the progress of civilization. They will continue to be an increasingly valuable asset of the district as a whole, as long as it continues to be a centre of commercial, financial, manufacturing and educational activity, and add to the opportunities for pleasurable and wholesome living upon every dwelling-site within its borders. Thus the advantages of the reservations are not so essentially present and local as lasting and general. Present and local considerations, which may turn out to be temporary and fleeting, are, therefore, deserving less weight in the apportionment of this than of most public charges.

Newton is treated a trifle better than five years ago, altho not so well as we had a right to expect. Mayor Weed and City Solicitor Slocum have made a splendid fight for the adoption of the same principles for parks as have governed the payments for metropolitan sewers for the past ten years, viz:—valuation as a basis for payments to the sinking funds and interest requirements and population as the basis for payments for maintenance. This contention the commissioners turn down, saying in their report :—"It has been strenuously urged that population should be adopted as the rule of apportionment of expense of park maintenance on the ground that those who use should pay for the luxury of parks. Use of parks is probably not directly proportionate to population. The opportunity of a given population for leisure is quite as important upon this issue as the number of people within a specific area. A substantial part of the maintenance expenditure is for purposes not directly dependent upon use of the parks but for their permanent development and preservation. Therefore, the argument does not seem to the commissioners of sufficient weight to cause the abandonment of the valuation basis which has all the grounds of support when viewed with reference to this item of expense, that it possesses as the general rule."

In an interview with one of the commissioners he stated briefly that the commission did not believe it possible to effect a practical working basis on the relation of population to the cost of maintenance. Some populations would not use the parks at all while others might be constant attendants. The popular whim regarding parks was fickle and not easy to follow therefor, while theoretically, population might appear to be a fair basis, yet practically it did not seem as sound as that of valuation.

Under this new award Newton will make a saving on present year figures of $13,247.18, reducing its total assessment from $37,088.48 to $23,841.30 We pay .03479 for the sinking fund, interest and maintenance charges for parks, amounting this year to $18,513.03; on .boulevard charges our proportion is .0261 or $3,667.22 and on the Nantasket beach expenses we pay .03467 or $1,661.05.

Death of Mr. Howe.

Mr. Alden Augustus Howe, for the past five years vice treasurer of the Newton Savings bank, passed away at his home on Wesley street Sunday morning of apoplexy. About three weeks ago Mr. Howe was taken seriously ill while at work in the bank and was removed to the Newton hospital. He recovered sufficiently to be able to resume his duties, after a short period of rest, but he soon began to fail and was confined to his home for several days previous to his demise. Mr. Howe was a native of Holden, Mass., where he was born 56 years ago. He was at one time in the banking business in Grafton and Worcester previous to his removal to Newton. He was an active member of the Immanuel Baptist church of Channing Council, R. A., and was formerly treasurer of the Newton Y. M. C. A. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Clarence V. Moore and Miss Florence A. Howe.

A short service of prayer was held at the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 1.30, Rev. Frank B. Matthews officiating, and the funeral followed at 2 o'clock at the Immanuel Baptist church. The exercises were of he simplest character consisting of scripture reading and a brief eulogy by Rev. Mr. Matthews and prayer by Rev. Dr. George S. Butters. Dr. L. H. Naylor and Mr. Frank W. Chase rendered the selection "No Sorrow There," and the company present sang, "We may not climb the Heavenly Steps," which was a favorite hymn of the deceased. The ushers were Messrs E. P. Tuttle and J. W. Blaisdell and the bearers Deacon Stephen Moore, representing the church; President S. M. Sayford of the Y. M. C. A.; treasurer A. J. Blanchard representing the Newton Savings Bank and Mr. Harris Johonnot representing the Royal Arcanum.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were pieces from the employees of the Newton Savings Bank, the Bible School of the Immanuel Baptist Church, of which deceased was a former superintendent; his class in the school and Channing Council, Royal Arcanum. The remains were placed in the receiving tomb at Newton Cemetery where they will remain until final arrangements are made regarding the place of burial.

Waban School

It is said that the added requirements for admission to college in recent years have made it impossible for the preparatory schools to get boys ready before they are 18 years of age and the 8 years required for college and the professional school uses too much of a young man's life. Mr. Pillsbury has demonstrated at the Waban School that boys, if of medium ability, who have finished the sixth grade of public school work can be ready for any college in six years. As a matter of fact, the boys who have taken the full course at this school have almost invariably done the work in four years and every one has entered college in advanced standing and this has been done without crowding and in the most thorough manner. Individual attention to the physical, mental and ethical life of the boys is carried out to a larger degree than in any other school. During Mr. Pillsbury's administration no boy who has completed his course at Waban, has failed on his entrance examination at college. Sickness is a thing unknown at the school. During the summer the school building has been completely remodelled and put in perfectly modern condition. The plumbing is new throughout and a new chemical laboratory has been constructed. The building and grounds are never more attractive than now.

The new year opened September 27th with a larger number of pupils than ever before.

Funeral of R. A. Lawrence

Relatives and friends of Robert Ashton Lawrence, who was accidently killed at Chestnut Hill last Thursday night, gathered Monday in large numbers at the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Hammond street, for his funeral, which took place at 12.30 o'clock. At this hour the edifice was completely filled, which was impressive testimony to the great regard and friendship which had been felt for Mr. Lawrence. Those present were seated by the following-named ushers. J. Grafton Minot, George Lewis, James Lawrence, Jr., and R. M. Saltonstall. The chancel of the church was almost wholly filled in with quantities of flowers of all kinds which had been provided by relatives and personal friends, as well as by those who as members of organizations to which Mr. Lawrence had belonged, took this means to express their remembrance of this man, whom they all honored that day.

The coffin, as it was brought into the church, was completely covered with wreaths and clusters of lilies of the valley and delicate ferns in quantity. For this purpose no other flowers than these beautiful white ones were used. Bishop William Lawrence, a cousin of the deceased, officiated, together with Rev. D. C. Garrett, rector of the church. The regular surpliced choir of boys, under the direction of the organist, H. D. Phillips, sang the hymns "Hark, Hark, My Soul" and "For All the Saints." Previous to the beginning of the service, Mr. Phillips played on the organ Handel's "Largo" and also the "Funeral March" of Beethoven, which he again took up at the close of the service as people were taking their departure from the church. The burial was at Mount Auburn Cemetery.

Posters are being displayed throughout the infested district, explaining the appearance of the gypsy and brown tail moth egg clusters and the remedy for exterminating them. The eggs of the gypsy moth should be destroyed at once wherever found, while those of the brown tail can be more easily found after the leaves have fallen from the trees. 3t

About Town

I noticed the driver of a street watering cart the other afternoon, sitting on the bank talking with a friend, while the cart was being slowly, very slowly filled with a small stream of water from the standpipe. He was earning his pay and satisfying his conscience at the same time perhaps.

The average person has the dilemma of being considered either unpatriotic or discourteous whenever the "Star Spangled Banner" is played during a theatre performance. The other night at a Boston theatre when the national air was played, a score or more showed their patriotism by standing up, while those behind suffered through their discourtesy. The theatre managers ought to eliminate the air, or invite their audiences to stand while it is being played.

I hear that while the police were engaged in arresting five gamblers last Sunday morning, their was a quiet game going on in the same building in which three tables were in play.

It was a Newton auctioneer who was expatiating on the value of an old fashioned mirror, saying it was over 200 years old and advising any "epicure" in his audience of the bargain before them.

A friend of mine while away on her vacation this year made a chance acquaintance of a lady and after the manner of summer visitors asked her how she liked her quarters. "Oh not at all" said she, "my room is way back with the servants and chiffoneers." "Chiffoniers?" replied my friend. "Why, yes," said the lady, "I mean the men who run automobiles.'

Speaking of automobiles, reminds me that the tour around the world to be run off at Newton Centre will bring out from Boston about 15 of the finest machines in that city.

The late R. Ashton Lawrence of Chestnut Hill was that rare citizen, a cheerful and prompt tax payer.

The trouble and dirt occasioned by laying telephone conduits is almost as much bother as the poles. The good feature about it is the fact that when once buried, the wires stay buried.

Raid.

Creeping up fire escapes in the dead of night, early Sunday morning, climbing through a window into the Nonantum building, and after removing their shoes, Sergeant Burke and four officers stood for ten minutes outside the door of the Spanish War Veterans' lodge room. They heard the murmur of voices, exclamations of "ante up," the noise of shuffling cards and the clink of coin. A knock on the door brought an immediate cessation of these sounds, and after a short delay the police were admitted and placed John F. Kelley, Daniel D. Cronin, Thomas Murphy, Charles F. Rooney and Henry Butler under arrest for gaming on the Lord's day. Sergeant Burke found out what was going on at midnight Saturday, and obtaining a search warrant, returned to the square about 1.30 A. M. Here he was joined by Officers Coady, Desmond, McNeil and Farrell and the raid successfully made. The officers seized the furniture of the room consisting of tables, chairs, bottles, tumblers and several packs of cards.

In court Monday, the men were defended by Attorney A. R. Kelley who sought to convey to the judge the fact that the men were simply drinking, smoking and telling stories. The testimony showed that two of the men had been to Boston Saturday night, where they had obtained liquor. Returning to Nonantum square about eleven o'clock, they met the others and invited them to have a drink. Being rather diffident about drinking in the square they went to the Veteran's rooms of which Kelley had a key. While all told the same story as to what went on in the room, vehemently denying that there was any card playing, Butler in his testimony gave the whole thing away by saying in answer to a question about the table "Do you mean the table where we were playing-sitting." The slip was not given much apparent attention at the time but Judge Kennedy promptly found all the defendants guilty, and fined Kelley, $20., Butler, $15. and the others $10 each. An appeal was taken.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Miss Elsie Elliott of Maple street, whose wedding to Mr. Archiland Allen Roff of Cohoes, N. Y., is set for October eleventh, was given a pleasant surprise recently by the Clover Leaf Club of Watertown of which she is a member. The club is composed of seven young ladies and at a meeting held last week Thursday afternoon at the residence of Miss Anna Davenport of East Watertown, when Miss Elliott had reached her place, the doors of the adjoining rooms were thrown open and about forty of her friends in Newton and Watertown came rushing in. Miss Elliott was the surprised target at which bundles of all shapes and sizes were thrown, and she became the recipient of many gifts of fine linen in varying forms.

The affair was very well managed and Miss Elliott had no inkling of the merry prank contemplated by her friends.

STATE PRIMARIES

Bring Out Less Than One Per Cent of Voters

Both Republicans and Democrats Lack Interest

The state primaries held last Tuesday throughout this city were farcical to the last degree. Three hundred and fifty five voters out of a registration of over 6000 expressed a choice in making their party nominations. The polls were open from noon until nine o'clock and the election officers had hard work keeping awake.

The delegates elected and the votes cast in each ward were as follows:—

WARD ONE.

Republican, State, Edward Sawyer, O. M. Fisher; county, F. W. Stone, E. F. Barnes; senatorial, S. W. Holmes, D. F. Barber; councillor, W. H. Emerson, I. T. Fletcher. 19 votes.

Democratic, State, T. F. Delaney, W. J. Doherty; senatorial, H. J. Murnaghan, C. W. Keefe, J. H. Kenslea. 8 votes.

WARD TWO.

Republican. State, C. F. Avery, C. S. Dennison, F. L. Nagle, C. D. Cabot; senatorial, A. P. Carter, C. F. Cheney, E. P. Hatch, J. F. Lothrop; county, G. F. Williams, F. E. French, E. L. Avery, E. C. Wilcox; councillor, E. K. Hall, J. M. Stickney, H. F. Ross, H. H. Carter. 57 votes.

Democratic. State, J. F. Sullivan, J. A. Nevin; senatorial, A. J. Sullivan, T. S. Sullivan, T. F. Farrell, R. H. Casey, C. Dalton. 7 votes.

WARD THREE.

Republican. State, J. W. Weeks, V. E. Carpenter, H. L. Burrage; county, S. W. Manning, J. A. Potter, H. M. Davis; senatorial, A. G. Hosmer, J. Lamson, F. M. Lowe; councillor, E. B. Wilson, W. B. H. Dowse, C. E. Hatfield. 27 votes.

Democratic. State, W. H. Mague, B. D. Farrell; senatorial, W. H. Mague, B. D. Farrell, J. M. Barry, J. L. Foley, D. S. O'Connell. 9 votes.

WARD FOUR.

Republican. State, E. L. Pickard, A. C. Farley, F. Johnson; county, J. F. Ryder, H. M. Bunker, H. P. Converse; senatorial, W. A. Knowlton, G. M. Fiske, G. D. Harvey; councillor, P. C. Baker, W. F. Hadlock, G. H. Bourne. 48 votes.

Democratic. State, Alfred Murray; senatorial, Alfred Murray, T. J. O'Connell, W. J. Kiley. 4 votes.

WARD FIVE.

Republican. State, E. W. Warren, S. W. Jones, T. W. White, L. H. Bacon; senatorial, F. E. Withee, T. J. Sullivan, A. S. Hutchinson, S. R. Moulton; county, A. R. Logan, W. B. McMullin, C. W. Mercer, H. S. Bosson; councillor, F. R. Moore, W. C. Strong, H. E. Morse, Albert H. Elder. 54 votes.

Democratic. State, Dr. W. H. McOwen, W. H. Kenefic; senatorial, M. J. Murphy, J. J. Nolan, T. H. King, W. H. Kenefic. 7 votes.

WARD SIX.

Republican. State, D. Chester, E. T. Colburn, J. G. White, B. P. Gray; county, W. A. Donavan, E. A. Brown, I. C. Paul, G. W. Pratt; senatorial, W. M. Flanders, J. D. Colt, C. E. Kelsey, E. B. Bishop; councillor, E. T. Colburn, A. O. Swain, G. F. Richardson, G. W. Pratt. 69 votes.

Democratic. State, R. W. English; senatorial, R. W. English, P. T. Coleman, J. S. Bunkley. 2 votes.

WARD SEVEN.

Republican. State, S. L. Powers, A. R. Weed, W. F. Dana; senatorial, M. Bunker, A. Scott, A. W. Blakemore; county, M. Wing, J. C. Brimblecom, Thomas Weston, Jr.; councillor, H. W. Jarvis, B. S. Rich, V. B. Swett. 41 votes.

Democratic. State, T. D. Leonard; senatorial, T. D. Leonard. 3 votes.

For representatives James A. Lowell and John F. Lothrop are nominated by the Republicans and Alfred Murray and John W. Murphy by the Democrats.

In ward 5, one democrat attempted to vote for delegates to the democratic councillor convention, for which no printed list had been provided. The voter wrote in three names in the blank spaces furnished for two and thereby nullified his own vote.

Letter to Samuel W. French, Newtonville.

Dear Sir: It costs two or three times as much to put paint on as to buy it. A gallon of poor paint costs as much as a gallon of good for the work; and a gallon of poor don't go half as far. Poor paint lasts half or a third or a quarter as long as good; and protects wood and iron a half or a third or a quarter as well as good.

Do you buy good paint or poor? You don't know any poor? Why, the market is full of it!

All Devoe agents have a state chemist's certificate which tells just what's in Devoe.

Go by the name; the one safe name: Devoe lead and zinc.

Yours truly,

NEWTON GRAPHIC PUBLISHING CO.,
J. C. BRIMBLECOM, Treas.

TELEPHONE NO. 77-3.

☞ THE GRAPHIC is printed and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all News-stands in the Newtons, and at the South Union Station, Boston.

☞ All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

☞ Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fee is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 25 cents per line in the reading matter, or $1.00 per inch in the advertising columns.

With this issue the GRAPHIC enters upon its 34th volume, and as a birthday gift to its readers, the publisher presents a new dress of type and announces an increase in the near future in the number of pages from eight to twelve.

The latter has become necessary from the greatly increased amount of advertising which is seeking the Graphic on account of its position as the leading newspaper of the city. The increase of advertising has compelled the editor for many weeks to curtail the amount of local gossip which was published and to reduce to a minimum the accounts of interesting events. Realizing that this condition should not continue the management, at a large expense has just installed an up-to-date linotype machine with sufficient capacity to handle the large amount of composition needed each week and which produces the new face of type in this paper.

The additional pages will give facilities for the better handling of these features which have long been appreciated by our readers, and for the inaugurating of new departments which we hope will meet with even greater favor.

Our friends are invited to express their appreciation of our efforts in their behalf by saying a good word for the GRAPHIC to their neighbors, and bearing us in mind when matters of local advertising are contemplated.

Mayor Weed is entitled to a great deal of credit for the large saving of nearly $13,250 which will be made in the assessment against this city for metropolitan park purposes, under the award just made by the commissioners on apportionment. Mayor Weed planned a comprehensive campaign on this matter of apportionment, and had all his ideas been accepted by the commissioners we would have made a further saving of about $1650.

The result was not achieved without weeks of hard work over figures and schedules and the details submitted to the commission were complete to the last degree. Valuable assistance was rendered by the City Solicitor and the City Engineer, but Mayor Weed deserves much praise for the splendid result which has been attained. The new apportionment holds for the next five years, so that the total saving to be effected will make a magnificent total as the years roll on.

We have had quite a lot of fun poked at us since the recent primaries on Tuesday on account of the GRAPHIC'S advocacy of the present system of joint caucuses. The trouble is not with the primary system as now practised but with the stultifying and stupifying system of delegate nominations in place of the modern system of direct nominations. Isn't it fair to believe that if the Messrs Draper, Hall, Goetting, Sanderson, Champlin, French, Malone had to obtain the votes of individuals instead of delegates that more than 315 voters in this city would have gone to the polls. The present primary system with direct nominations would make an excellent combination for the individual voter.

It would seem from the figures presented to the railroad commissioners that the Newton & Boston Company would be given an extension of time for withholding free transfers on its line. With a yearly loss of over $20,000 the people of Newton can hardly expect the Company to stand the further loss which would again be entailed by the free transfer system. Our citizens would not demand their grocers to furnish them with merchandise at a continual loss and transportation is in the same category.

It is a curious coincidence that the beginning of the names of the republican candidates for representatives are the same, Lo-well and Lo-throp while the democratic candidates are Mu-rphy and Mu-rray.

Change of Business.

Miss Harriet A. Tinker has purchased the millinery business of the Juvene in Eliot Block. Miss Robbins and Mrs. Robbins the former proprietors will remain through the present season in order to acquaint their customers with the new owner. Miss Tinker has had seventeen years experience and is confident of her ability to please the ladies of Newton.

Bluebeard.

"Who was the original Bluebeard?" asks a writer in the London Chronicle. He continues: "We owe the familiar Bluebeard of the pantomime to Charles Perrault, the Frenchman who published in 1690-97 his immortal stories of 'Bluebeard,' 'The Sleeping Beauty,' 'Little Red Riding Hood' and 'Cinderella.' But it is very uncertain who, if anybody, was Perrault's model for Bluebeard. Some have supposed that it was our Henry VIII., others that the tale is a lampoon upon the castle lords of knight errantry days in general. Perhaps the favorite candidate has been Giles de Rais, marshal of France, who was hanged and burned in 1440 for an awful series of crimes. During fourteen years he was believed to have kidnaped about 150 children, tortured them, sacrificed them to the devil, burned their bodies and buried their bones in his castle grounds. But the resemblance between his tale and Bluebeard's is too slight to be convincing."

An Unmarried Widow.

It would appear that the standard of happiness of at least one African widow in Manhattan had reached high water mark, judging by this advertisement published a few days ago:

Widow, colored, age 34, with high school training, vocalist, excellent cook, desires a husband same age or younger; awful extremely fair, clean, sober, moral and never been married. Address WIDOW.

The following personal, printed in a metropolitan newspaper the other day, deserves a class by itself:

A European gentleman wishes to meet an American who is the typical daughter of all that is most admirable in our age; one gifted with the bold frankness of understanding, the enthusiasm of expectancy, the merry cheerfulness of superiority, the psychical and physical alertness of those of tomorrow; the worldly independence of this optimist must be duplicated; view, matrimony.
FESTINA LENTE.
—New York Press.

Knives For Brides.

The custom of giving knives to brides was formerly a common practice, when it was fashionable for women to wear knives sheathed and suspended from their girdles. A wedding offered an opportunity of presenting something novel or ornamental in the cutlery line, and frequent reference to such presents occurs in the plays of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. In the "Witch of Edmonton," 1648, for instance, the bride is described as wearing "the new pair of Sheffield knives, fitted to one sheath." A list of trinkets usually worn by ladies about 1590 includes girdles, knives, purses and pin cases. In Dekker's "Match Me In London," 1631, the bride says to her jealous husband:

"See, at my girdle hang my wedding knives;
With these dispatch me."

Indignation.

Law Notes relates that Albert E. Pillsbury, former attorney general of Massachusetts, on visiting the birthplace of Horace Greeley in Amherst, N. H., noticed that there was no placard about the place to inform the public of its historical interest. Accordingly he himself tacked on the house a card which read: "This is the birthplace of Horace Greeley." While he was engaged at this task a passing native paused to read the card, and, turning to Mr. Pillsbury, he remarked with some acidity: "The gull of some of you fellers that hev made money in the city is fairly sick'nin'. What do you suppose folks here care whether you was born on this farm or some other farm? Them's my sentiments, Mr. Greeley, and don't you forgit it!"

Carried It With Him.

A short time ago a burial took place at sea from one of his majesty's cruisers. As there were no leads with the stores large pieces of coal were attached to the body in their place. All the crew were summoned on the quarter deck for the burial. Just as the body was being lowered Pat burst out laughing. Next morning the chaplain sent for Pat and asked for an explanation of his laughter at such a very solemn time. "Sure now," replied Pat, "Ol've heerd o' many a wan goin' below, but Ol've niver seen wan take 'is coal with un afore."—London Tatler.

Cleverly Evaded.

A wealthy Australian squatter in order to protect his six daughters from fortune hunters left his property to them in equal shares, but decreed that if either married without the consent of the trustees she should forfeit her share to her sisters. When the case came up at Sydney it was found that the six sisters had all married without permission, and thus each had forfeited her share in the property to her sisters, a state of affairs which the ladies doubtless considered highly satisfactory.

Neglected Opportunities.

"I wonder," said Farmer Corntossel, who had just returned from a trip to the big city, "why so many young men insist on not gettin' rich."

"What do you mean?" asked his wife.

"They all want to be lawyers or doctors instead o' bein' restaurant waiters or policemen."—Washington Star.

His Chance.

He (moodily)—Ah, tell me truly, is there anything that hasn't been said already on the subject of love? She (softly)—Probably not, but I am sure, very sure, indeed, everything on the subject hasn't been said to me.—Puck.

The Difference.

Tim—I'm feeling fine this morning. I was up with the lark. Jim—I'm not feeling so fine this morning. I was up with the lark last night.—Detroit Free Press.

An excess of levity is as impertinent as an excess of gravity.—Hazlitt.

OUR BIRTHDAY

The Graphic Enters Its 34th Volume With This Number

Facts Regarding the Splendid Growth of Newton's Leading Paper

How many times have you plundered the garret of your home in search of the bygone and forgotten and congratulated yourself upon a "find" which you never expected to make?

How many rainy days have you passed in overhauling or reading something that was put away for the very purpose of entertaining you and yours when you would have come upon the earth and have reached the age to understand and appreciate these things?

How often have you said, "O, if I were only a poet or a writer what more would I need for inspiration?"

Put these questions to yourself, answer them frankly, and you have the frame of mind of the writer, once a member of the GRAPHIC family.

When I heard that the GRAPHIC's thirty-third year would find it in a new dress of linotype, printed by electricity from a press of latest equipment and upon the highest grade of newspaper stock, and enlarged to a size that its enthusiastic founders dared never to hope that it would attain, I thought of its beginning.

Turn to the files!

History tells of the great nations and the deeds of their leaders; of battles lost, of victories won. These the world knows and is not allowed to forget.

But a newspaper's files. The chain of public sentiment connecting, week by week, the past and the present! Wrought by the brains of the active-minded men and welded by the brawn of their loyal helpers—the masters of the type-case and stick. What is their significance?

A transcript of the doings of your own town, your own people and your own family and yourself. Joys and griefs; days of festival and days of sorrow; deeds of the brave and courageous and misdeeds of the unkind and thoughtless. They are all to be found there—imperishable so far as it lies within the power of man to make them and invaluable in their lessons to the generations both rising and to follow on.

Vol. 1 No. 1 of the Newton Republican (the GRAPHIC's former name).

The office boy had thoughtfully removed several layers from the well-preserved volume before disturbing it, but there was concealed somewhere a quantity of something which produced a sneeze-provoking gray cloud as he dropped it with a bang on the desk.

"Where did we stand editorially?" inquired someone at my elbow as the pages lay spread before us.

Until you have become familiar with the making of a newspaper, urban or suburban, you will not appreciate that every man on the force whether he writes these expressions of opinion, puts them into type, splashes them with ink for a galley-proof or dumps them into a form, has a personal interest in all editorial comment. In his heart he may differ with the writer of them; he may have a grudge against the man, but his paper has a place in the community which everyone is bound to respect even if one, in impressing this upon the public mind, must needs employ the diplomacy of Witte or the jiu-jitsu accomplishments of a Jap.

Thus we all read, eagerly this:

SALUTATORY.

"We greet the readers of the Newton Republican, today, with the initial number. It may be an unsettled question in some minds as to the necessities of a second weekly paper in this town, but we are fully assured that there is this demand.

"Scarcely a town of ten thousand inhabitants but has more than one local paper. Newton has grown within the past ten years, to an extent not excelled by any town in the state. During this time her population has nearly doubled and she now records over sixteen thousand inhabitants, a larger population than several cities of this Commonwealth can boast. The valuation has increased within the same time more than one hundred per cent., the total valuation last reported being $24,247,854.

"With an ambition which is laudable and proper, Newton now aspires to the dignity of a city government, and by a large majority petitioned the State Legislature for a city charter, which has been granted, and now awaits the action of her citizens.

"The Newton Republican will aim to meet the demands of the times, and keep our people fully posted on all the local events which may occur. To this end we solicit correspondence from all who are interested in having the Republican a true exponent of the people. We would especially invite communications upon local matters, and items of news from all the different villages in town. Our interest is the interest of the whole; and we shall endeavor to give each village its due prominence.

"In political matters we propose adopting an independent course.

"Thanking our friends for kind wishes and material assistance we will let the Republican speak for itself."

Coincident with the GRAPHIC's establishment, the question of Newton's becoming a city lay before the people.

The GRAPHIC, or the Republican as it was then called, forsaw the growth that was bound to come and advocated the adoption of a city charter.

"Shall Newton Become A City?" the editor asked the readers of the first issue, and then proceeded to show the attitude of his paper by printing the following:

"The question which is now of paramount interest to this town we have chosen for the caption of this article We propose to mention one or two advantages which Newton would gain by thus changing her municipal government.

* * * *

"A city government would be more prompt in carrying out needed improvements. One reason for this, is, that the power will be vested in the City Council. If the Board of Selectmen now had that power, it would be essentially the same; but they are practically only an executive Board. They can do only what the town, by vote of its citizens, shall authorize.

"In all towns, needed improvements are often delayed because the majority of the voters assembled in town meeting are not alive to public necessity. Internal improvements in this town are imperatively needed from year to year, and there should be used the best of judgment and discrimination, so that the money shall be appropriated and expended judicially, that the improvements may be made without being too burdensome to the tax-payers. A city government, composed of our best men, would attend to these matters as they deserved, and with credit to the town."

The power of this indorsement one can best judge by succeeding events, yet without any assumption of the editorial strength of this paper on the day of its first issue, it is plain that the editor was dealing with sound common sense, without pretending to dictate the rule of the universe.

Here the policy of the paper was clearly defined. The duty of the man who presided over its editorial columns was made plain to him—stick to the rational, avoid the radical and deal only with the facts. The Republican changed its name but not its policy. It found its place and eventually that place was at the head. The lead once attained it never dropped behind, but in its advancement easily distanced its contemporaries.

Political Notes.

The Woman's Auxiliary are planning large things for the season of 1905 and '06. The first event will be a "Sale of Seven" to be given on Oct. 28th. It will be conducted on much the same scale as the famous Butterfly Bazaar of three years ago. As the proceeds will go toward the boy's work of the Association everybody should help the ladies in their undertaking.

A large attendance at the opening of the boy's gymnasium classes is reported by the physical director, Mr LaRose. Every boy is required to take a physical examination this year. Visitors are welcome at these classes.

All boys over 12 years of age are invited to hear Rev. Mr. Butters next Sunday afternoon. This is the first meeting of the new year and any boy who has never attended one of these meetings will do well to start next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Those who have attended before don't need urging.

A mechanical drawing class will be organized at once. We want a few more men in the class before beginning the season's work. Inquire at once at the Association for particulars.

A "First Aid" class will be organized in October. Dr. M. E. Gleason will deliver the lectures before this class. The use of many first aid appliances will be taught and it is hoped that many young men will take advantage of this class so that they may be prepared to act in cases of sudden emergency and accident.

Mrs. M. E. Cameron formerly with the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, Boston, will open classes in dressmaking for home workers Oct 2, at 214 Boylston street, Boston. Circulars will be mailed upon request.

Street Railway Notes

At the hearing before the railroad commissioners on the petition of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for an extension of the time within which it might continue to withhold the giving of free transfers, but little interest was shown by the general public. The original hearing was assigned for Tuesday morning but as President Claflin was engaged in a case before the Supreme Court, the hearing was postponed until Wednesday at 10.30 a. m. At that hour there was about a dozen persons present including President Claflin, W. H. Coolidge, Esq., W. F. Hammatt, City Solicitor Slocum, City Solicitor Stearns of Waltham, J. Weston Allen Esq., and Albert S. Hutchinson Esq., representing the Newton Highlands Improvement Association, Aldermen T. W. White and Weston, ex-aldermen Thos. White and W. F. Harbach and Mr. Samuel Tarplin.

Mr. Claflin presented the case to the commissioners stating that after an experiment of 10 months the Company was not able to make a profit on its capital invested. The actual loss on the line for the past 11 months was $14,740 and for the year would be rising $16,000. The receipts per passenger, Mr. Claflin said had been increased but there was a falling off in the number carried over 200,000. In 1903 with free transfers given each passenger meant 3 69-100 cents; for the 4 months to Oct. 1st 1904 following the discontinuance of free transfers this figure rose to 4 67-100 cents and since the partial restoration of free transfers has dropped to 4 42-100 c. In 1903 free transfers constituted 46 per cent. of the business of the road and since the partial system has been in operation about 16 per cent. use the transfers.

Mr. Claflin claimed that his road was giving a greater service than the conditions warranted, and was earning less than 20 cents per car mile. It was giving the public more for the money than any other street railway company in the state.

Mr. Claflin stated that next Sunday the Company inaugurated a new line running from Needham to Lake street without transfer and made other changes which would better serve the South Side of the city.

A letter from Alderman E. P. Bosson with complaint of the inconvenience of the present system was read.

Alderman T. W. White said that there was considerable dissatisfaction with the running time of the Newton Centre-Newtonville car as now operated.

Mr. Tarplin attempted in rather broken English to ask some questions of Mr. Claflin, but the only statement which could be understood was that the new line from Needham to Lake street would require about 2 hours to make the trip to Boston.

Mr. Hutchinson said that the only complaint now made on the partial transfer system at Newtonville square, was on account of the delay in matter of connections.

Mr. Claflin said that the cars are scheduled to meet, and if immediate connections could not be made, the longest possible wait was but 15 minutes.

In reply to a suggestion from Mr. Slocum that a postponement might be taken until after the next meeting of the Newton aldermen, Mr. Jackson of the commission said that the only thing they had to act on was on the question of extension. Their decision would have to be based entirely upon what the financial figures were in regard to this Company. The public side of it had been gone into quite deeply last year, and while they did not consider that it was a matter for an extended public hearing the commission would gladly hear the aldermen or mayor of Newton if they desired to be heard.

Mr. Claflin suggested that the partial system of transfers was discussed thoroughly with the aldermen and had been virtually accepted by them.

Mr. Allen said that the present 15 minute service, alternating between Stow street and Watertown, through Newton Highlands was the most satisfactory that the South Side had experienced on the Walnut street line. The cars were run uniformly on schedule time. The partial renewal of free transfer was a step in the right direction, and we contend that total abolition of transfers would be detrimental to the company by driving business off the road. The last reports show that the N. & B. line had lost 200,000 passengers since the abolition had taken effect, while the other Newton lines had increased 500,000. The N. & B. by the action of this board is losing 2½ cents from a great many passengers who would use their cars on a free transfer. At present the other lines are getting the entire 5 cents. So far as the Worcester line is concerned this is a direct loss to the Newton roads. Mr. Allen complained that it was inconvenient for South side passengers to go to Norumbega park by way of Newton Centre, and the N. & B. road loses this traffic which it might otherwise have. People are drifting to the Centre street and the Worcester lines. The through car to Lake street will only partially meet this situation by its half hour service. The service should include a transfer at Walnut street and the privilege of taking any car on Commonwealth avenue. At Newtonville Square the Newton Centre people do not complain of the bother of changing but they do object to waiting for a blue car and having red and green cars go in the same direction they desire to travel in the meanwhile. The Waltham difficulty should be met in some other way and save this bother of waiting. If the board see fit to extend this time they should recognize the present situation as the losing condition may last for many years and our people expect an arrangement whereby Newton will have the same privileges enjoyed by other cities in this direction.

Mr. Claflin said that the financial condition of the Newton roads was the real question. Last year the N. & B. Line lost $23,722 in operating expenses which was paid by the stockholders for the privilege of carrying people in Newton. The Newton companies combined have earned but $9000 which represents a return of less than 1 per cent on the capital invested.

Newton receives the best service of any suburban locality anywhere and the officers of the N. & B. Co give their services without compensation in order to help the road along. It is a discouraging situation and the stockholders have put up $150,000 in addition to their stock to keep the road going.

Mr. Jackson said that if the commission waited for any formal action by the Newton and Waltham aldermen in this matter it would grant a temporary extension to cover the company whose rights expire on Saturday night.

Real Estate.

C. C. Chapin has sold to Anna M. Pickford, the estate 92 Grant Ave. corner of Commonwealth Ave., consisting of a frame house and 11,161 square feet of land, the whole assessed for $10,000. Alvord Bros. were the brokers in the transaction.

Alvord Bros. have leased to W. D. Richardson of Arlington, F. J. Hartshorne's house at 9 Gay street Newtonville.

The transfer of estate No. 24 Hawthorne Ave., Auburndale, from Wm. B. French to Arthur A. Ridgeway is of considerable import in Auburndale real estate matters. Property comprises large 13 room frame dwelling and 36,000 square feet of land situated in one of the most beautiful sections of the village. The terms of the sale are not made public but the property is assessed for $7,500. The sale was negotiated through the real estate office of E. Arthur Robinson. Mr. Ridgeway will immediately improve the property for his own residence.

A Remarkable Dwarf.

Perhaps the most remarkable dwarf on record was Sir Jeffrey Hudson, the little fellow whom Scott introduces in "Peveril of the Peak." He was born in Rutlandshire, England, in 1619.

When eight years of age he was presented by the Duke of Buckingham to Queen Henrietta in a cold pie. He afterward became attached to the court of Charles I. At one of the court masks the king's porter, a man of gigantic size, who used to torment the little dwarf, pulled from one pocket a loaf of bread and from the other Jeffrey, much to the surprise and amusement of the company present. Jeffrey was at this time only eighteen inches in height.

He remained at this stature until he was thirty years of age, after which a curious exception to the laws of growth took place, since Jeffrey rapidly grew to be three feet nine inches in height, whereas most men do not grow a quarter of an inch after the age of thirty. This dwarf had an enormous head and very large hands and feet; otherwise his proportions were symmetrical, and his face was considered handsome.—Youth's Companion.

The Useful Donkey.

In Syria, says a traveler, I saw a donkey put to an extraordinary use. One evening just before the dinner hour in our tent the Arab cook rushed hurriedly out of the door of the kitchen tent with a glass carafe in his hand. He went up to the row of donkeys, horses and packages tethered close by. Seizing the tail of the smallest of the donkeys, he hastily thrust it into the carafe, gave it two or three vigorous turns inside the bottle and then as quickly removed the unconcerned tail. Thus he had cleansed the water bottle for our dinner. It is in Syria also that the strange fashion exists of shaving the donkeys' coats in different ways, much as a lady of fashion shaves her French poodle. A choice breed of donkeys, known as "Bagdad mules," is much cherished in the neighborhood of Damascus. Their long, hairy coat, usually of pure white or pale gray, admits of fantastic clipping.

Money Hotel Cashiers Dislike.

"It is a curious habit the great American public has of wanting the kind of money that hotel cashiers dislike and have the least of," said one of those useful functionaries. "Many are the times each day that I am called upon, by ladies especially, for fifty cent pieces. Quarters won't answer. They want half dollars, though why that particular coin I've never been able to understand. No cashier cares to keep halves on hand, but always maintains a good stock of quarters and dimes, for the reason of their greater convenience. Many of the guests also beg for two dollar notes despite the fact that of all forms of currency they are the most objectionable. We never take them voluntarily and pay them out as fast as they come in."—Washington Post.

Ponderous Handel.

Handel was very large, weighing over 200 pounds. His figure was unwieldy and he rolled from side to side as he walked. His hands were so thick and ponderous that people wondered how he could play the harpsichord or organ at all. His face was red and coarse, with a long nose, thick lower lip and full chin with a dimple in it. His eyes were prominent and eyebrows very full. He was a monstrous eater and at times drank heavily. His conceit was stupendous, and he always entertained the idea that there was no music to be compared to his own. He was boorish in manner, quick in temper, and when irritated would sometimes give utterance to a robust oath in the German language. His contemporaries said he looked like a porter.

Orange Trees.

An orange grove in full bearing is one of the most delightful sights the eye can witness. The trees are a beautiful shape if left as nature made them. The limbs come nearly to the ground, so close that an orange picker goes under the tree flat on his back and often cuts 100 oranges from the tree before he comes out. Oranges are never picked, but are cut off with shears having a spring between the handles. An orange that has no stem on it is considered a "cull" and is not packed by a first class packer.

A Chance For Science.

"Scientists have discovered that a caterpillar can eat 600 times its weight of food in a month."

"Say," replied the dyspeptic billionaire, "I wonder if the scientists have ever done any experimenting in the way of grafting caterpillars' stomachs on other things?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

That Cozy Feeling.

The Visitor—What a delightfully snug little flat you have! The Renter—Isn't it? When we open the door we're in the middle of the room, and when the sunshine comes in we have to move some of the furniture out.—Chicago Tribune.

Anonymous.

A Birmingham churchwarden was reading at a vestry meeting a list of subscriptions to the parochial funds. The list began as follows: "The vicar, a guinea; Mrs. ——, half a guinea; an anonymous donor, myself, 25 shillings."

Irresistible.

She—How do you suppose his Satanic majesty succeeded in tempting Mother Eve? He—More than likely he told her that apples were good for the complexion.

Covetousness swells the principal to no purpose and lessens the use to all purposes.—Taylor.

Unhappy Dickens.

Dickens had to confess, after a severe trial of married life, that the skeleton in his domestic closet was becoming "a pretty big one." Then, in 1857, came the crisis.

"Poor Catherine and I are not made for each other," he wrote in a letter to Forster, "and there is no help for it. She is exactly what you know in the way of being amiable and complying, but we are strangely ill assorted for the bond that is between us. God knows she would have been a thousand times happier if she had married another kind of man, and her avoidance of this destiny would have been at least equally good for us both. The years have not made it easier to bear for either of us. There is plenty of fault on my side, I dare say, in the way of a thousand uncertainties, caprices and difficulties of disposition, but only one thing will alter all that, and that is the end which alters everything."

Where Silence Is Golden.

This story is illustrative of the absolute silence and loneliness of the typical Australian bush camp:

Two men were camping together, but rarely exchanged a word.

One morning one of the men remarked at breakfast, "Heard a cow bellow in the swamp just now."

Nothing further was said, and they went about their business for the rest of the day. Twenty-four hours later, once more at breakfast, the second man said:

"How d'you know it wasn't a bull?"

Again no comment. Again a pause of twenty-four hours. Next morning the first man began to pack up his "billy" and "swag."

"You going?" inquired the other.

"Yes."

"Why?"

"Because," said his friend, "there's too much argument in this camp."—Kansas City Star.

Seventeenth Century Wagons.

The introduction of stage wagons in England about the middle of the seventeenth century led to many abuses. In London they were known as "hell carts" on account of the hot time they gave the unfortunates inside. Their drivers were said to be "seldom sober, never civil and always late," and their size—copied by other vehicles—was such that when they broke down all traffic behind "was necessitated to stand stock still on most beastly deep, wet ways till it pleased them to jog on." During the reign of Charles II. parliament passed an act concerning the size of carts and wagons, with extremely heavy penalties for infringements, but when the act came to be applied it was discovered that the model prescribed by it was impracticable to such an extent that the judges gave directions not to enforce the act.

A Browning Enigma.

Elizabeth Barrett Browning has set quite a Homeric problem as to the place of her birth. The Encyclopaedia Britannica gives London, but the Dictionary of National Biography prefers Burn Hall, Durham, and there is an entry in the register of Kelloe church referring to "Elizabeth Barrett Moulton Barrett, daughter and first child of Edward Barrett Moulton Barrett of Coxhoe Hall." Browning himself, however, declared that his wife was born at Carlton Hall, Durham. Now, Carlton Hall is in Yorkshire. Finally the authorities are not agreed as to whether Mrs. Browning was born on March 6 or on March 6, but, of course, the outstanding fact is that she was born.—London Globe.

Not Perfect Without Mrs. Kingsley.

Even a brief holiday at the seaside was to Charles Kingsley too long an absence from his wife. "This place, 'tis perfect," he wrote on one occasion, "but it seems a dream and imperfect without you. Blessed be God for the rest, though I never before felt the loneliness of being without the beloved being whose every look and word and motion is the keynote of my life. People talk of love ending at the altar. Fools!"

The Limit to Their Credulity.

Kansas editors are skeptical. An exchange asked: "What do you think of an artist who painted cobwebs on a ceiling so naturally that the hired girl wore herself into an attack of nervous prostration trying to sweep them down?" Most of the editors say that there may have been such an artist, but there was never such a hired girl.—Kansas City Journal.

A Timely Warning.

Jimmy—What's the matter with you? You don't never go in for any fun at all nowadays. Tommy—No, I'm bein' good because I'm goin' to have a birthday purty soon an' I want to git a present. Jimmy—Better be careful an' not be too good or mebbe they won't give you nothin' but a Bible.—Philadelphia Press.

Out of Pocket, Though.

When General Lafayette attended Lamarque's funeral the crowd took the horses out of his carriage and drew him home themselves. "Were you not honored and pleased?" asked a friend. "Very much pleased," replied Lafayette, "but I never saw my horses again."

Appalling Suggestion.

Bride—My dear, this hat has been crushed beyond redemption, and I must have a new one. Bridegroom—Very well, my darling. I'll stop in somewhere on my way home and buy you one. (Bride faints with horror.)

Unanswerable.

Husband—Do you really need a new hat? Wife—I always need a new hat. Husband—Then what's the use of getting this one?—Life.

Japanese Painting.

The Japanese, with their natural, unsophisticated view of life, have ever sought in their art to mirror what a great painter and critic has termed "men's primordial predilections." Art, however, that seeks to embody pleasures founded on the unchanging properties of human nature must have a past as well as a future, must be able to look backward as well as forward. Not one's life labor, but that of many generations, is required. No people have better understood this than the Japanese. They have also clearly perceived that no art that is not true to the changeless element in man can endure, while, on the other hand, any subject, however trivial, can be made eternally attractive if only treated in accordance with aesthetic law.

Japanese painting delights us by its delicate fancy, its poetry, its freedom, its spirit, but what gives these qualities special and enduring charm, what makes the play of fancy never wearisome, the liberty never mere license, is that they find expression in and through a framework of design so finely conceived that in it we see reflected as in a mirror the fundamental principles which govern all true art.—W. M. Cabot in Atlantic.

Power of Fashion.

Though we can neither tell whence fashion comes, nor how, nor what it will do next, nor why it was yesterday one thing, today is something else and tomorrow will be different, nor why it always has been, is now and probably always will be obeyed, it moves steadily forward into that realm of common sense where beauty and utility blend in perfect harmony and ever keeps step with the progress of civilization and culture. No garment can please the man of refined and cultivated taste, however correct it may be in fit, however well it may be tailored or however excellent the materials may be of which it is made, unless it is fashionable, even though it violates no law of art and of itself is a thing of beauty, for without that indescribable something that only fashion can give it is like a flower without fragrance or a tune without music.—Sartorial Art Journal.

Two Tales of Macready.

It is not always well to strut and fret one's little hour upon the stage too realistically. Macready, who threw himself into his acting heart and soul, used to tell funny stories about the effect of his easy, colloquial manner upon the players collected for his company in small provincial towns. Once in the play of "William Tell" he turned to one of these stupid rustics and put the question, "Do you shoot?" so naturally that the man was quite thrown off his guard, and, to his horror, replied, "A little, sir, but I've never had a go with one of them crossbows." Another time in "Virginius" he asked, "Do you wait for me to lead Virginia in, or will you do so?" only to be greeted unexpectedly by the actor who played Icilius with, "Why, really, sir, I don't care; just as you do it in London."

Sennit.

In Polynesia and the Pacific islands generally the outer husk of the cocoa nut is braided into strands of uniform texture, known to the natives as sennit and used by them for a variety of purposes. The framework of their houses is held together by braided sennit, and the strakes of their boats are united by it. It is the staple from which string is made to bind the adze blade to its handle and to tie the different parts of their implements securely together. In short, whatever things are nailed or screwed or pegged or glued in other lands are tied together with sennit by the south sea islander.

One Legged Dinner Party.

A certain gentleman, the possessor of a cork leg, living in one of the London suburbs annually gives a dinner to a dozen owners of a like substitute. In the center of the table are grouped four crutches, around which twine festoons of flowers; miniature legs in ivory compose the handles of the knives and forks, while the piece de resistance is invariably a magnificent turkey that has been deprived of a leg before being brought to table.

English Fish Laws.

Fish, because of its tendency rapidly to decompose, holds a peculiar position among foods. In England it is the subject of a special act of parliament. So long ago as 1698 men knew the evil consequences resulting from eating mackerel of uncertain post mortem age, so they passed an act providing that except during the hours of divine service this fish could be sold on Sunday. That act has never been repealed.

Making It Plain.

Sapleigh—Oh, I say, Miss Hammerton, why is it that you are always out when I call? Miss Hammerton—Because I'm foolish, I suppose. Sapleigh—I—er—beg pardon! Miss Hammerton—Well, you know the old saying, "A fool for luck."

Sleep.

If the muscles are not tired, there cannot be a full demand for sleep, unless, of course, the brain has been overworked. Healthy bodily exercise, carried to the point of rendering rest sweetly welcome, is one natural means of promoting sleep.

Won Over.

Lawyer—I'll be frank with you. You can't break your father's will. Client—I'll be frank with you. I can't pay you unless it can be broken. Lawyer—I'll go you one better. We'll break that will.—Cleveland Leader.

Never strike a man when he is down. Ten chances to one he will get up again.—Detroit News.

THE HIGHER LIFE

First Sermon Preached by Rev. J. T. Stocking

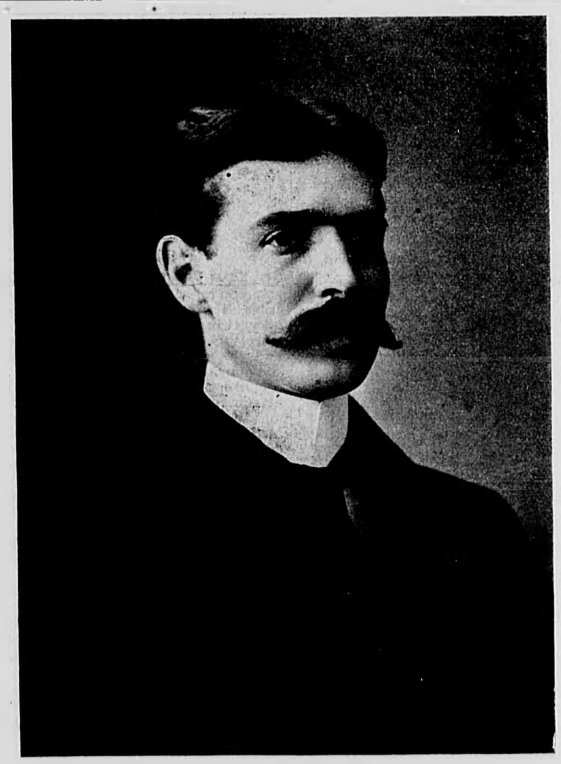

New Pastor of Central Congregational Church Begins His Labors

At the Central church, Newtonville, last Sunday morning, Rev. J. T. Stocking, the new pastor began his duties. There was a large attendance and after the sermon, Mr. Stocking was given a cordial and informal reception by his new parishoners.

His sermon was as follows:

Text:—"I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect." GENESIS 17:1

This was God's message to Abraham for his one-hundredth birthday. Abundantly did the patriarch need it, for these were dangerous days with him. A quarter of a century before, Abraham had gone out to the wild west in quest of a fortune, his heart bounding big with the promise that he should be the father of a mighty nation. The years passed filled with disappointment and privation. Little fortune and no family came; only the child of his desperation, Ishmael, the son of his slave girl. The dusky lad was at first an unsatisfying substitute for the child of Sarah for which he longed. But as Ishmael grew and Isaac delayed, there came over Abraham that settled content with the inferior, which is ever the great danger of those who miss the better. Ishmael became good enough for Abraham, and when God came to him just before his centenary with the promise of Isaac, that promise was no longer welcome. Abraham was content as things were. Ishmael was a fine boy of 13, lither and stronger of limb than the child of their old age so, he wrote better than he knew. The book has a deep, ethical import; its biological truth applies to men as well as to dogs. There is a call of the wild in every heart—many of them. As Buck heard the call, as he dreamed by the glowing camp-fire, or loped in the forest twilight, the call of a long forgotten past, sounding within him, fierce and wild; so we are made conscious, ever and anon, by its very violence, of that wild nature of ours hidden within us, which, jealous of our emancipation, seeks yet longer to hold us in its dominion. Man lives yet on the edge of the forest. There is a beast and an angel in every man; now one calls; now the other. Now St. George has his heel upon the dragon; now the dragon shuts upon St. George. If we could sort all the voices that sound through the corridors of the soul, as the deer sorts the messages of the wild winds, we should see that we are a confused tangle of the animal and the spiritual. A long imperious heritage holds us in its grip. Only too well and too humiliatingly, we know its power. We have listened to its call and followed. We have forsaken the ways of the spirit, and pursued the law of tooth and fang; we have been blind and unreasoning with the hot passion of the wilds; we have fled the frankness of God's spiritual open, and followed the forest tracks of stealth and craft; we have forgotten the law of men that we are brothers born to serve, and have lapsed into the jungle law that we are rivals and foes. For the law of the higher life, "Bear ye would probably be. Let Jehovah rest content with Ishmael. "And Abraham said to God, O, that Ishmael might live before thee." The Ishmael of the actual was better than the Isaac of promise; the son of the slave woman was better than the child of their holy love. Abraham's idealism was rusting in the ruts. He was also degenerating in his moral standards; unaspiring men always stagnate. He was losing his faith in God and his reverence for him. Instead of listening with believing reverent heart, as in the days past, to the promise that he and Sarah should have a son, he now laughs at it, falls upon his face convulsed with laughter it is all so droll and incredible. How sobering, how revealing, must have come to him the message of Jehovah. "I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect." It was Abraham's summons to arise from the decaying content, and the spiritual laziness into which he had fallen. God had far better things in store for Abraham. It was the call of the higher life, and as a call that comes to us in this age just as really and personally as it came to the patriarch it becomes our subject for this morning.

"I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect." You have read Jack London's suggestive, imaginative book, "The Call of the Wild." It may be that the young author meant to give us only a dog story simply the tale of how a big California dog gently reared, responded to the cruel environment of the Yukon, and under its privations, necessities, and sufferings, its freedom and wildness fell back into a fierce and splendid wolf.—only that and nothing more. But if one anothers burdens," we have too often substituted the law of the lower life; "The fittest shall survive." What a sense of defeat afflicts us when we discover, as so often we must, how far we have been lured from the ways to which in our hearts we mean to be loyal by the call of the great mutinous world of the past buried within us.

But we well know that this is not the only call that we hear. There is this call of the lower life, but there is also the call of the higher life. The past echoes, but the future beckons; there are long forgotten memories in us, but there are just as many unrealized dreams. We have our wigwams and dens to which we are ever prone to return, but we all have our castles in spiritual Spain. As the siren voices of the wild call us back through swamp and thicket, so the call of the higher life summons us on the sunlit hills of God, which rise, if not often, yet always sometime before the eyes of every man. There breathes not "the man with soul so dead" who has never at sometime or another, heard the imperious call of the higher life. Sometimes it sounds in the quiet of the sanctuary; sometimes in the breathless rush of business; sometimes in the pain of conscience; sometimes in the hallowed joy of a holy deed; sometimes the call comes to us in the words, the face of a holier man, a saintlier woman; sometimes it comes to us in those chosen, memorable moments when we catch a glimpse of the Christ. "Jesus turned and looked at Peter"—that was all, but it was enough. In the light of that look Peter saw the meanness of his denial and wept. Then he dried his tears and followed the call. Every man has caught a vision of himself, other than he is and better, far better than he is. And this better man—how pure his motives, unmixed with self interest and sordidness; rugged virtue never bends the knee in compromise; conscience never truckles to the will. He walks the high way or rectitude; his heart—how sweet and chaste it is; full of a world of tenderness and compassion. In his sympathy as in the ocean a world may hide its woe, and in the depths of his love, a weak and sinning brotherhood find patience and forgiveness. I say every man at his best sees this vision and knows it to be his truer self, beckoning him to the higher life.

An animal's history and heritage is behind him; most of a man's before him. Our life is darkened too often, indeed, by the shadows of the past, but there falls upon it, and more abundantly, the light of the coming unrealized glory. It is this which dignifies life and gives to it, its grandeur. We buy and sell we get and spend and lay by—it is all very exhilarating—we love it. Yet we know that it is not the best of us that goes into these things. There are greater activities as there are greater values.

Has it never happened to you that at times of your greatest achievements, when your eyes have been full of what you have accomplished, you have caught a glimpse of something beyond and above, a gleam as of hidden treasure on which you have not yet laid your hands? If men would only follow that gleam, they would be other than they are. But here lies the difficulty. Life is a tangle of the animal and the spirit; it is hard to keep the spirit in the ascendency. The price and tragedy of success is often the forgetting of ideals. We rest too easily content with our present standards. We prefer to enjoy Ishmael rather than to look toward Isaac. If it is true that we all sometimes hear the call of the higher life, it is equally true that we all likewise need again and again to hear it, trumpet like sounding in our ears, "I am the Almighty God; walk before me and be thou perfect."

This call of the higher life is first the call to a greater recognition of God. "I am the Almighty God, walk before me", walk as if always before me not in fear except in fear to be wrong, but with reverence and seriousness. To see the invisible God in life is the supreme achievement of the soul. Religion is the relating of God to daily matters. To interpret life's events in terms of His love, life's blessings in terms of His care, life's hopes in terms of His work—that is what Jesus meant by eternal life.

"In the beginning God" is the first word of Holy Writ and the sublimest. It was a great soul who saw that truth. To leap back over the ageless span to the beginning, to dig down through the details of all things and find God as the first great fact, marks the priest who wrote these words of Genesis as the greatest of all historians. We realize today, as our fathers did not, that we can not take these early writings, as a can take not these early writings, as a text book of science. There was no science in those days. But what has it not meant for men that they should have had this book, that puts God as the great first fact instead of a scientific book after the modern vogue, which makes no mention of the great spirit!

"In the beginning God." That is the only beginning, either for the one who would explain life truly, or live life truly. In the beginning of life, God, in the beginning of every career, God, in the beginning of every transaction, God, in the beginning of every day, God. If men are to learn the secret of living, let these words be embossed on the walls of every home, written in the dust of every shop, placed upon every office desk, graven upon every heart. That one should go through life and miss this great first fact—what irony.

No one who keeps pace with the revelations of modern business or who knows by experience the methods of it, if his ideals have not become dimmed, can doubt that in the great business world, there is all too feeble a sense of the just and righteous God. There is a wide reign of what we may not improperly call atheistic ethics. There is very little atheism professed today, but there is a great deal of atheism practiced. "The penal code is the great purifier of business," said one of our great dailies recently in discussing modern business methods, but I cannot agree. The great purifier of methods whether they be in business or profession is not a more extended penal code, but a higher moral code. It is not a more prevalent terror of the law that we need, but a deeper and more reverent fear of God. "The King hath commanded me a business" said David to explain his haste to the suspicious Ahimelech. To sense God in everything, to know that all the daily task is God's work, to feel that our business is the King's business, to be done in the King's way, that is the call of the higher life.

CENTRAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Lately I ran across an appeal to men to take God as their "silent partner." Why, the great trouble today is that God is too often the silent partner, only that and nothing more. The call of the higher life is to give God a real voice, the controlling voice in our lives and purposes. It is the greater recognition of God, as the great and holy Spirit who makes all, gives all, requires all. Into the midst of our life today with its current slogans "Competition demands it;" "Success requires it;" "The people expect it"—there comes a great questioner with a great question; "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love kindness and to walk humbly with thy God."

The second call of the higher life is to the realization of oneself. Nothing is so near a man as himself, yet how often it is the last thing discovered. Some men never find themselves. They may never have asked themselves "Who am I?" and "What am I in the world for?" The great fault to be found with men today is not that they do not take the world seriously enough, but that they do not take themselves seriously enough. They are not awake to their capacities and possibilities. The salvation of a man is that he should know himself in his native dignity as a son of God, and as such realize a son's privileges and responsibilities. "Walk before me and be thou perfect." Jesus called us with the same calling, "Ye therefore shall be perfect as your heavenly Father is perfect." This has been one of the hard sayings of Jesus. Men have tried to whittle it down and to squirm away from it. But it stands as Jesus' glorious ideal for every man and woman of us. What else could Jesus have said that would have satisfied the soul? "Ye therefore shall be perfect as—who? is perfect." "There is none good save one" said the Nazarene—but the whole world has added "and him who came to reveal Him." That ideal is an eternal call. There are heights unscaled beyond the best of men. There is no halting place for the soul. There are a few, to be sure, who profess to have attained unto the ideal, but I have never found it in my heart to regret that there were no more. The best of souls know how much of the better life is yet unclaimed, how much of nobleness of purpose, unselfishness of aim and pureness of heart is yet to be attained. What makes the call so appealing is our consciousness that it is only the summons to come to ourselves. "Come up higher; know thyself; be thyself; live as a child of the Most High ought to live."

But one is to know himself not simply in his relation to God, but in his relation to his fellow-man. Because he is a son of God, he is brother to his fellows. Brotherhood is something we hear much about. It is a word often used. But with brotherhood itself we are not so familiar. There is not very much of it yet in the world. Do not misunderstand me. I am in no way pessimistic. There never was a time when so many people took such an active interest in the welfare of their fellow men. When there was such widespread charity, so keenly developed a sense of social obligation. All this makes us very hopeful. But from that brotherhood which the meek and lowly democrat of Nazareth came to bring, we are yet far, very far, distant. Would you know how far? Then walk with him on his pilgrimages among the poor, and the luckless and the unregenerate. How strange his teachings fall upon even our ears. Love your neighbors? No, "Love your enemies." Bless them that speak well of you. No. "Bless them that curse you." Pray for them that do good to you? No. Pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute you."

And how supremely he illustrated his own words. With what genuine friendliness he mingled with the poor, and the social nobodies. No wonder the common people loved him. When we turn from the real brotherhood of Jesus, to the ways of the modern world, boasting of its brotherhood, how sick we become of all our petty social distinctions, our growing system of caste, the barriers between those who earn a wage and those who have an income, between those who toil with their hands and those who work with their heads, of that divisive spirit to which we all give too great a sanction. O Thou Living Christ, who loved with such sweet abandon the lowly, and the toilers and the weak, are we thy brothers? Come and speak to us thy secret.

Jesus has borne many titles, but the noblest one of all is Saviour; and that title he has bequeathed to each of us. "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." Not one son of Man only, but every son of man. How it dignifies us, glorifies us, to know that we are born to be saviours of men. We are workers together with God, God's husbandmen, co-workers in the task of saving the world. Our divine commission is to re-present Christ to men and women who will never see him unless they see him in us. That is the manner to which we are men and women born. It is a good thing to make a living; it is a better thing to make a life; but there is one greater thing—to help some one else live a little better. To one whose habit is to live for himself, to dig and run after the things of the world, the holy experience of helping a brother-man on his way upward, brings with it a peace and satisfaction such as the traveler to distant parts feels as he breathes again the sweet pure air of his native hills. Jesus' life appeals to us as it does, because in him we see the image of our better selves.

We like best in literature that which we seem to have thought and might have said but never have quite uttered Is it not true that we love Jesus best of the sons of men because we see best in him what we feel that we might be, but have ever failed to be?

"O living beckoning arms
The centuries melt away
And the Saviour of long ago
Is the Saviour of today.
And our human hearts are drawn
From their gods of gold and clay
To the Christ of the out stretched arms
To the Life, the Truth, and the Way."

This in a word, hen, is the call of the Higher Life. A call to the greater recognition of God and to the better realization of ourselves.

These are stremous times. You do not need that one should tell you so. We are living fast and furiously. The commercial instinct is sharpened to an edge. This all has its grave dangers for us—that we should neglect one whole side of our natures, our spiritual side,—and when we neglect that we neglect the best there is in us. In this rapid life, this fierce struggle, our ideals suffer. It is easy to rest content with certain accepted standards and to reach no higher. We forego the Isaac of promise, and are satisfied with Ishmael. How abundantly we need to hear the higher call, that in living fast, we do not fail to live well, that in the daily struggle we do not forget to seek the higher and better things. "I am the Almighty God. Walk before me and be thou perfect." "Lord, God of Hosts be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

This is a day of peculiar interest to This is the day of peculiar interest to us. Our hopes and anticipations culminate in this beginning of our life and work together. I come not without a certain hesitation to the great task before us, but yet with high hopes, I dare to dream that from this church will go forth as it has so nobly in the past the call of the higher life. I pray that this pulpit may always sound that call and sound it clearly. The message that I covet is the loving, yet fearless one, that will awaken in the souls of men as a long forgotten memory—a longing for the higher life, that imaging of the Christ in which every soul shall find himself.

Many men are ready today to tell us what the church should be and do. She should, hey say, be a social centre, an entertainment club a bureau of education. But there is one conception only of her work which is worthy of her and true to her history. Her task is to save men and women. Like her master, she "is come to seek and to save," to sound his eternal call.

But the message of the church is not the message of the pulpit alone. Increasingly true is it becoming, that her message is the daily silent practical life of the men and women who compose her When they are so filled with the abundant life that their whole influence is to call other souls to higher living, then the church's call is unmistakable and fruitful.

Let me say again that this day is of peculiar interest to us all. We are hoping for the best things to come from our life and work together. I come to you with prayer and faith, faith in God and faith in you. I ask him for strength and you for patience and cooperation. I pledge you my best. I claim your best. You have a right to expect this from me. I have a right to expect it from you. The secret of the successful work for which we pray is simply that we should give ourselves to each other in mutual helpfulness and sympathy and confidence, that together we should give ourselves in unwithheld devotion to Him whom we serve, that finally we should hold ever before us, as disciples true, the life of him in whom and for whom we labor. "It is enough for the disciple that he be as his master, and the servant as his lord."

Rev. Mr. Stocking comes from Bellows Falls, Vt. He was born in New York, April 19, 1870, and is a graduate of Amherst, class of '95. He was instructor in English and elocution in the Lawrenceville School, New Jersey, for three years, and in 1901 was graduated from the Yale Divinity School at the head of his class, winning the Dwight Scholarship. He then studied for a year at the University of Berlin, and on his return to this country was called to the assistant pastorate of the Church of the Redeemer at New Haven. While there he was also lecturer on missions at the Yale Divinity School. In October, 1903, he married Miss Grace C. Porter, daughter of Josiah Porter, a wealthy resident of New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Stocking will reside on Central avenue at the corner of Chesley place.

50 YEARS YOUNG

Golden Anniversary of the Grace Episcopal Church

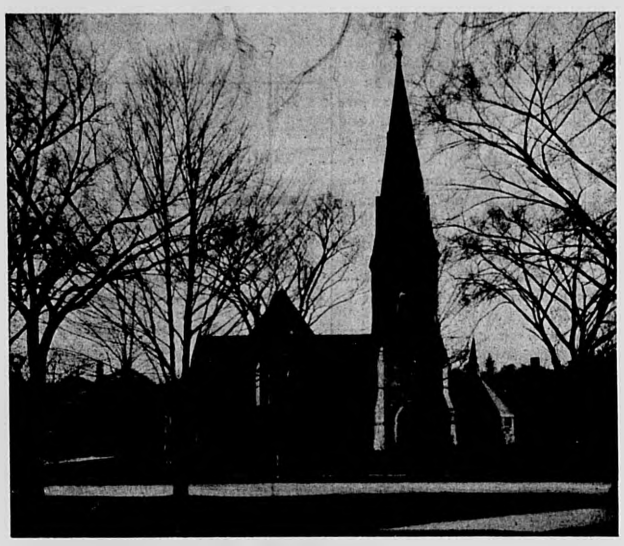

Its History, and Interesting Facts Regarding This Well Known Parish

On Sunday morning the anniversary exercises began with a sermon by the rector, Rev. George W. Shinn D. D. on the topic, "Some reasons for our Rejoicing."

Sunday evening the assistant minister, Rev. Robert Keating Smith had the topic, "How an Episcopal Parish may benefit the Life of a Community" for his sermon.

Wednesday morning, the exact anniversary of the formation of the parish, Holy Communion was observed at 10.30 A. M. with a sermon by Rev. Peter H. Steenstra, D. D. a former rector, and the offering was for the Rectory fund. Wednesday evening there was an informal social gathering of the parish which was largely attended.

The program continues until next Sunday, when there is to be a sermon by the Bishop of Western Massachusetts the Right Rev. Alexander H. Vinton D. D. and on Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock the service includes a sermon by the Bishop of Massachusetts, the Right Rev. William Lawrence D. D.

GRACE CHURCH.

Grace church had its beginning early in May, 1854, when Episcopalians from Newton and Watertown held what were termed "neighborhood" meetings at the home of Stephen Perry at the corner of Galen and Williams sts., near the Watertown line.

But one person who attended these services is now alive, Miss Mary B. Wilkins, still an active member of the parish, who remembers well the stately figure of Rev. Thomas F. Fales of Waltham, who each Sunday came to minister to the little band of worshippers.

Stephen Perry, at whose home the services were held, was the son of William Perry, afterward bishop of Iowa, and the first superintendent of the Sunday school of the parish, organized in October, 1855, with 25 pupils.

later a constitution and bylaws were adopted and the Sunday school organized.

On Jan. 1, 1856, the first rector of the parish was called, Rev. John Singleton Copley Greene, who remained until 1864. During the first year of Rev. Mr. Greene's pastorate the parish was reorganized with 18 members, and on April 4, 1857, a lot was secured for a church chapel on Hovey st, the corner stone of which was laid May 28, 1858. In September of the same year the first meeting was held in the new building.

In 1860 a rectory, built at the expense of the rector, was deeded to the parish by him, the building now standing and being occupied by the Pomroy home for orphan children. With the erection of a new church some years later this rectory was sold, and it is proposed during this celebration of the anniversary of the parish to devote the funds raised to the purchase of the premises at 38 Eldredge st, adjoining the church property, for a permanent rectory.

Late in 1864 came the second rector, Rev. Peter H. Steenstra, who occupied the pulpit until 1869. He was followed by Rev. Henry Christian Mayer, 1869-1872. After him came Rev. Joseph Sherburne Jenckes, PhD, 1872-1874. The present rector, Rev. George Wolf Shinn DD, came in 1875.

In 1871 the land at the corner of Church and Eldredge sts was purchased and on Sept. 4 of the following year the corner stone of the present church laid. It was not until Nov. 30, 1873, that the first service was held in the building.

On July 14, 1884, ground was broken for the chapel and parish house, the first service in the former being held in the following December. The consecration of the church was made by Bishop Paddock on Nov. 30, 1887. Six years later ground was broken again, this

REV. GEORGE W. SHINN, D. D.

Miss Wilkins from the first took an ardent part in the interests of the parish. She was one of the first girls to sing in the choir and one of the original members of the benevolent society, now known as the ladies missionary society, as well as of the Busy Bee, now known as the Helping Hand. She was one of the former members of St. Paul's church, Boston, during the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Vinton, moving to Watertown when a young girl.

On May 20, 1855, services were held in Union hall on Center st, which were continued until Sept. 27, when the Grace parish was formally organized and wardens and vestrymen chosen. A week time for the Brooks memorial choir guild hall, which was followed in 1895 by the erection of the Townsend memorial library. This group of picturesque buildings constitute the present church property, valued at more than $125,000.

During the 50 years' existence of the parish there have been 13 clerks and 10 treasurers. Among the oldest members of the society are George S. Bullens, a member for 45 years, W. C. Bates 37 years, Moses Clark 33 years and Prof. S. Edward Warren 32 years.

The oldest parish society, not including the vestry, is the ladies' missionary society, in existence nearly 50 years. Others are the Helping Hand, Girl's Friendly and the St Elizabeth branch of the junior auxiliary.

The music has been by various kinds of choirs, for a long time by a quartet of mixed voices, then by a chorus of men and women, then by a chorus of adults and children. The vested choir of 12 men and 20 boys was introduced in April, 1890, and is now under the direction of choirmaster Charles N. Sladen and organist Dudley W. Fitch.

An interesting fact is that during 30 years no appointed service at Grace church has been omitted for any reason.

The leading figure in all the work during the last 30 years has been the rector, Rev. Dr. Shinn. He is a Philadelphian by birth, having been born there Dec. 14, 1839. His theological education was received in the old Virginian seminary, near Alexandria, and in the divinity school at Philadelphia. His first parish was at the church of Our Savior in his native city, from whence he went to Trinity church, Shamokin, Penn; St Paul's at Lock Haven, Penn; St Luke's at Troy, N. Y., and thence to Newton. He is an author of considerable note on theological subjects and an eloquent preacher.

Rev. Robert Keating Smith, the assistant minister of the parish, has been associated with Dr. Shinn since Sept 29, 1901. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 2, 1865. His uncle, Rev. James William Smith, was related to Rev. William Bronte, the father of Charlotte Bronte.

He received his education in Plainfield, N. J., and at New Brunswick, N. J., graduating from the high school of the latter town in 1883. In 1889 he was graduated from the Stevens institute of technology at Hoboken with the degree of mechanical engineer. He then took a two-year's course at the Worcester academy, and later entered Harvard where he received his degree of A. B. in 1893. Two years later he was graduated from the Episcopal theological scchool at Cambridge.

From the fall of 1891 until 1894, while at college and at the theological school, he served as lay reader at Grace church. After the completion of his theological studies he was assistant minister of Trinity church, Woburn, for one year, and was then called to St Paul's church, Kansas City. He supplied the pulpit of Grace church during the spring of 1901, to be called there as assistant minister the same fall.

For the past two years he has been a member of the school board of Newton and is also secretary of the Eight O'Clock club.

He has reorganized the Sunday school and other branches of the church work, and has been particularly successful in his work among the young people.

Opening A Great Success.

The day sessions of the Waltham School of Business began September 5, and the evening sesions September 6, the attendance at both being much larger than was expected. The pupils are well fitted to do the work required. All the towns and cities of this vicinity are represented and both Maine and New Hampshire have sent pupils.

There is no better equipped commercial school in New England. All the furniture was made to order and no time, effort, nor money was spared in the attempt to give the people of this vicinity a business school of the highest grade.

Mr. Cate's New Building.

After 35 years of existence, handed down from father to son, and known throughout Newton as a concern of the strictest integrity and honorable dealing in business matters Mr. Henry F. Cate is finally located in his new building where he has quarters adapted, in every way, for his business as an undertaker. The exterior is painted to correspond with his livery stable adjoining and the large plate glass windows make the interior very light and cheerful. The finish is in dark Cypress with walls tinted a light green, there are appropriate furnishings and draperies and in the commodious show room, which covers the entire second story, the walls are panelled in wood giving a most pleasing effect. Here a full line of sample caskets are kept on hand and this with the reception room on the ground floor, entirely separate from the carriage office and with an individual entrance, are two features which will be fully appreciated by Mr. Cate's patrons. In the rear of the reception room is the store room fitted with lockers and other conveniences and adjoining is a morgue with a monolith floor and the latest sanitary improvements. In the basement is another room for storage and the trimming room with ample accommodations for the workmen. The building is fitted with electric lights, a hot water heater of the Gurney pattern and an elevator from the basement to the upper floor. Lewis H. Bacon was the architect and William Kellar the builder.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Majestic Theatre—Peculiar interest will attach to a drama to be presented at the Majestic Theatre opening, Monday, Oct. 9th, inasmuch as its author is an American clergyman of orthodox faith. Rev. John Snyder is his name, as "As Ye Sow," the title, which is not, as might be inferred, a Biblical or scriptural play. On the contrary it is a domestic play of which a minister is the hero, and human emotions and passions the main springs of action. In view of what may be termed the hostility of the church to the stage, the dramatic creation of the minister of the church, a man of mature years, who held the pastorate of one church for twenty years and is still in good standing, arouses more than ordinary interest. If he had written a preachy drama, charged with homiletics, a sort of theatrical exegesis of the scripture, devoid of dramatic action and burdened with tedious "platitudes in stained glass attitudes," the theatregoing public would feel little or no curiosity regarding it. But such is not the case in point. The play in this case exploits a minister of the gospel amid normal, human surroundings. As the clerical author of the play expresses it: "It grew out of a suggestion and a desire of mine that I might see a human minister upon the stage, one who acted, thought, spoke and looked like the real article, 'a man who preached one day and practised seven', a man whose spiritual authority grew out of his character, not out of his clothes! A very large number of stage ministers are either fools or frauds!" The minister-dramatist in this case, Rev. John Snyder, was pastor of the Church of the Messiah in St. Louis for twenty-seven years. Since his retirement from the pastorate in 1900, he has resided at Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Keith's Theatre—The variety and excellence of the Keith program announced for the week of Oct. 2 will be evident to any reader who takes the trouble to note the following list of entertainers. Paul Conchas, the world-famous heavyweight juggler, will be the headline attraction and it is safe to say that he will be the most talked of entertainer in Boston during his stay. Known on two continents by the title of "The Army Hercules," by reason of the fact that he juggles all sorts of war materials, including Krupp shells, cannon etc., and accomplishes all his feats with lightning rapidity Mr. Conchas is lightning rapidity. Mr. Conchas is also the possessor of a magnificent physique. Included in the surrounding program are a host of notable vaudevillians. Among the more prominent being Ferry Corwey, the famous musical clown of the New York Hippodrome, who made all New York laugh; Piccolo Midgets, four of the smallest comedians, tumblers and acrobats in the world; Matthews and Ashley, in their new and original talking specialty, "A Smash up in Chinatown"; Vera King, Smash up in Chinatown"; Veera King, pleasing singing and talking comedienne; Barry and Johnson, in a mirth-provoking travesty sketch; Larvette Kenyon and DeGarmo, in a thrilling equilibrist act; and Robin Heath, blackface comedian. Chas. Barron's burlesque menagerie has been especially engaged for the juveniles, and Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne will close their present engagement with one of their best liked sketches "Bill Bliffin's Baby." The usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be shown in the kinetograph.

Grand Opera House—Next week's offering at the Boston Grand Opera House with usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, will be Charles E. Blaney's musical melodrama, "More to be Pitied than Scorned," which created such a decided sensation last season in theatrical circles. The play deals with characters connected with the church and the stage, and is said to contain enough thrills to please the most ardent lover of exciting melodrama, although not a play that runs riot with sensationalism. The play contains five acts and eight scenes and the cast is an unusually large and competent one, having artists well known in the melodramatic line.

Castle Square Theater—A unique feature of "The Royal Box," to be played next week at the Castle Square Theatre, is a scene wherein both the stage and one of the procenium boxes are occupied by the actors. The audience is thereby made to feel itself a part of the action of the play, and its presentation is certain to arouse a great deal of curiosity and interest solely on this account. Why the actors are in the box as well as on the stage need not be disclosed. The reason will be apparent at the Castle Square Theatre next week.

Literary Notes

The October number of Pearson's Magazine opens with an interesting article on the Austrian Emperor, Franz Joseph, the grand old man among royalties of to-day. How the giant trees of California are cut down is another article, profusely illustrated. The "Slave Dogs of the Frozen North" is an animal article, illustrated with photographs taken by the ill-fated explorer, Hubbard, which tells of the wonderful race of half-wolves with which Peary hopes to make his dash for the Pole. "The Lost Children of Greater New York" is an article illustrated by a newly famous young artist, Miss Bessie Collins Pease, who is making a specialty of "kid pictures." Besides Mrs. Kate St. Maur's usual "Self-Supporting Home" article, there are: a rattling fine newspaper story, two funny stories, two love stories and eight adventure stories, including an "A. V." story, a "Don Q." story and an installment of Albert Bigelow Paine's "A Sailor of Fortune."

The cover of the October Suburban Life is a remarkably pleasing effect in two-color work from a photograph by Charles Reid of Scotland, making the magazine a conspicuous object on the newsstands. Inside, the contents are as varied and timely as usual, and the subjects treated cover the many interests of the true suburbanite. For those interested in floriculture there is an important article entitled "The Care of House Plants in Winter" by Ida D. Bennett. Then Robert Cameron, of the Harvard Botanical Gardens, and Luke J. Doogue, of the Boston Public Gardens, have contributed practical articles on fall bulb planting. The leading article is on the milch goat and it brings out many interesting facts regarding this uncommon little animal. Those who are perplexed as to the best way to store their winter fruits and vegetables should not miss Professor Maynard's article, "Storing Fruits and Vegetables for Winter Use." Some outdoor papers deal with the flower garden, and the planting of trees and shrubs. All in all, Suburban Life has never given a bigger ten cents' worth than is contained in the October number.

The October McClure's is devoted peculiarly to American life and activities. Not a story in it, nor a special article, but concerns the real and immediate things that move this country at large. Pastor Charles Wagner, the French clergyman-author of "The Simple Life," writes of his visit at the White House, and with simple directness tells of the children and the household life of the President as he saw them. He writes an interesting and important estimate of President Roosevelt as a man. "What Kansas Did to Standard Oil" concludes Miss Tarbell's story of the oil war in Kansas, and tells excitingly of how the Kansans rushed in and won. "Pioneer Transportation in America" is the truthful romance of traffic, an absorbingly interesting story full of curious information. In this first paper Charles F. Lummis, foremost authority on the subject, carries traffic through America's heroic age up to the beginnings of the great days on the plains. Eugene Wood contributes "The County Fair," the best of his reminiscent stories of "Back Home." Mrs. Mary Stewart Cutting appears again with another "little story of married life." Lloyd Osbourne, Jean Webster, Guy Wetmore Carryl, Henry C. Rowland, Albert Kinross and F. H. Lancaster are among the other contributors of fiction. Not the least interesting feature of the magazine is the editorial announcement of a great historical series, to begin in November, Carl Schurz's "Reminiscences of a Long Life" and Ray Stannard Baker's investigation of the Railroad Problem, of which publication will begin before Congress meets.

Lassell.

Teaching of swimming to girls and young women has fully justified itself. First it is one of the best experiences for vigor and agility; second it gives the assurance of safety which is such a mind quieter in time of danger; third it gives a chance to save lives.

One of the young women who learned swimming at Lasell Seminary received the Government Gold Medal for saving two lives, the highest honor paid by the Government to life savers.

Another dove under an over turned sail boat and released her father who was caught in the rigging and brought him up.

The new teacher of Gymnastics at Lasell Seminary is Miss Claude Marie Francis, who graduated from Dr. Sargent's School of Gymnastics in 1900; studied and taught at Harvard Summer School during summers of '01-'03-'05; and was assistant in Gymnastics at Vassar College during years 1901-'05 and has a rare record of enthusiasm and ability.

It pays the buyer to buy from an advertiser and to say he saw the article advertised in this or that paper. The man who mentions an advertisement when buying goods really gets the best possible service,—even better than the regular customer when this is possible. Why? Simply because the advertiser pays good money for his advertisement and he is glad to hear from it. It is a compliment to his good business judgement. tf
